TOTAL AMOUNT OF PENALTIES $68,000

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Sixteen refrigerator manufacturing companies pleaded guilty in Federal Court today to the indictments in the furniture cases under the Sherman antitrust act and were fined from $2000 to $5000 each.

The refrigerator group is the second class of manufacturers to plead guilty, most of the chair makers having pleaded guilty recently and the fines are similar.

Those fined $5000 were: Alaska Refrigerator Co., Muskegon, Mich.; Belding Hall Co., Belding, Mich.; Challenge Refrigerato. Co., Grand Haven, Mich. Cold Storage Refrigerator Co., Eau Claire, Wis.; Gibson Refrigerator Co., Greenville, Mich.; Tennessee Furniture Corporation, Chattanooga.

Those fined $4000: Curney Refrigerator Co., Ltd., Fon-du-Lac, Wis.; McCray Refrigerator Co., Kendallville, Ind.; Rhinelander Refrigerator Co., Rhinelander, Wis.; Seegar Refrigerator Co., St. Paul.

Those fined $3000: Illinois Refrigerator Co., Morrison, Ill.; Ranney Refrigerator Co., Greenville, Mich.

Those fined $2000: Arlington Refrigerator Co., Arlington, Vt.; Baldwin Refrigerator Co., Burlington, Vt.; Dillingham Manufacturing Co., Sheboygan, Wis.

The case of William H. Coye, Grand Rapids, Mich., secretary of the Refrigerator Association, was dismissed on motion of the Government. Roger Shale, special assistant to the Attorney-General, said Coye had not been active, particularly, in conducting the affairs of the association for two years and that he was also a defendant in the case against dining room and bedroom furniture manufacturers.

Only two of the 18 members of the association remain to be arraigned.

The total amount of fines assessed was $68,000, making a total of $234,000 in fines levied against defendants in the furniture case indictments who have thus far pleaded.

A statement by Edward R. Johnston of counsel for the refrigerator companies said that if they had been guilty of any violation of law it was merely technical in character.

ALDERMAN TO PROPOSE NEW COURT FOR TRAFFIC CASES

Neu Announces Intention After Being Inconvenienced in Police Court.

Alderman John Neu of the Thirteenth Ward today declared he would introduce a bill in the Board of Aldermen next fall calling for the establishment of a third city court to handle traffic cases exclusively.

"I was in Judge Beck's court yesterday to get a continuance for a client," said Alderman Neu. "I supposed that Judge Beck, like other Judges, would let me make my motion at the opening of court and get away for the transaction of business. But he told me to wait until my case came up on regular call. Such procedure is contrary to the practice of any court in which I have ever practiced."

Judge Beck said he did not recall that Neu had complained of being inconvenienced and added that he had constructed the present rules of his court out of experience gained since he had been on the bench and that they were adapted for efficiency.

American Loan to City of Berlin.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Negotiations have been completed by New York bankers for a $15,000,000 loan to the city of Berlin, Speyer & Co., who head the underwriting syndicate, announced today. Public offering of the 25-year 6½-per-cent bonds will be made this week at a price to yield 7½ per cent. Flotation of the Berlin loan will mark the first German financing in this country since the election of President von Hindenburg.

PIGEON, 2000 MILES FROM HOME, FALLS ON LEVIATHAN'S DECK

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.

SUNDAY afternoon a carrier pigeon landed on the bridge of the liner Leviathan, which docked here yesterday. The bird, according to a message attached to a metal band, was about 2000 miles from home and fell exhausted on the deck near Capt. Hartley. With other birds it was liberated from Dover, England, June 22.

AMERICAN FILM HOAX IS DISCUSSED IN COMMONS

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

LONDON, June 30.—Sir L. Worthington Evans, Secretary of State for War, in the House of Commons yesterday blamed Lieutenant-Colonel William Henry Barrell for the incident of last week when a detachment of territorials was lured by a movie press agent into use to advertise an American film.

Lieutenant-Colonel Barrell, commander of the troops, said the Minister, had "acted without proper authority and contrary to territorial army regulations." "He was made a victim of a clever and humiliating hoax," Evans added.

It was revealed that each of the territorials concerned received two half dollars from the film firm and the band which accompanied them $250. This sum was returned.

"ICE-COLORED" SHIRTS NEW STYLE FOR MEN IN LONDON

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 30.—Suits in subdued rainbow hues, "backless" waistcoats and pale gray or fawn colored derbies are among the hot weather novelties for men in the brighter clothes movement. A new Irish tweed, so lightly spun that it is nearly transparent, comes in dust color and also what is called French gray, with a thin stripe of pale blue and green. This material is very much in demand for the flappy "elephant leg" trousers now affected by young men.

The "backless" waistcoat is double breasted and is held in place by braces across the back. It is worn with an unlined loosely fitting jacket. For shirts "ice colored" silk is the latest. The material is exceptionally thin, of a bluish grey, and very expensive.

LETTER FOR BEETHOVEN ARRIVES AT VIENNA

It Was a Request That Composer Give Piano Lessons to Sender's Daughter.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, June 30.—A letter addressed to one "Herr Ludwig Van Beethoven, professor of the Conservatory, Schwarzepaniergasse 15," recently arrived in Vienna—a bit late, but otherwise in good condition. In view of the impossibility of delivering it to the addressee, who has been in another world for almost a century, the postal authorities felt justified in opening the missive.

It proved to be from a Galician desiring Beethoven to give his daughter piano lessons for 200 crowns a lesson. The officials returned the letter with the remark "Address O. K., but addressee migrated heavenward in 1827. Impossible to forward."

SMOKING SCHOOLMA'AM O K'D

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SECAUSUS, N. J., June 30.—Miss Helen Clark, 24 years old, a school teacher, who was placed on probation two years ago because she admitted smoking cigarettes, was vindicated last night, when the Secaucus Board of Education refused to entertain general charges of inefficiency preferred against her by Matthew Pechtel, School Supervisor.

Members of the board also "requested" Pechtel to recommend Miss Clark for reappointment.

ST. LOUIS NIGHT AIR MAIL TO EAST IN MONTH LIKELY

WOULD PROVIDE 16-HOUR SERVICE

Successful Bidder Will Have Option of Carrying Passengers and Freight, in Addition to Mail.

With the announcement by Postmaster-General New that bids would be received on eight shuttle air mail routes, including that between St. Louis and Chicago, it is probable St. Louis will have overnight air mail service to New York within 30 days.

Mail will be carried between here and Chicago at 10 cents an ounce or fraction thereof and from Chicago to New York for five cents, making the St. Louis-New York rate 15 cents an ounce. The normal rate from Chicago to New York is 8 cents, so that St. Louis is getting the benefit of a 3-cent adjustment per ounce.

The successful contractor will have to dispatch his mail plane from Lambert-St. Louis Field daily about 5 p. m. to connect with the overnight plane between Chicago and New York. Mail dispatched here at 5 p. m. will reach New York in time for delivery at the opening of business the following day.

Fast New York-St. Louis Mail.

Similarly mail dispatched from New York in the evening will get to Chicago in the early morning and will arrive in St. Louis about 9 a. m.

The Kelly bill, which authorized establishment of the shuttle routes, gives the contractor the right to bid as high as four-fifths of the postal rate, which in this case would be 8 cents an ounce. In view of the uncertainty of the success of the contract, it is considered probable that all bids will be placed at 8 cents and the contract awarded to the company deemed most likely to carry out the contract.

Each contractor must furnish all flying equipment and personnel and, in addition, must make provision for lighting his route, if it is necessary, for winter flying. After September it will be necessary to illuminate the Chicago-St. Louis route.

The only St. Louis concern that has so far announced an intention to offer a bid is the Robertson Aircraft Corporation, which already holds an air mail contract for delivery between New Orleans and Pilottown, La. This contract was recently re-awarded to the Robertson company at $110 a day, despite the fact that another bidder made an offer of $99 a day, because the Robertson equipment was more acceptable to the Postoffice Department.

Option of Carrying Passengers.

To carry out the St. Louis-Chicago contract, the Robertson company has four Curtiss Orioles, capable of carrying 300 to 400 pounds of mail, five DH-4s, with an 800-pound capacity, and four NBS-1s, commonly known as Martin Bombers, with a capacity of more than a ton.

The successful bidder will have the option of carrying passengers and freight, in addition to the mail carried under contract. In addition to the bids offered, the department has announced it will consider three prime factors in determining to whom the contract shall go. These are: Reliability and financial responsibility of the bidder, his flying equipment and the flying experience of his company and his personnel.

In addition to the Robertson company, several Chicago concerns are said to be ready to offer bids and an estimate is also expected from the Stout Metal Aircraft Corporation, among the backers of which is Henry Ford.

TURKISH CROWD APPLAUDS AS 22 REBEL KURDS ARE HANGED

Volunteers Assist in Pulling of Gallows Ropes on Sheik Said and Others.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 30.—Sheik Said and 21 other Kurds recently convicted of participating in the Kurdish insurrection were hanged yesterday in the public square at Diarbekir. Said was the principal leader of the insurrection.

Advices reaching here from Diarbekir say that a large crowd applauded while the executions were taking place and that numerous volunteers aided in adjusting and pulling the gallows ropes.

The men executed were tried by courtmartial. Fifteen other Kurds were acquitted.

FATHER BETTER, COOLIDGE RETURNS TO SWAMPSCOTT

DUE AT SUMMER HOME TONIGHT

Executive, Wife and Son Each Help in Chores About the Farm House in Vermont.

By the Associated Press.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 30.—President Coolidge left here today for Swampscott, Mass., assured that his aged father virtually had recovered from an attack of illness.

Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, the President planned to make the entire trip by automobile. He started at 11 o'clock, and expected in seven hours to reach the summer White House.

Dr. James F. Coupal, the President's physician, remained here to attend Col. Coolidge until all danger of a relapse is passed. He assured the President, however, that his father was making a remarkable recovery, in view of his age and weakened heart, and that there was little likelihood of a relapse.

Visiting the sick room before his departure, the President found his father, who submitted to an operation Sunday, sitting up and in excellent spirits. The 80-year-old patient insisted that he would be all right again in a day or two and told his son and daughter-in-law not to worry about him.

John, son of President and Mrs. Coolidge, remained here to be with his grandfather, and do the chores around the place. Before leaving the President took a last look at the shingles he was stacking, and gave him some instructions about work he thought should be done.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge visited the cemetery where the younger son, Calvin, was buried just a year ago, walking the road to the graveyard, half a mile from Col. Coolidge's home.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 30.—Years of plain living have won for Col. John C. Coolidge, the President's 80-year-old father, at least a temporary victory over a weakened heart and the shock of an abdominal incision.

Joking and laughing, he sat up in bed yesterday and made light of his troubles. His attitude and the less apprehensive tone of the attending physicians reassured the President and Mrs. Coolidge and gave them relaxation from the anxiety with which they hastened here by special train from Swampscott Sunday. Last night he astounded his attendants by getting out of bed and sitting up for half an hour after walking with slight assistance to a chair.

Sunday few besides the physicians believed the Colonel could hold up under the drain on his vitality.

Another consultation, attended by Drs. Chute, Coupal, Bale, Swift and Cram, was held yesterday, following which Dr. Chute, who performed the operation, returned to Boston. Col. Coolidge had shown such improvement a bulletin was considered unnecessary. His temperature stood at 99.2 and his pulse at 76.

At 11 a. m. the Colonel had an attack of nausea. John Coolidge, the President's son, jumped into an automobile and hastened after Dr. Coupal, who has been staying at Brown's farmhouse down the road. The nausea apparently had no ill consequences and was ascribed by the doctors to the administration of water, which had been given the patient in fairly large quantities.

President's Son Does Chores.

President and Mrs. Coolidge passed the morning doing chores about the farmhouse, assisting and directing John, who has taken over his grandfather's duties. In the afternoon the President sat on the piazza, watching the rain pour down on the village for the fourth consecutive day.

President Coolidge appeared in the front yard coatless, hatless and without a collar at 6:45 a. m. He looked about, made some weather observations and went back into the house.

The family had breakfast and John emerged with a rake, with which he went over the front yard carefully. Completing the job to the satisfaction of the most careful observer, he carried a load of wood into the kitchen and came back in front of the house with a wheelbarrow.

He and Col. Coolidge had removed

Hotel and Famous Mission Damaged in Quake

The Arlington, most pretentious of Santa Barbara's hotels, where there were but two fatalities, though the building itself suffered severely through collapse of walls and towers.

This Spanish Mission, regarded as one of the finest on the California coast, was damaged by Monday's quake. The two towers and a section of the front collapsed. A priest and a few worshipers inside, were not harmed.

MOUNTAIN IN WEST SLIDING OFF ITS BASE

Wyoming Forest Rangers and Ranchers Report Sheep Mountain Is Creeping Towards River.

By the Associated Press.

JACKSON, Wyo., June 30.—The north end of Chief Mountain is creeping slowly down upon the Gros Ventre River valley and crumbling as it goes.

Moving down upon the river on a front of several miles at a rate that is almost perceptible, forest rangers and ranchers declare, it will create a great basin if it blocks the canyon through which the river runs. They believe that the section of the great mountain was jarred loose by the earthquake shocks which were felt here Saturday and that the result will be an avalanche greater than that which occurred last Tuesday, when a section of Sheep Mountain, at a point below Chief Mountain, fell into the river and caused it to form a lake.

When the expected avalanche occurs it will dam the river to such a height that once the basin is filled, the stream will find a new outlet.

Below the Sheep Mountain dam the river is dry and all irrigation operations are at a standstill. The lake formed by last week's avalanche already covers 5000 acres and the piling up of boulders and earth around the sides of this newly formed basin has created cliffs hundreds of feet high. The lake at that point, which was 120 feet deep shortly after the slide, is 500 feet deep, residents say.

More Earth Tremors Are Felt in Montana.

By the Associated Press.

BOZEMAN, Mont., June 30.—The Gallatin River Valley stirred restlessly all day yesterday and distinct earth shocks were felt here at 10:30 and 10:35 p. m. last night. The shocks drove people from their beds and many spent the night out of doors.

Dozens of shocks have been felt between Bozeman and Three Forks, one of the three towns which suffered most, since Saturday night. A shock at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, toppled over the weakened walls of a school building at Manhattan, which was partly wrecked Saturday night.

Shiftings of the earth's surface yesterday were felt at Great Falls, Helena, Billings, Logan, Three Forks and Manhattan, but no material damage was done.

Seven hundred men are at work clearing Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul tracks in Sixteen Mile canyon near Lombard, which was buried by avalanches.

Traffic over the lines still is impossible through that section and trains are being re-routed over Northern Pacific and Great Northern tracks.

BIG DETROIT TROLLEY DEFICIT

City-Owned System $3,185,227 Behind, Auditor Reports.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., June 30.—A deficiency of $3,185,227.54 was reported in an auditor's report of the financial condition of the Detroit street railways, which was given to Mayor Smith last night. The report surprised city officials, in view of the fact that for several years reports have been made monthly purporting to show that the railways were making money.

W. W. Hauser, auditor for the Rapid Transit Commission, was loaned to the street car company to audit its books. Hauser reported that many times money was set aside to meet claims against the company but that the reserve existed only on paper.

COUNTY RESIDENCE OF LATE W. J. LEMP BRINGS $109,000

Property, Including 192 Acres of Ground, Bought by D. D. Murphy.

Sale of the country residence and 192-acre estate of the late William J. Lemp, in St. Louis County, to D. D. Murphy of 34 Arundel place, president of the D. D. Murphy Amusement Co., at a purchase price of $109,000, was announced at Clayton today. Murphy stated he had concluded the purchase for another showman.

The property, known as "Alswel," is situated on the Kennerly road, overlooking Meramec River. It has a 14-room house, with six baths, garage, chicken houses and kennels. On May 25 the property was sold to a Chicago real estate dealer for $118,500, but the deal was repudiated when a difference arose as to the purchase price having included the furniture.

The sale was made under a court order in the name of the heirs of Lemp, to simplify clearing up his $1,000,000 estate. Lemp, who was president of the William J. Lemp Brewing Co., killed himself in 1922.

100 MISSOURIANS ARE PRESENTED TO POPE

Archbishop Glennon Has 35-Minute Private Audience With Pontiff.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, June 30.—The Most Rev. John Joseph Glennon, Archbishop of St. Louis, was received in private audience by the Pope today. After a 35-minute discussion, during which the Pontiff showed a thorough knowledge of the ecclesiastical situation in Missouri, he accompanied Archbishop Glennon to the Consistorial Hall, where about 100 pilgrims from Missouri were presented to his Holiness. Each kissed his hand and received from him a medal commemorating the present Holy Year.

The Pope thanked the pilgrims for their generous Peter's pence and expressed his satisfaction at seeing in Rome representatives from Missouri, enjoying the benefits of the Holy Year and preparing to return home to spread with new ardor their faith. He imparted the apostolic benediction to the pilgrims and extended it to their relations.

During the audience with Archbishop Glennon, the Pontiff inquired especially about the seminaries, diocesan clergy and religious orders under his jurisdiction. He expressed his particular interest in parochial schools.

$100,000,000 TO BE SPENT BY SOVIET ON PHONE SERVICE

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, June 30.—Plans have been completed by the soviet Government for the expenditure ultimately of more than $100,000,000 to bring the telephone service throughout Russia up to American standards.

Swedish, German and American telephone companies are to be invited to discuss contracts for technical aid and financial participation in carrying out the plans.

The Government is eager to obtain the co-operation of the Western Electric Co. of the United States. This corporation already has, informed the soviet Government that it is prepared to re-enter Russia, but only on condition that it receives compensation for the confiscation of its plant, which was nationalized by the Government after the revolution.

NATION ASKED FOR A QUAKE RELIEF FUND AND A LOAN

Meeting of Stnta Barbara Leaders Issues Appeal for $2,000,000 and a $20,000,000 Building Loan.

9 PERSONS DEAD AND 29 INJURED

By the Associated Press.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 30.—Santa Barbara today, through its Clearing House Association, issued an appeal to the nation for a $2,000,000 earthquake fund, and to bankers and clearing houses of the country for a $20,000,000 loan reconstruction fund.

Acceptance of offers of aid from San Francisco and Los Angeles was voted by a gathering of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and Clearing House Association. Structural engineers were asked for immediately.

The following telegram was sent to the Chambers of Commerce of Los Angeles and San Francisco:

"Accept your offer of assistance. Send us today three or five superior structural engineers to act in advisory capacity to city government in an immediate survey for reconstruction of Santa Barbara."

Reconstruction the Problem.

Dr. Rexwald Brown, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Herbert Nunn, City Manager, signed the telegrams on authority of the joint meeting.

Dr. Brown presided over the meeting. "We have suffered a real catastrophe," he said. "Earthquakes have almost annihilated our business district.

"Policing and Red Cross canteen work has been taken care of. Our problems now are rehabilitation and reconstruction.

"The two basic problems are reconstruction of the business and commercial districts and the financing of the reconstruction. It is a wonderful opportunity to build the type of a city we have been talking and dreaming of for years. We have had very inadequate and flimsy building control. We need a construction engineer to secure the building of the best and finest city possible.

A recheck of the losses today indicated the death list as nine, eight bodies having been found and a death having occurred in a hospital; the injured list at 29, and property loss between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000.

Looters were at work in the earthquake ruins last night and numerous reports of their depredations came from officers. National Guardsmen and naval reservists, who threw patrols over the business district. Guadlupe Catholic Church was said to have been one of the principal sufferers. Here, the police reported, the altar vessels of gold and silver were stolen. Two thieves were surprised in the ruins of the Arlington Hotel, but they escaped.

Severe Shocks During Night.

Severe earth shocks occurred at 1:22 and 4:39 a. m. today. There was a slight shock at 5:57. The first of these brought down one of the remaining chimneys of the Arlington Hotel and also completed the wrecking of two small brick buildings.

Before dawn wreckers had recovered two of the bodies for which they were searching, those of Mrs. Charles E. Perkins, 83-year-old millionaire widow of Burlington, Ia., and Bertram B. Hancock, 21-year-old son of G. Allan Hancock, wealthy realty operator of Los Angeles.

During the night upwards of 200 uniformed policemen arrived from Los Angeles to aid the local militia in patrolling the streets. Shortly after 4 a. m. today the battleship Arkansas, Capt. Frank Lyon commanding, dropped anchor in the harbor and began landing shore patrols of bluejackets to aid in maintaining order.

The injured have been treated at Cottage Hospital, the only hospital remaining fit to receive patients. No check has been possible of those treated for injuries in their homes.

Business District Wrecked.

State street, the main artery of the torn and twisted business district, presents a desolate appearance. In front of one shop is what was left of a small automobile. Blocks of stonework, weighing 400 or 500 pounds, each were shaken

THEORIES GIVEN BY SCIENTISTS ON EARTH TREMORS

MANY FAULT LINES NEAR SANTA BARBARA

U. S. Geologist Says Disturbance Was Purely Local and Probably Followed 12-Mile Path.

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 30.—The earthquake in Southern California has tended to substantiate the theory that such shocks ocur in "spasms" or groups and the belief that comparatively recent smaller shocks in the same area were not effective in relieving the strain upon the earth, it was declared today by the Engineering Economic Foundation which is organizing knowledge of earthquake hazards.

The statement issued also referred to the Montana earthquake.

"It is evident that these two earthquakes will go down in history together from their close union of time like the great Lisbon and Boston earthquakes which occurred within 18 days of each other in 1755," said the foundation.

"Three points of especial interest appear in the reports from California. They concern the significance of the area where the earthquake occurred and the quake history of that area; the example given by this quake of the principle of earthquake spasm (or group) recurrence, and the fact that the comparatively recent shocks at San Jancito and Inglewood (corresponding to the smaller shocks which we have had in more recent earthquake spasms) were not effective in relieving the strain upon the earth in California, or upon postponing further earthquake shocks.

"The earthquake yesterday occurred in the Southern earthquake province of California. As defined by Dr. Bailey Willis, president of the Seismological Society of America, the five districts of this province are San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara, Tehachapi, Salton, Los Angeles and San Diego."

Head of Geodetic Survey Thinks Shocks Were Unrelated.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 30. — The California and Montana earthquakes are said today by William Bowie, chief of the division of geodesy of the Coast and Geodetic Survey and president of the International Geodetic Association to have been unrelated.

Many Fault Lines East and South of Santa Barbara.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Recent surveys by the Seismological Society of American under direction of Prof. Bailey Willis of Stanford University seem to indicate that the Santa Barbara earthquake was of local character, running along a 12-mile "dead fault" line from the town of Elwood due east almost to the borders of Santa Barbara, geologists here said. The line followed by the quake is transverse to the San Andreas fault line running north from the Mexican border and explains why San Francisco and the territory north of Santa Barbara did not feel the shocks.

The seismological maps show a number of dead fault lines extending east and south from Santa Barbara which probably accounts for slight shocks felt in Los Angeles and points south and east of Santa Barbara.

In the opinion of J. M. Hill, geologist for the United States Geological Survey here, the Santa Barbara disturbance was purely local and probably followed the 12-mile dead fault line. Hill also sees no connection between the Santa Barbara earthquake and recent quakes in Montana, Idaho and Wyoming.

Dr. S. D. Townley of Leland Stanford University, secretary of the Seismological Society of America, stated that experts discovered earth strains three years ago in the Santa Barbara area and predicted yesterday's disturbance. These strains, they believed, had been gathering since the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 which was not felt in the Santa Barbara area.

loose and in their fall had ground out the life of William Proctor, window cleaner, who had just driven up to his early-morning job when the first tremor came.

Across the way is a five-ton truck, shattered under a similar avalanche of stone, brick and mortar.

In the crumpled ruins of the Hotel Arlington, the mecca of world travelers for years, the fall of a tank containing 60,000 gallons of water had swept to their deaths Mrs. Perkins and Bertram B. Hancock. Hancock's father, G. Allen Hancock, wealthy Los Angeles real estate dealer, escaped with three broken ribs and scalp wounds, after falling and sliding three stories to the ground from the room beside that in which his son met his death.

Diesel's grocery, said to have been one of the finest stores of its type in the West, which represented an outlay of $250,000, is a mass of junk.

The San Marcos building, a block below the Arlington hotel, recently finished and held to be one of the finest structures in the city is a paradox of stability and ruin. The center caved in, but the wings stood, badly cracked and twisted.

At the other end of the 14 blocks of State street, which approximately marked the extent of the serious business district damage, the brand-new Californian hotel of 100 rooms completed within the week, is a wreck. The roof collapsed in several places, one corner had been ripped bare, exposing the beds as they stood prepared for guests, careening at dizzy angles.

Another comparatively new hotel, the Carillo, two large wings of filled concrete construction, was badly shaken in its two lowest floors, but above that the walls seemed to be as good as new. The interior finishings, however, all showed the mark of the temblor.

Here and there throughout the downtown section, the pavement bulged and cracked, while in some locations it had been slashed and chopped into fragments a foot square by the grinding force of the successive tremors.

Pranks in Residence District.

In the older and less pretentious residential districts the earth quake played queer pranks with wooden homes, some built a quarter or half century ago.

One sagged crazily in front, its gable hanging two feet nearer the road than its foundation posts. Another had buckled in the middle and leered at the passing world through bare bay windows which until yesterday had been sheltered from the summer sun by an old-fashioned veranda. Next door in a little home of two stories, which looked much weaker in build than its neighbor, not a bit of damage had been done, except to the chimney cap, which had been catapulted into a bed of roses.

Torrents from broken water mains had rushed through a number of home tracts burying gardens and sidewalks under a layer of mud several inches thick.

Back on the hills, the old Mission of Santa Barbara, founded by the Spanish fathers, still stood in part defying its second earthquake. It had gone through a similar shake in the early '80s and was rebuilt only to suffer again yesterday. The mission's tower, with sweet-toned bells, crashed while a kneeling congregation bowed within. The congregation walked out over the adobe wreckage, led by the priest who had celebrated the mass.

Nowhere or only in very rare instances did the men, women and children of Santa Barbara spend last night within doors. Many whose homes were wrecked had to sleep in the open and others slept on their lawns from choice, not knowing when a fresh earth tremor might bring their ceilings down about their ears.

There was no serious fire yesterday.

San Marcos Building, Arlington Hotel, Samarkand Hotel, Santa Barbara Mission, St. Francis Hospital, American Legion Building, Public Library, county jail, court house, Hall of Records, Elks Building, Knights of Columbus Building, Bothday Building, Howard Canfield Building, Hotel Californian, Carrillo Hotel, Levy Building, High School, Wilson School, First National Bank, Presbyterian Church, County National Bank, St. Vincent's Church, Diehl's Building, Parmer Building, Potter Theater, Santa Barbara Morning Press, Central Bank Building, damaged; Buick Auto Garage, Cadillac Garage, El Camino Hotel, Faulding Hotel, Junior High School, Heath Building, Eisenberg's, Goldstein's, Trent-with's, Great Wardrobe, Ott's Hardware, Houghton's, El Nido Hotel, Edgerly Court, Bothin Building, Carrillo Building, Pythian Building, St. Aloysius Hall.

Montecito, show place of millionaires' homes, suffered from the earthquake. The George Owen Knapp mansion was damaged $25,000, the Frederick F. Peabody home $18,00, and the home of W. H. Cowles of Spokane $10,000. Other homes suffered slightly. No one was injured at Montecito.

Many adobe houses, the last vestiges of the Spanish regime at Santa Barbara, were destroyed by the temblors. Included in these was El Patio, which figured prominently in the colorful days of Gov. Pio Pico.

Lighthouse Cut Down.

The battleship Arkansas experienced some difficulty in feeling her way into the harbor before daylight when her navigating officers strained their eyes to locate the Santa Barbara light. The lighthouse had been cut down by the quake.

Ranchers coming into the city this morning reported heavy landslides across the highways 15 miles north of here in the direction of Paradise Camp in the Santa Ynez Valley. They said, however, that no other damage had occurred in that section. In this territory is the Gibraltar Dam, source of Santa Barbara's water supply, which earlier reports yesterday said had been demolished but which was found later to be intact.

Castle Rock, Familiar Shore Line Sentinel, Carried Away.

By the Associated Press.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 30.—Castle Rock, a shoreline sentinel of Santa Barbara Beach, that was just as familiar to residents and visitors as the old mission, was swept to the ocean bottom by yesterday's earthquake. Following the first temblors a landslide surged over the rocky pinnacle and carried it out beneath the waves.

RELIEF FORCES ORGANIZED

Army, Navy and Red Cross Offer Their Facilities.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Facilities of the army and navy, as well as the national headquarters of the American Red Cross, have been made available for assistance and relief in the Santa Barbara earthquake area.

The Red Cross announced that an appropriation to carry on relief work in the affected areas had been authorized, the amount to be determined when reports disclose the requirements.

The War and Navy Department heads received a message from President Coolidge directing that their forces give all possible aid to the stricken section.

Milk and Cooked Food Supplies Sent From Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—In response to a telegram from Mayor C. M. Andera of Santa Barbara, requesting bread, milk and cooked foods for earthquake survivors, Maj. George F. Cryer announced that arrangements had been made with the Los Angeles Milk Association and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association to send supplies. Five hundred gallons of milk were sent by truck, and other trucks were loaded with bread and cooked foods.

17 CURLEE STRIKERS ARE FINED $25 EACH

Nine Women Among Those Penalized on Peace Disturbance Charge.

Fines of $25 for general peace distuebance were assessed against 17 striking employes of the Curlee Clothing Co., including nine women, by Police Judge Rosecan this afternoon in connection with disorders incident to the strike.

This was the first group of defendants among the scores of strikers who have been arrested from time to time during the month the strike has lasted. This group was arrested June 2, the second day of the strike.

Testimony of Policemen.

First witnesses called by James Shaner, attorney for the clothing company and special prosecutor in the case, were Police Lieutedant Aylward and Sergt. Primm. They testified that the 17 defendants were among a crowd of about 200 strikers who marched out Locust street, from Fourteenth street to the Curlee factory at Twenty-first street, blowing noisemakers and yelling. Only those who were blowing devices were arrested, the policemen said, but the officers were unable to assert definitely, when cross-examined, that the defendants were actually the ones arrested.

Earl J. Porter, production manager of a Hamilton-Brown shoe factory, across the street from the Curlee factory, testified that he was attracted by the marching strikers when on the fifth floor and that work in his shop was interferred with for 45 minutes by the hullabaloo. William Brush and C. Catanzaro, foremen in the Curlee shop, declared that work there was interrupted, too.

A demurrer to the case by Ed Maher, counsel for the defendants, was overruled by Judge Rosecan. Maher said the marchers made no more noise than any circus parade produces, and that no complaints were made against the defendants till after their arrest. Maher called one defendant, Miss Melissa Glaab, to the stand as a witness. She admitted marching with the strikers and "perhaps yelling," but denied she had had a whistle. Maher said the other defendants would have told the same story had they testified.

Appeals By All Defendants.

All of the defendants, who belong to the Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Union, which called the strike, appealed the convictions. The appeals will be heard by Judge Guyer of the Court of Criminal Correction.

A crowd of defendants in this and other groups arrested later filled the courtroom of Judge Rosecan, together with their friends. Other cases in the cour were disposed of during the morning and the Judge declared only a 10-minute recess at noon, before taking up the strikers' peace disturbance charges. When he fined the first group there was no demonstration, a number of bailiffs taking the precaution to cry out, "Quiet, please."

WITNESSES DESCRIBE EARTHQUAKE THAT CAUSED DAMAGE IN SANTA BARBARA

Hotel Manager Says Building Was Shaken as if It Were a Rag — Jail Prisoners Freed.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, June 30.—An account of the terror that overtook occupants of buildings in the downtown district of Santa Barbara when the earthquake occurred yesterday was brought here today by W. R. Scott, Los Angeles business man, returning from the stricken zone after a narrow escape from death in the California Hotel.

He was awakened by the first shock, he said, and saw the walls of his room shaking. "They swayed sickeningly back and forth with the same motion as is imparted to an accordeon when it is played," he continued. "I leaped out of bed and raced downstairs, clad only in my pajamas.

"In the lobby I overtook a man struggling toward the door with a small child. Just as they reached it the building gave way. Debris and wreckage piled up on them. I dived through a window into the street.

"When I looked back the hotel was in ruins, its outer wall fallen into the street. And standing on a heap of wreckage on the third floor I saw a fat man, apparently crazed with fear, screaming at the top of his voice for a taxicab.

"Later I found most of the guests of the hotel huddled in scanty attire in a vacant lot nearby. They had fled the building as soon as the shocks began."

Still pajam-clad, Scott met an automobile bound for Hollywood. The man invited him to come along, and together they fled the city without pausing to gather additional garments.

Manager Says Hotel Was Tossed About as Limply as a Rag.

By the Associated Press.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., June 30.—"I have been through 50 earthquakes, but never one like this," said Manager Richmond of the Arlington Hotel. "It just took the hotel that we considered strong as a fortress and shook it back and forth as if it were a rag.

"It was precisely as if one were at sea in a storm. One would not believe it possible for a building to move with such force in so many directions and apparently so limply as did the Arlington.

"The hotel is a total loss."

"The twisting of the earth was like a violent storm at sea," said Harry Afford, janitor at the Daily News. He was one of the comparatively few men in the downtown district when the earth began its shivering.

"The first shock shook the Daily News Building like a little ship in a big storm. It knocked several of us down. There was nothing to do. It was just a question of getting up and holding on. Then came the second shock. This was the one that did the damage. It just rocked back and forth, back and forth, until the crunching and crashing sounds showed that the buildings were being torn down."

Carried Priest on Back.

Father Augusten at the old Santa Barbara Mission told a thrilling story. At the first tremor he went to the second-story room where Father Englebrecht, aged priest and author of histories of the mission, was confined, an invalid.

Lifting the invalid priest to his back, Father Augusten proceeded to the stairway, when, with the second shock he fell through a hole to the floor below with the invalid priest on his back. Neither was injured.

"It was about 6:44 a. m. The air was sultry. Everything was very quiet. I noticed as I lay on my bed that quite a large wave dashed against the beach. The ground seemed to rise up with a crunch, with a noise something like a million dogs would make crunching a bone. I leaped out of bed and the floor seemed to rise up and hit me. I stepped again and it seemed as though I could not reach the floor.

"Like all animals except the horse, in time of trouble, I dashed for the open air and began to bang on the neighboring bungalow to arouse the occupants and get them out in the open park.

"Then I heard an explosion and I saw the walls of the power plant a block away fall, then a bright blue flame such as they use in movies at night lit up the heavens and then flashed out. Right behind me I heard a rending. Two blocks away I saw the walls of the new California Hotel lean over gradually and collapse, leaving the occupants lying safely in bed, some covered and some uncovered.

Street Sweeper Kept Working.

"The ground rolled like a slight wave hitting a canoe. There was no excitement. Crash after crash from the business district. The man sweeping the streets on the water front never quit sweeping."

One of the narrowest escapes recorded in the aftermath of stories told among the ruins was that of Robert Malcolm, gardener at the Hotel Arlington.

The gardener was watering the flowers in front of the hotel when he felt the first shock. A moment later a fissure opened up in the walls of the hotel through which a strong stream of water from a broken main issued. The stream struck Malcolm in the chest with force sufficient to throw him clear of a four-story wall which crashed to the street.

Dr. Henry G. Hensey, an interne at St. Francis Hospital, felt the first shock. He picked up Miss Ruth Allen, a nurse, and leaped from a window. Both suffered broken legs.

Jail Prisoners Released.

Nuns at St. Francis' Hospital carried patients from the building while the walls of the institution trembled.

It was a glorious day for the jailbreakers of Santa Barbara, however. The rear walls of the jail crumbled at the first shock and the prisoners fled to freedom.

H. T. Cronin, night clerk at the Hotel Arlington, feeling the danger attending the first tremor, attempted to rouse the guests. He never reached the top of the stairway. His leg was broken when a stair railing crashed down.

Telephone girls, nearly a score of them, remained at their early morning posts of duty, while the exchange shook about them. The walls did not fall, but almost every square yard was cracked.

Charles Wood, night clerkman of the Arlington, told of the probable manner of death of Mrs. Perkins and Bertram B. Hancock.

Mrs. Perkins, he said, occupied room 202 on the second floor, an apartment she has occupied regularly every summer for many years. In room 303, almost directly over her, was Bertram Hancock. Above these rooms in the cupola surmounting the center block of the hotel, towered a tank filled with 60,000 gallons of water. At the first temblor the tank crashed downward, carrying with it three portions of floors two and three of which were the Perkins and Hancock suites.

Wood made his way from the basement as far as room 201, next to that occupied by Mrs. Perkins, but there a pile of debris stopped him, and as another temblor rocked the hotel he dashed to the roof. Then he came back and helped guests in their hare feet over the piles of jagged bricks.

FUNERAL OF FATHER JASPER IS HELD AT O'FALLON

Pastor of Assumption Church at O'Fallon 10 Years Was Native of St. Louis.

The funeral of the Rev. A. A. Jasper, 55 years old, who died Friday night at O'Fallon, St. Charles County, took place this morning at 9 o'clock at the Assumption Church at O'Fallon. Interment was made in the cemetery of that parish.

Father Jasper was pastor of the Assumption Church at O'Fallon for the last 10 years, being assigned to that parish from St. Peter's Church at St. Charles, where he served as assistant pastor. A native of St. Louis, he had no living relatives. He was educated and entered the priesthood at Milwaukee, Wis.

English Cotton Mills Cut Output.

By the Associated Press.

MANCHESTER, England, June 30.—Cotton spinners of this district, who use American yarns have voted by an overwhelming majority to adopt a policy of curtailed production by reducing the working schedules of their mills by 4½ hours per week.

SUIT TO ENJOIN MEASURE TAXING GOLF AND TENNIS

Action Begun by Former Judge Kimmel Also Is Attempt to Settle Status of Triple A Club.

HEARING OF CASE SET FOR FRIDAY

Bill Providing for Annual and Game Charge Attacked as Invalid on Ground It Is Class Legislation.

A hearing will be held Friday before Circuit Judge Miller in the suit, filed yesterday, of former Circuit Judge Karl Kimmel to determine the constitutionality of the ordinance levying a tax on golf and tennis players in city parks.

In his petition Kimmel is described as a citizen, taxpayer and a member and former president of the St. Louis Amateur Athletic Association (Triple A) which maintains golf and tennis grounds on the municipally owned property in Forest Park. His suit, incidentally, is an attempt to settle the status of Triple A, whose right to operate in a public park has frequently been attacked. Park Commissioner Pape and James H. Mason, secretary-treasurer of Triple A, are named defendants.

The city ordinance, the enforcement of which Kimmel seeks to enjoin, provides for a charge of $10 for an annual permit for golfers, and $1 for tennis players, and, for those lacking annual golf permits, a charge of 50 cents and 25 cents for 18-hole and nine-hole games of golf, respectively. The ordinance is effective tomorrow, but Commissioner Pape has said his department is not prepared to issue permits until about July 10.

Class Legislation, Kimmel Says.

The ordinance is invalid because it is class legislation, Kimmel maintains, in that it discriminates against golf and tennis players by imposing a tax on them, while exempting those who play baseball, handball and cricket; picnickers, campers, aviators, bicycle riders, horseback riders, boaters; automobile and other vehicle drivers, and those who attend the Municipal Opera, Art Museum and Zoo, sit on the benches or otherwise use Forest Park for recreation and amusement.

It is invalid, the petition states because all citizens of St. Louis pay taxes to establish and maintain parks and playgrounds, and the additional tax imposed by the ordinance amounts to double taxation for the same purpose.

Triple A is now spending $25,000 a year to maintain golf and tennis grounds, making a further tax unnecessary, the petition asserts, and for that reason the ordinance is "unreasonable and oppressive."

Tax Paid Under Protest.

The plaintiff declares the officers and directors of Triple A are making no resistance to payment of the tax, and apparently are acquiescing and assisting in its collection, although they have no legal right to submit to the payment of the "illegal tax." The plaintiff adds that all fees paid by him and other members under the ordinance are paid under protest and with a demand for a refund. He asks that the defendants be enjoined from attempting to collect the permit fees from Triple A members, and from placing two cashiers on the club grounds to make the collections.

In the event the ordinance is held to be valid, Kimmel asks that a reasonable value be paid by the city to Triple A members for their club buildings and other property erected by them. A receiver to effect such liquidation is suggested. Thereafter the city could operate the clubhouse and grounds.

Commissioner Pape announced yesterday that he had made an arrangement with officers of Triple A whereby the 1200 members of that organization would be assessed $12,800, regardless of whether they played golf or something else, the money to be turned over to the city. In return, he said, members would be granted exclusive playing rights over the Triple A nine-hole course, and others would be restricted to the two municipally-maintained links in the same park.

RAILROAD EMPLOYE DIES AFTER AMPUTATION OF LEG

Roy R. Stricklin, 22 years old, of Ironton, Mo., a special agent for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, died late yesterday at Missouri Pacific Hospital here from loss of blood and shock resulting from an operation for amputation of his right leg.

Stricklin was accidentally shot last Sunday night with a sawed-off shot gun by William Washer, a special agent for the Missouri River & Bonne Terre Railroad, while they were attempting to capture bonnar thieves at Riverside, Mo. The charge of buckshot pierced Stricklin's right knee, causing a considerable loss of blood before he could be given medical attention.

MISSISSIPPI BARGE LINE GETS $1,000,000 IN BOATS

Authorization of a $1,100,000 expenditure for a new light-draft 2000-horsepower towboat and 10 2000-ton all-steel barges for the Federal barge line was announced by James E. Smith, president of the Mississippi Valley Association, upon his return yesterday from a meeting of the Advisory Board of the United States Inland Waterways Corporation.

The towboat draws only five feet, or about three feet less than those with which the barge line was originally equipped. One of the old barges has already been recommissioned with a 4½-foot draft, and another is in process of reconstruction.

This will give the line three towboats especially fitted to overcome channel difficulties between here and Cairo, which have forced the line to handle its consignments by rail above Cairo during the winter low-water stage. No form of equipment, however, as J. P. Higgins, operating manager, pointed out, can insure all-year service, since at certain periods ice blocks the channel above Cairo. The new equipment will be used wherever needed between St. Louis and New Orleans.

From Congressional Appropriation.

The expenditure will come out of $3,000,000 appropriated by the last Congress. About $800,000 has been spent for new equipment on the Warrior River, where the Government service had been hamstrung, before finances were stabilized by organization of the Government corporation by equipment ill adapted to the service.

Smith said that profits of the barge line were expected to replenish a considerable proportion of the amount expended. He pointed out that this is the only Government enterprise which shows a profit. The purpose of the line is to demonstrate the profitableness of waterways transportation and thereby induce private capital to take it up, on every river where it is practicable.

Good Profit in Three Months.

The Inland Waterways Corporation, upon its inception, June 1, 1924, took over $588,114 liabilities in excess of assets, but on April 1 last had $235,426 assets in excess of liabilities. In the first three months this year the line made $149,577 in excess of expenses, or $47,592 after liberal deductions for depreciation and future repairs.

Between June 1, 1924, and April 1, 1925, the barge line carried 912,082 tons of virtually every sort of freight at a saving to the public ranging from 30 cents to $1.30 a ton, as contrasted to rail rates amounting to $1,000,152.

NEW $400,000 APARTMENT HOTEL AT 4535 LINDELL

Work on Structure, to Be Seven Stories High, to Begin This Week.

Work on a $400,000 apartment hotel at 4535 Lindell boulevard will be started the latter part of this week, it was announced today by an official of the Boaz-Kiel Construction Co. A permit to construct the hotel was granted yesterday.

The hotel will be seven stories high and will be constructed of red brick. Actual cost of the structure will be approximately $300,000, the remaining $100,000 being for the site and fixtures. It will have 56 apartments and a garage will be constructed in the rear of the building.

The hotel, which is expected to be ready for occupancy by Feb. 1, 1926, is being constructed for John T. Craven, president of an engineering company bearing his name.

SEVERAL PENALIZED FOR PARKING RULE VIOLATIONS

One violator of the Traffic Council's new no-parking regulation was fined $2 and costs by Police Judge Beck today, and three others charged with the same offense were discharged when they convinced the Court they had been under a misapprehension as to the boundaries of the no-parking district. In Police Judge Rosecan's Court, City Attorney Hackman allowed six defendants to pay $3 costs for violations of the regulation.

A. Deutsch, 5920 Ridge avenue, was fined $5 and costs by Judge Beck for parking on the south side of Franklin avenue in restricted hours, but the fine was reduced to $2 so that his payment with $3 costs would be an even $5.

EXECUTION OF NEGRO IS SET FOR JULY 17 AT CITY JAIL

Governor Has Stated He Will Not Grant Clemency to Leon Williams, Condemned Slayer.

The mandate of the State Supreme Court ordering the execution of Leon Williams, negro murderer, on July 17 at the city jail, was received here yesterday. The Supreme Court has denied Williams's plea for clemency and only the interposition of Gov. Baker can save him. The Governor has already stated he will not interfere with the Court's order.

Williams and three other negroes were convicted of the murder of Harry Leonard in an attempted holdup of his saloon at 2200 Randolph street, Dec. 30, 1923. Reuben Bobbitt, has been sentenced to life imprisonment, while George Baker and Josh Cartwright have been sentenced to hang. The Supreme Court has not yet heard their appeals.

MISSOURI STREAM RESTORED

25,000 Full-Grown Trout to Be Freed in Niangua River Branch.

By the Associated Press.

LEBANON, Mo., June 29.—The first of 25,000 full-grown trout were released into the Bennett's Spring branch of the Niangua River here Monday. The first batch numbered 2000 and it is planned to release the fish in groups of approximately that number each week, according to Keith McCanse, State Fish and Game Commissioner. The trout were raised in the State fish hatchery at Bennett's Spring. Forty thousand small trout are now in the growing stage in the hatchery.

Campers have made good use of the camping ground in the State park, according to A. N. Bramwell, superintendent of the hatchery, and he anticipates greater numbers as warm weather and vacation periods increase. Many of the visitors, who enjoy fishing, are angling for trout, said Bramwell. A limit of 10 fish a day has been placed on the anglers, who are honor-bound to replace fish under eight inches.

FATHER BETTER, COOLIDGE RETURNS TO SWAMPSCOTT

the old shingles from the roof last week and many of them were scattered about the barn and the lean-to connecting it with the house. John picked up the best shingles and wheeled them to the woodshed across the road. There he piled them neatly in stacks.

As John labored industriously, Mrs. Coolidge walked from the front door, her fears obviously relieved since Sunday. She smiled, spoke pleasantly and seemed confident all was well within the homestead.

For a time Mrs. Coolidge assisted John in loading the wheelbarrow and then, to the surprise of the handful of neighbors standing about, took its handles and wheeled it off to the woodshed. Two or three persons at first started forward to take the load from her, but realizing on second thought that she wanted to work, did not molest her.

"The Heavy Looking On."

Meanwhile the President, standing on the porch, did what the Vermonters referred to as "the heavy looking on." But the desire to be active soon overcame him and after inspecting the shingle piles he directed John to get over the fence by the woodshed. Dressed in the neatly-fitting gray suit he wears often in the White House, the President stooped and handed over a number of boards which John placed inside with the shingles.

John was the only member of the family prepared for real labor about the farmhouse. He wore blue overalls and a wide straw hat such as could be seen anywhere from Ludlow to Plymouth. When the first sprinkle of the day started Mrs. Coolidge put on an old gray sweater belonging to the President. She wore no hat.

The planks having been stored in the woodhouse, President Coolidge moved down to inspect the carriage shed, where his sharp eye noticed three or four loose boards. He obtained a hammer and nails and secured them to the beams.

While working together, the President, Mrs. Coolidge and John chatted vivaciously, laughed and joked. They showed the extent to which they had been relieved since Sunday night when the outcome of the operation could not be foretold.

Physicians pointed out that Col. Coolidge has had no albumen and no symptoms of uremic poisoning. The purpose of the operation was to drain the bladder rather than to relieve an abscess.

ROBBER SHOOTS MERCHANT WHO RUNS AWAY IN ARM

Two Holdup Men Then Escape From Store; Two Others Rob Restaurant of $14.

Two robbers entered the grocery of Albert Doerer at 2413 Salena street yesterday afternoon and flourished revolvers. The proprietor, instead of complying to their order of "Stick 'em up," ran out a rear door and one of the robbers opened fire. A bullet struck the grocer in the arm, causing a flesh wound. A customer pursued the robbers, who escaped.

Two men enjoyed a hearty meal in a restaurent at 2521 Hebert street last night, after which, at about 10 o'clock, they approached the cashier as though to pay their checks. Instead, they drew revolvers. They took $14 from the cash register and $1.25 from one of the three customers and fled.

A lone robber entered the Kroger store at Prairie and College avenues about 2:15 p. m. yesterday and at the point of a revolver forced the manager to surrender the contents of the cash register, amounting to $15.

BUSINESS PHONE RATE INCREASE HERE TOMORROW

WILL AMOUNT TO $894,000 A YEAR

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 30.—The $894,000 a year increase in rates on business telephones in St. Louis, granted the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. by the State Public Service Commission on June 6 last, will go into effect tomorrow. Efforts of attorneys for the City of St. Louis and Chamber of Commerce to postpone the effective date, through motions for a rehearing, and for suspension of the rate increase order, failed.

The commission late yesterday afternoon overruled both motions after the close of hearings on them. Attorneys for the city contended the rate increase should be suspended and additional time given for further inquiry into the necessity for the increase.

Special Counsel Forrest G. Ferris, who appeared with City Counselor Senti for the city, pointed out that the commission had granted the entire schedule of rate increases sought by the company, after an audit by the commission accountants of the operating expenses and revenues of the company for a period of only three months after completion of the merger of the Kinloch property with the Bell system in St. Louis last August. He declared this was not a fair test, and urged that an additional audit be made covering the nine months that have elapsed since completion of the merger. Several hearings were held in which witnesses testified for both the company and the city.

Audit Covered Book Records.

That audit also covered book records on plant additions made to the St. Louis exchange since 1913. The commission fixed a tentative valuation of $24,700,000 on the St. Louis exchange as a rate-making base, and stated the rate increase granted would permit the company to earn seven per cent for return and five per cent for depreciation, on that valuation. The rate increase was granted for a test period of 13 months.

Ferris also raised a question on the five per cent depreciation allowed the company by the commission on the tentative valuation. He stated that through this action the commission was permitting the company to earn a return for depreciation on several valuation factors that would not depreciate, such as $1,000,000 allowed for going valhe, approximately $3,000,000 for land, and smaller amounts for working capital and supplies on hand. He cited several court decisions tending to show that depreciation allowances should not extend to non-depreciating factors.

Attorneys for the city stated the city would employ certified accountants to make an audit of company expenses and revenues for the nine months since the merger, if the commission did not care to assume the expense. The commission, before granting the rate increase, denied the city's demand for a full valuation of the property, on the ground it did not have sufficient appropriations.

Argument Against Rehearing.

E. W. Clausen, rate attorney for the company, opposed the rehearing motion on the ground the city had presented nothing that had not been presented in the hearings on the rate application. He stated the company had tendered the city full opportunity to go into its books, that all of its records had been offered for the hearings, and that the city had full opportunity to cross examine company experts in the hearings. He said the commission's audit had shown the company had not been earning a fair return on its investment, and asserted further delay would result only in additional losses to the company.

Clausen said the merger of the Kinloch with the Bell had been in progress for about two years, and that the abnormal expenses of the merger had been paid before its completion last August. The three months after the merger involved in the commission audit, represented a normal operating period of the combined systems, he said.

Depreciation Charge Defended.

Referring to the question of depreciation charges on nondepreciating valuation factors, he said the 5 per cent allowed was merely an average, and asserted the actual depreciation on property subject to depreciation in reality was greater than 5 per cent. Referring to the $1,000,000 going value allowed by the commission, he recalled that company experts had testified this should be at least $3,000,000, and that C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city, had testified it should be $2,000,000.

Commissioners Ing, Calfee, Hutchinson and Porter sat in the hearing on the motions. Hutchinson was appointed while the case was pending before the commission. Porter was appointed to the commission last week, after the commission had granted the rate increase. Chairman T. J. Brown is absent, on his vacation.

AMERICANS SAIL GOBI DESERT IN AUTO IN STORM

John T. McCutcheon, Cartoonist, Tells How Women Held Coat to Catch Wind.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Sailing the Gobi desert in a 70-mile gale and sandstorm with a temporarily disabled automobile and an improvised sail was described by John T. McCutcheon, cartoonist of the Chicago Tribune, in a letter published in that newspaper today.

McCutcheon, "Barney" Goodspeed and their wives, who have circled the earth in six months, are now in Paris. In the letter, McCutcheon said they reached the desert early in the day and found it "as flat as a billiard table and the trail so level that the car made an average of 25 miles all forenoon.

"Then came a 70-mile gale with a terrific sandstorm that stung our faces like needles and filled the magneto and carburetor with sand. The wind was like the wind you feel in an open airplane, and there we were out on that vast level expanse with only a little group of mongol huts far away to the south. The girls stood up in the car with a heavy sheepskin coat held as a sail. We gave the car a shove and then for nearly all the way the wind carried the car along. I got a movie of it. The car had 1400 pounds of load on it. It was a regular ship of the desert."

WIDOW'S CLAIM TO JEWELRY OF H. W. UHLEMEYER HEARD

Testimony was heard by Probate Judge Holtcamp today on the motion of Mrs. Emily Uhlemeyer, executrix of the estate of her husband, the late Alderman Harry W. Uhlemeyer, seeking to compel Uhlemeyer's brother, William A. Uhlemeyer of 2025A South Second street, to surrender to her her husband's $1000 Scottish Rite diamond ring and $250 watch fob. Mrs. Uhlemeyer, who resides at 3956 Lafayette avenue, did not testify.

Her brother-in-law testified that the articles were given to him by the late Alderman when both were patients at Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, Dec. 26 last. After he had been operated on, the witness said, he let his brother have the ring and fob back and they were locked in the hospital safe. He said he gave the hospital a receipt for the articles at the time of his brother's death, and admitted it said they were his brother's property, explaining that he was too excited then to realize what he was signing. Later, he related, he gave the fob to another brother, Elmer.

CURLEE STRIKE BREAKERS' ARRIVAL CAUSES DISTURBANCE

Eighteen Striking Garment Workers and Sympathizers Arrested as Result.

Eighteen striking garment workers and strike sympathizers were arrested today after disturbances which followed the arrival of strike breakers from Cleveland to work at the plant of the Curlee Clothing Co., Twenty-first and Locust streets.

Three men were arrested at Union Station, where they made attempts to persuade the strike breakers from going to work. The three boarded a Big Four train at Washington avenue and on the trip to Union Station asked the strike breakers to refuse to go to work. Their manner was such as to bring forth requests for their arrest on general disturbance charges. They described themselves as Otto Schneler of 2124 East Prairie avenue, Quell Oliver of the Warwick Hotel and William Fuhrweck of 4255 Harris avenue.

When the strangers arrived at the Curlee plant a demonstration was staged there and 15 women strikers and sympathizers were arrested.

TRAFFIC FATALITY AN ACCIDENT

Frank Craven, 42, Was Crushed Between Truck and Street Car.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today at the inquest into the death of Frank Craven, 42 years old, of 1415 Bremen avenue, who was crushed between an automobile truck and a Belt car at Nineteenth and Madison streets last Friday.

He was riding on the running board of the truck, which was operated by Ernest Wick, 38, of 1907 Bremen avenue, who swerved the truck in an effort to avoid a collision with the car.

TO FIX CLEARANCE FOR RAILROAD TRACKS

State Public Service Body Meets to Fix Rules That Will Affect Delmar Crossing.

By a Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 30.—Representatives of virtually every steam railroad operating in Missouri are here today for a hearing before the Public Service Commission upon establishment of a uniform set of regulations for clearance of bridges, viaducts and other structures over railroad tracks and the clearance of buildings and platforms constructed adjacent to railroad tracks.

Promulgation of a set of uniform clearance rules by the Public Service Commission was prescribed in a measure passed by the 1925 Legislature, which becomes effective on July 9. Railroad attorneys and engineers here for the hearing will recommend that the commission adopt the standard of clearances approved by the American Railway Association, it was said. These standards include 22-foot clearance above the rails for bridges and viaducts and eight feet from the center of the track for building walls and platforms. The bill passed by the Legislature prescribes a 22-foot clearance above the rails for all bridges, viaducts and other overhead structures passing over railroad tracks.

This measure will have considerable bearing on the plans for the proposed Delmar boulevard viaduct over the tracks of the Wabash Railroad Co. in St. Louis, it was stated. The city plan for viaduct, approved by the State Supreme Court and now pending in United States Supreme Court on an appeal by the railroad, called for an 18-foot clearance. The Wabash attacked the proposed 18-foot clearance as unsafe and urged a 22-foot clearance.

Although plans for the Delmar viaduct have been completed and approved in litigation thus far, the new law will apply to the structure, it was said, as it provides that the clearances specified in the bill shall apply to all structures built after the effective date of the law. Work has not been started on the Delmar viaduct.

Among those here for the hearing are Homer Hall of St. Louis, general attorney for the Wabash; Luther Burns of Topeka, general attorney for the Rock Island; J. H. Nelson of St. Josen district attorney for the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, and J. F. Green of St. Louis, general attorney for the Missouri Pacific.

SPEEDER REJECTS COURT'S 'DOUBLE OR NOTHING' OFFER

Pays $25 Fine After Declining to Submit Machine to Test.

A "double or nothing" proposal was made by Police Judge Rosecan today, to test the sporting blood of a defendant in a speeding case.

A policeman testified that John H. Baumann of 3947 McRee avenue was driving his Ford truck 30 miles an hour on Lafayette avenue at Mississippi avenue.

"I couldn't have been going that fast," Baumann protested. "I had stopped for a signal at Jefferson avenue and my truck wouldn't have got up to a 30-mile speed that soon."

"Let's test that," said the Judge. "We will take your truck out and see whether it can get up to that speed in that distance. If it does, you pay a double fine, $50. If it doesn't, you pay nothing."

Bauman declined the test, saying his truck was in the shop for repairs. He was fined $25 and costs.

E. R. Schmaus, 4010 Tennessee avenue, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge, but asked to be allowed to make a statement. He said he had been speeding homeward after receiving a message from his wife that his brother was ill. The policeman who made the arrest testified that Mrs. Schmaus told him she informed her husband that the brother was not seriously ill. Schmaus was fined $35 and costs.

NO GARBAGE COLLECTION TO BE MADE ON JULY 4TH

There will be no collection of garbage by the city on July 4, Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks announced today, and householders are advised to have the refuse ready on Friday morning.

Monday will be the next day of collection.

DRINKER ABANDONS HIGHBALL AND RUNS

Police Find It on Bar; 82 Persons Arrested in Day's Campaign.

Thirty-eight police characters, five saloon keepers, 14 negroes charged with being policy agents, a narcotic peddler and an army deserter were among the 82 persons arrested yesterday by police in their campaign against all forms of lawlessness.

The gambling squad, in charge of Detective Sergeant Mulcahy, raided a residence at 2823 Bernard street yesterday afternoon and reported finding 18 policy books of the "Old Original Delmar Policy Game" and $24.40 in cash on a table. Fourteen negroes in the house were arrested.

Investigating an anonymous letter that "there is a lot of drinking being done at 1911 North Tenth street," police yesterday afternoon went to that address, broke down a rear door, entered and confiscated 12 gallons of home-brew beer and apparatus for the manufacture of beer and arrested Mrs. Mary Van Veen, 32 years old, who said she resided there.

As Detectives Taylor and Schneider of the Mounted District entered a saloon at 6501 Manchester avenue last night, a man ran out a rear door, leaving a whisky highball on the bar. Searching the place, they found five gallons of alcohol in a rear room and a gross of empty pint bottles in a shed behind the saloon. Joseph Torretti, 35, proprietor of the saloon, was arrested.

TWELFTH BOULEVARD PARKING BAN EFFECTIVE TOMORROW

Chief Gerk Says Those Who Disregard Traffic Council's Rule Will Be Summoned to Court.

The Traffic Council's new rule prohibiting parking in the center of Twelfth boulevard, between Market street and Washington avenue, will go into effect tomorrow. Chief of Police Gerk announced today he would have policemen on hand to summon to court those who persisted in parking there. The only exception to the rule is for taxicabs, which may be parked on the east side of the center of Twelfth, between St. Charles and Locust streets, for a period not to exceed 15 minutes.

YELLOW CAB DIRECTORS DISCUSS MERGER PLANS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Directors of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co., headed by John Hertz, held a special meeting today presumably in connection with recently reported plans for a merger with the General Motors Co.

Before going into the meeting, Hertz said there would be no announcement and it was understood that any statement of any course of action would await a final working out of plans.

Hertz since returning to the city last Saturday from New York and Detroit has declined to discuss the merger reports which were that General Motors proposed to acquire control of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Co. and also a stock interest in the associated companies, including the Yellow Cab companies of New York and Chicago, operating taxi fleets in those cities; the Yellow Coach Co., the Omnibus Corporation of America, and the Chicago Motor Coach Co.

LIQUOR AND LIFE INSURANCE

Lower Rate for Abstainers Than for Drinkers.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 30.—Life insurance companies still insist upon exact answers to the question "Do you use alcoholic liquors?" and one of the leading insurance companies of the West announces a "temperance department." Total abstainers will be granted a preferred premium rate of 10 per cent less than those who admit that they use alcoholic liquors.

Their new policies are modeled after those of the Scottish temperance life insurance policies, in which actuaries calculate that users of alcoholic beverages show a 40 per cent higher mortality rate. Actuaries of four of the largest Western companies compute their mortality rates among alcoholic indulgers at 27 to 49 per cent higher than abstainers, but the company announcing the "temperance department" says it is the first American company to grant preferred premiums to total abstainers.

145 CASES IN WILLIAMSON COUNTY DROPPED BY STATE

State's Attorney, His Predecessor, Sheriff Galligan and Others Named in Dismissal Indictments.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MARION, Ill., June 30. — One hundred and forty-five cases in the Williamson County Circuit Court were nolle prossed yesterday by State's Attorney Boswell, disposing of indictments growing out of the factional striwe at Herrin and elsewhere in the county.

Boswell in his petition to have the cases dropped said that the cases were the result of "factional difficulties," and that the witnesses on one set of indictments were the defendants in the other set of indictments, practically all of which were returned by special grand juries.

Boswell said that "the state of mind of the general public is such that the people could not obtain a conviction in any one of the cases listed."

"Forty-five of the cases dropped named S. Glenn Young, the Ku Klux Klan's hired raider, who was killed in a revolver fight in Herrin when Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas also was killed. Eleevn of the cases named State's Attorney Boswell, and former State's Attorney Delos Duty, as well as Sheriff George Galligan, and City Judge E. N. Bowen of Herrin were named in several of the indictments.

200-FOOT MOORING MAST BEING BUILT AT SCOTT FIELD

It Will Cost $85,000 and Secure Larger Craft Than One at Lakehurst.

Work on the construction of the $85,000 airship mooring mast has been started at Scott Field, following the completion of the grading and excavation work. The mast, it is said, will be finished by October.

The new mooring mast will be located 2300 feet south of the large hangar. The construction work is being done by the Aircraft Co. of Detroit.

The mast is a duplicate of that erected by Henry Ford at his aviation field in Detroit. It will be 200 feet high, as compared to the 165-foot mast erected at Lakehurst, N. J., and can secure an airship of 10,000,000 cubic feet of capacity. The mast at Lakehurst will hold a ship of 5,000,000 capacity.

The cost of the erection of the new mooring mast is approximately $50,000 and it will cost about $35,000 to construct the pipe lines, elevators, hellum pipes and other accessories. The mast will be capable of handling semirigid ships of the type of the experimental RS-1, the large dirigible now controlled by the Navy.

GIRLS! USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

HANGS HIMSELF, LEAVING FIVE CHILDREN DESTITUTE

Baker Had Been Despondent Because of Inability to Keep a Job —Idle Seven Months.

Despondent because of his inability to keep a job, Edward Fiala, a baker, hanged himself at 4 a. m. today on the porch in rear of his home at 2200 South Eleventh street. He left a widow and five children destitute. He was 37 years old.

When Capt. Kirk of the Soulard Street District went to the house this morning he found the five children, ranging in age from 15 years to five months, without food or adequate clothing. There were only a loaf of bread and some coffee in the house, and only $1 in cash. The mother was out with a friend trying to arrange, without funds, for the burial of her husband.

Fiala was a Bohemian and came to this country with his family six years ago. His eldest son, Tony, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Fiala had not worked for seven months and had suffered from asthma. The other children are Anna, 12; Ed, 3; Ernestine, 2, and Joseph, 5 months.

INDICTED IN PERKINS' CASE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Michael (Micky) Conners, alleged betrayer of Dorothy Perkins, the 17-year-old girl convicted of the killing of her suitor, Thomas Templeton, was indicted yesterday on a charge of criminal assault. The indictment was handed to Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions. Conners is serving a term in the workhouse for beating his wife.

Dorothy was the principal witness against Conners before the grand jury. Conners, who had been taken to Tombs Prison during Dorothy's trial, appeared surprised when told he had been indicted. He denied there was any ground for the accusations against him.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST C. C. FAIMAN DISMISSED

State's Attorney, However, Has Leave to Reinstate Indictment of Shepherd Case Witness.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Charles C. Faiman, indicted with William Darling Shepherd for the murder of Shepherd's millionaire ward, William Nelson McClintock, was freed yesterday when the charge was stricken off the record with leave to reinstate at the request of Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney.

Shepherd was acquitted last week on the murder charge and Crowe said another charge of murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, young McClintock's mother, would be dropped. Faiman conducted a school and said that he had given Shepherd typhoid germs to administer to McClintock and had been promised $100,000 for his part in the alleged plot. Faiman, since the indictment, has been in the custody of the State's Attorney.

Questioned about reports that Shepherd planned retaliatory measures in the form of suits for libel or slander against various persons who had a part in the investigation which led up to his trial, attorneys for Shepherd said such action never had been seriously considered.

CORONER'S VERDICT HOLDS DRIVER IN AUTO FATALITY

Witness Testifies Party Had Been Drinking Before Accident That Killed Two.

John Scott, 35 years old, a negro, of 4206 Finney avenue, who, with a woman companion, was killed when a car driven by him struck the corner of a building at Leonard and Laclede avenues in the height of Sunday night's storm, was blamed for criminal carelessness in both fatalities by a Coroner's verdict today. The woman killed was Mrs. Margaret Roberts, 31, a negro, of 215 North Channing avenue.

The only witness was Lewis Simpson, 35, a negro, of 3024 Caroline street, who was seriously injured in the accident. He testified that he had cautioned Scott against driving too rapidly, and admitted that the party, including two other negroes who were injured, had indulged in what he guessed was "white mule" at a house near Leonard and Lucas avenues.

POLICE BOARD TO REPLACE GIRL TELEPHONE OPERATORS

Because the present police administration believes that police stations are not good working environments for young women, it is gradually replacing girl telephone operators with men. To accomplish this, the Board of Police Commissioners is not discharging girl operators, but is contenting itself with replacing with men the girls who resign or are dismissed for cause.

BOY, 12, MISSING SINCE FRIDAY

Richard Gerald Rolls, 12-year-old son of R. B. Rolls, 2830 Dalton avenue, has been missing since Friday evening. On that evening he attended a Boy Scout meeting and he is last known to have been seen on Southwest avenue, near Clifton avenue, as he was returning from the meeting, at about 10 o'clock.

The boy is 4 feet 9 inches tall, weighs 82 pounds, has light brown hair, which he combs straight back, gray eyes, and has a small scar over his left eyebrow.

MISSOURI HAD 1672 INCOME TAX DELINQUENTS DURING MAY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—During May collectors of the Internal Revenue Bureau in Missouri collected $17,129 in additional income taxes and $26,343 in additional miscellaneous taxes, the Treasury Department announced yesterday. There were 1672 income tax and 289 miscellaneous tax delinquents reported in Missouri for the month.

The Internal Revenue Bureau conducted 52,635 investigations throughout the United States last month, which resulted in additional taxes of $5,590,770, of which $4,345,273 has been collected. The remainder were reported for additional assessment.

The number of delinquents who did not make returns was 28,236, of whom 19,079 were income tax delinquents and 9157 delinquent in payment of miscellaneous taxes. The figures shown are not the result of a special drive, but is part of the continuing work of the bureau, the announcement said.

Our Platform
1. Bring to the Public Comfort, Happiness and Satisfaction.
2. Keep the Public's Confidence.
3. Live Up to Our Good Reputation.
4. Let the Public Be Judge of Anything Bearing the Name of ED. PINAUD.

EDITORIAL

The greatest satisfaction and encouragement a manufacturer can derive from his business is the sincere tribute paid his products by a multitude of contented men and women.

Our ED. PINAUD MONTH—May—has been gratifying just for this reason.

While the prize contest for best letters about the ED. PINAUD products was primarily for the Middle West states, we have received numerous letters from nearly every state in the Union.

We want to take this opportunity to thank all our friends not only for their good will and patronage, but most of all for the confidence they have placed in our products.

It is our aim to continue in this confidence they have placed in our products.

It is our aim to continue in this confidence which has been our biggest asset through generations and to furnish the discriminating public with the best their money can buy.

We were pleased to have our many friends express their frank opinion about the pirate imitators with their spurious imitations, also about the "just as good" merchant.

The name ED. PINAUD on a product always has and always will mean quality and dependability.

PERFUMERIE ED. PINAUD.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

"Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery . . . ."

Imitators flatter us—but—they live and laugh at your expense.

Insist on the genuine with the name ED. PINAUD on the label and let the imitators and the "just-as-good" merchant HAVE THE LAUGH ON THEMSELVES.

PUBLIC OPINION

"The ED. PINAUD products are prime favorites with the public because of their superior quality and excellence. They are unsurpassable, a fact which proves itself by the constant increasing number of users, and by sight of so many imitators."

"No amount of advertising could sustain the world-wide renown of ED. PINAUD'S LILAC DE FRANCE, were its popularity not based upon genuine merit."

"The ED. PINAUD products typify all that is pure, refreshing, invigorating and effective in toilet articles. They are capable of pleasing the most exacting tastes."

"The popularity of a commodity is earned only by the uniform excellency of its quality, which is the open secret of the success of the ED. PINAUD products."

"There is an indefinable something about the ED. PINAUD products which has endeared them to the people of fine tastes. Their use creates an atmosphere which can be achieved with no other preparations of their kind."

"For perfect results and sense of personal refinement the ED. PINAUD toiletteries impart, also for their dependability and quality and reasonable cost, they are without rival."

"The name of ED. PINAUD has become known to the public as a symbol of toilet articles of highest stability."

"ED. PINAUD—a name made famous through integrity and honesty of purpose."

"ED. PINAUD products are truly the supreme fulfillment of the most fastidious, and there is no substitute."

"To use ED. PINAUD'S EAU DE QUININE is to learn the delights of a real hair and scalp contentment."

"Any toilet article with an 'ED. PINAUD' label is BEST."

"All of ED. PINAUD'S preparations have that refreshing odor that is distinctive and you have merited the wonderful success you have attained."

"Each preparation of ED. PINAUD'S preparations have that refreshing odor that is distinctive and you have merited the wonderful success you have attained."

"Each preparation of ED. PINAUD answers a definite need, and the name stands for safety and quality."

"Every good barber will tell you that there is no better hair tonic anywhere on the Globe than ED. PINAUD'S and there is not any—just-as-good."

The world-wide reputation PARFUMERIE ED. PINAUD products enjoy I attribute to the maintaining for generations the highest standard of excellence in manufacture."

"All your products are of such purity, uniformity, economy and high quality that it is hard to select one of the best."

"It certainly pays to purchase the genuine ED. PINAUD products as there is something about them that the imitations fail to imitate."

"To be imitated is a mark of supremacy in quality."

"The ED. PINAUD preparations are esteemed so highly on the MERIT of the preparations themselves. The people are ever quick to recognize superiority and readily discern the excellent from the mediocre or the merely good."

"To me the Label 'ED. PINAUD' means a product of supreme excellence."

"BEWARE! for there is only one GENUINE ED. PINAUD Hair Tonic and it bears his signature. The label has been closely imitated but the CONTENTS—NEVER!"

I believe that the fundamental reason for the extensive favor and popularity of the ED. PINAUD PRODUCTS is the fact that, regardless of price, one cannot buy toilet requisites of superior MERIT.

"The very fact that there has been many so-called 'just-as-good' imitations thrown on the market only proves the superiority of ED. PINAUD products. ED. PINAUD has ever in mind not how cheap can that article be made, but how GOOD."

"The users of ED. PINAUD'S products appreciate their staunch quality and genuine dependability. DO NOT ACCEPT CHEAP IMITATIONS, they are costly."

Glad He Picked This Good Stomach Remedy

Puts Stomach in Fine Condition—Ends Dizzy Spells, Catarrh and Makes You Sleep Well.

Injudicious eating causes acute indigestion, gas, heartburn, heaviness and sour stomach—sometimes the distended stomach causes that dreadful feeling of near suffocation.

Isn't it worth something to know of a remedy that will stop this distress in a few minutes—quicker than anything else you can think of.

This is no common stomach remedy, for it took years of time to combine Pepsin with the other effective agents that make Dare's Mentha-Pepsin so good that the worst cases of indigestion and gastritis and other chronic stomach ailments are speedily overcome and the most deranged stomachs are made clean, strong and healthy.

Mr. Calvin Dilks of Alloway, N. J., a man of few words knows this: for he writes: "I entirely rid myself of an old catarrhal condition of the stomach with Dare's Mentha-Pepsin."

No matter what your stomach trouble is, get a bottle today at Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Stores or any druggist anywhere, with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't do you the world of good your money will be returned.

DAUGHTER TESTIFIES FOR MRS. SYMINGTON

13-Year-Old Witness Defends Mother Against Charges of Infidelity.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Dorothea Webber, 13-year-old daughter of Mrs. Ida May Symington, by her former husband, today took the witness stand in Supreme Court to defend her mother against charges of infidelity made by Thomas H. Symington, wealthy manufacturer and clubman, in his suit for divorce.

The appearance of her daughter broke for the first time the composure which had marked the attitude of Mrs. Symington since the trial opened.

She wept most of the time the girl was testifying.

The youthful witness upheld her mother's story of Symington's raid last winter on her mother's home in Morristown, N. J., breaking down the doors with the aid of several men and rifling Mrs. Symington's desk of papers and letters. Dorothea positively identified John Wallace Young, Symington's attorney, as the man who accompanied "Daddy Symington," her stepfather, on a visit to the Morristown home while her mother was away and she was there alone. The witness pointed out Young in the courtroom.

Tells of All-Night Siege.

Dorothea also confirmed her mother's statements as to the facts concerning an Easter party at the Morristown home, at which Symington contended, Maurice Fatio, one of the co-respondents in the case, visited Mrs. Symington's bedroom clad in light attire. Dorothea said she remembered the occasion and that she and a Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and their son, were present.

The girl likewise upheld the mother's version of the alleged all-night siege of the home by Symington and his men shortly afterwards.

"Some lawyers came down that day," she said. "I heard daddy say 'Break down the door; we must get in.' Mother came down about the same time and opened the door and all the men came in. Mother and I went into the library and the men were all over the house. The light and telephone had been cut off and it was getting dark and raining.

Both Went Without Supper.

'One of the men came in and told my mother that the food was going to be taken out of the house. We went without supper. Daddy and the rest of the men ate and daddy asked me if I wanted to eat, but I told him I wouldn't unless mother was invited. So we didn't eat anything. I went upstairs and found that all the beds had been stripped. Finally, daddy told me that I could go to bed, and I did. Mother stayed downstairs.

"The next morning daddy and the men pushed mother out of the front door and wouldn't let her back. I tried to get out, but they wouldn't let me, and daddy told the men to guard the door. I tried to get out, anyway, and they let me out a back window so that mother couldn't get in."

AUSTRALIAN PRELATE IN DUBLIN

Heads Group of Pilgrims Accompanied by De Valera.

By the Associated Press.

DUBLIN, June 30.—Archbishop Mannix and a group of Australian pilgrims arrived here last evening and received a great ovation. A special train brought them from Kingstown. They were accompanied by Eamon De Valera and the Republican deputies of the Dail Eireann. Escorted to the pro-cathedral, the archbishop bestowed benediction and then accompanied the pilgrims to a hotel.

The Free State Government has shown no disposition to interfere with the visit of the archbishop who was refused permission to land here in 1920 by the British authorities because of his sympathy with the Republicans.

You can take a Round Trip to COLORADO this summer

Do you think of Colorado as a long distance away? As a wonderful vacation region too expensive to be within your reach? If you do, consider this—two weeks is plenty of time for a vacation in Colorado. A night and a day via the dependable Burlington takes you there from St. Louis.

And this—

A glorious Colorado vacation is no more expensive than an ordinary near-to-home vacation. Special summer excursion rates, now in effect, reduce the round trip to almost half. You can find plenty of comfortable, convenient, wholly enjoyable accommodations in Colorado. Board and lodgings may be had for as low as $17.50 a week and upwards.

Why not, then, be one of the hundreds of St. Louis people who will make Colorado their Playground for two weeks this summer?

Go and enjoy the mountain scenery, the cool, delightful climate, the invigorating and healthful altitude. Visit Rocky Mountain National (Estes) Park. Take the Grand Circle tour from Denver—a two-day tour of 236 thrilling miles. See Pikes Peak, Denver's Mountain Parks, Grand Lake and the numberless other world-famous vacation regions.

And for enjoyment's sake plan your trip via the Burlington. The Burlington provides a service that will delight you. Superb equipment, perfect road bed, courteous and thoughtful attention to every detail that makes your trip enjoyable.

Two fine Burlington trains leave St. Louis for Colorado daily.

You can have your choice of two ways of taking the wonderful Colorado trip. You can go on a regular summer excursion ticket and plan your own trip. Or you can join a Burlington Escorted Tour party, paying all expenses for the trip in a lump sum and having an experienced travel expert accompany you and care for all travel details.

You can visit Yellowstone Park or Glacier Park at slight additional cost, on your way out or back.

BRITISH KILL CHINESE BRIGANDS ON RIVER

Patrol Boat Fires on Bandits in Vessel—American Missionaries Encounter Mobs.

By the Associated Press.

HONGKONG, June 30. — An armed launch river patrol boat of the British Government, protecting shipping in the West river area near here today met a large body of brigands cruising towards Kong Moon. The British opened fire on the bandits killing many and dispersing the remainder for which they were thanked by Kong Moon residents.

Seven American missionaries returning by rail from Shiuchow, Kwangtung province, reported that they were met by disorderly mobs at Wongsha and Canton. The progress of the trip was retarded several times, but they arrived at Hongkong safely.

Two missionaries reported they were held up on their way from Lupa to Canton by bandits dressed in foreign clothes and speaking English. The bandits demanded found on the missionaries.
found on the missionaires.

Reports were prevalent today that several women missionaries who had taken refuge in Hong kong have accepted employment on the liner Empress of Asia as stewardesses with pay for the return trip to Vaucouver, B. C.

Barricades and trenches have been erected by the Chinese at Canton near Shameen with the expressed intention to prevent Chinese on parade from passing the foreign quarter but this explanation is doubted. Extra precautions have been taken at Shameen where the waterway approaches have been mined to prevent entrance to the settlement.

The French gunboat Algar with Admiral Frochot abroad arrived at 7 o'clock last night.

Foreign staff in the Chinese customs house returned there today after an absence of one week. They were escorted by representatives of the British Foreign Office and the Chinese Superintendent of Customs. The uncertainties of the future are apparent because of demands expected from the French Admiral Frochot.

U. S. Suggests Semifavorable Reply to Chinese Demands.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (New York World and Post-Dispatch).

LONDON, June 30.—The United States has informally taken the initiative in the Chinese crisis. American suggestions have been made to the British that a semi-favorable reply be sent to recent Chinese demands to the Powers.

They have been received here with some doubts and the British reply to the United States proposals isn't likely to be made immediately, although the subject will come up at the Cabinet meeting tomorrow.

The United States believes that the 13 Chinese demands recently made to the diplomatic corps in Pekin and referred by the diplomats to their Governments should be responded to if possible by joint note to this effect.

The Powers are willing to discuss in conference the Chinese demands for greater responsibilities and for changes in existing extra-territorial regimes in China, provided the Chinese Government can show that it has powers sufficient to enable it to cary out extra responsibilities if these are made over to it.

MOVE TO HALT PAVING PROJECT OVERRULED

East St. Louis to Proceed With Completion of Gap in State Street.

Legal objections of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District to the paving of a strip of 1000 feet on State street from Seventy-sixth to Seventy-ninth streets, where Project No. 12, a part of the $8,000,000 "Baby Panama" drainage canal was to have crossed, yesterday were overruled by Judge Silas Cook of the East St. Louis City Court.

With the announcement of the decision, Ralph Cook, Commissioner of Streets and Sewers, said that bids would be advertised for today, and that work would be expedited in order to complete the gap as soon as possible, probably within 30 days. All of the State street paving project except the strip has been completed for nearly a month, and with its construction a continuous concrete highway from Belleville to East St. Louis will be realized. A large part of the Eastern tourist traffic to St. Louis comes over this road.

The objections of the Levee Board, filed when the City Council passed the paving ordinance, held that the city could not proceed with the improvement because of a judgment rendered in October, 1923, which gave the Levee District a right-of-way across State street at the canal site, and authorized the construction of a bridge at that point.

A permanent injunction restraining the contractors and the Board of Trustees of the Levee District from further work on Project No. 12, on application of 90 East Side taxpayers, was granted Monday of last week by Circuit Judge Crow at Belleville. John D. Johns, president of the Levee Board, which was elected last November on a platform opposing completion of the project, said that the board would take no appeal, but E. G. Kramer of the law firm of Kramer, Kramer & Campbell of East St. Louis, counsel for A. V. Wills & Sons, contractors, said they would appeal.

Army Flyer Drowned in Plane.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., June 30.—Lieut. J. W. Fletcher, student flyer from Kelly Field, San Antonio, was drowned yesterday when his plane fell into Trinity Bay. Lieut. Fletcher and Lieut. H. G. Davidson were doing shadow target practice over the bay when the plane plunged downward. The pilot, Lieut. Fletcher, attempted to straighten it out and climb again, but the landing gear struck the surface of the water, causing the plane to tilt forward, and the propeller pulled the machine to the bottom in about eight feet of water. Davidson was rescued.

THE MYTHICAL COOLIDGE IS A HUMBUG ON AMERICAN PUBLIC, REED DECLARES

Asserts He Was Weak in Police Strike, Vacillating in Oil Scandal and That Economy Credited to Him Is False Pretense.

Senator Reed, speaking at a conference of Missouri Democrats at the City Club yesterday, had for his subject, "Coolidge Myths." He handled the subject in typical Reed style. At times he was brutally blunt. At others his words were only sarcastic. At others he was merely facetious.

He sought to break down the national impression of the President's career and ability, which he asserted had grown from a careful advertising campaign.

The Senator said in part:

"Barnum said, 'The American people like to be humbugged.' The truth was and is that plenty of men like to humbug the people. It has been so from the first. It is so now. The fact was never better illustrated than in the character, career and pretensions of the President.

"I desire to say nothing harsh of Mr. Coolidge. He is in truth an amiable individual and as he sees the light, entirely honest and patriotic. But, there is as great a difference between the Coolidge of fact and the Coolidge of fiction as there is between an oil field prospectus displaying a gusher and the barren hole in the ground which is fact exists.

"The public rarely has an opportunity to know the real character and achievements of any official. What they see is a picture painted by the pens of ready writers who in substance and fact constitute the advertising agency of a political party or of a more sinister interest. The portrait is always designed to suit the occasion and usually is limited only by the riotous fancy of the particular artist employed.

That Police Strike.

"They had a police strike in Massachusetts. Coolidge was Governor. Property and life were in danger. A strong and vigorous man would have instantly produced a force sufficient to maintain law and order.

"But, Coolidge hesitated. He temporized with the policemen who had thrown down their batons and turned the town over to the criminal element. The indignant citizens demanded protection but still Coolidge hesitated. At last the wrath of the citizens and the very force of the situation compelled him tardily to act.

"Such were the facts. But, the picture presented to the public was a triumph of law and order achieved by a bold and fearless man who represented the majesty of government and was a rare example of executive courage.

"Upon the strength of that reputation plus a dearth of any proper material willing to accept the job, he was nominated for Vice President. That having been accomplished, the entire advertising agency and all of the billboard artists of the Republican organization set to work.

"They added a muscle here, a new there—the weak lines of the face were supplanted by deep furrows of determination. His stature grew. An intellectual and moral Hercules had been produced.

President by Act of God.

"Along with Harding he was elected. And then, in spite of the advertising agency, the picture began to fade. He undertook to preside over the Senate. Charity forbids comment further than to say that the only eulogy which can truthfully be pronounced is that he was probably better than Dawes was.

"He became President by act of God. And then a shudder ran over the country. Harding's recent death had awakened a wave of sympathy and Coolidge, the politician, noted the fact. Accordingly he announced that he would carry out all of Harding's policies and keep all of Harding's advisers. It was hardly the act of a strong man.

Satisfactory to Interests.

"The Republican machine was faced by a dilemma. On the one hand it dared not disobey its masters and nominate any of its real-big men who had at least to a measure fought the battle of the masses. They were not satisfactory to the great interests. If nominated they could not be bossed or seduced. But, Coolidge was satisfactory to the great interests. His nomination meant money, influence and power in the campaign. Accordingly, the Republican machine was forced to choose between Coolidge with his weakness and vacillation and the great men of the party who were objectionable. They chose the former of these alternatives.

"And then every orator began to orate. Every controlled newspaper began to print and presented to the American people the new Coolidge.

"The old farm in Vermont was made for the first time in its history to produce a paying crop. It brought forth that year an enormous yield of sentimentality.

"Then the country was flooded with pictures of the old farm. Pilgrimages were organized. The old oaken bucket was brought forth. The sap bucket—grandfather's sap bucket—was rejuvenated and put on display, afterwards to be most appropriately presented to Henry Ford.

A Fetching Picture.

"The big interests who were paying for the advertising knew this was a fetching picture and a seductive theme. They proceeded to enlarge upon it. They sent Calvin back to the old home farm. They took him out to the hay field, handed him a two-tined fork and told him to pitch hay. They had him dressed for the occasion. He was accoutered with an ill-fitting pair of blue overalls and one of his father's hickory shirts. But, the director of the movie was an amateur farmer, otherwise he would not have left Calvin's Hart, Schaffner & Marx breeches protruding two inches from his overalls, thereby exposing the fact that Calvin was not there so much to pitch hay as to 'have his pitcher took.' For all men who have lived on a farm know that no farmhand ever went into the fields wearing overalls on top of a pair of breeches in the month of August. He discards the breeches and would doff the overalls except for the penalties of the law. Besides, they produced a one-horse wagon on which to haul hay—a bucolic anachronism which was unpardonable both in the movie director and in Calvin himself.

"Calvin, th eFarm Boy."

"Nevertheless, the picture went and in the hurly-burly of the campaign the average man saw 'Calvin the farm boy' back on his 'native heath,' mingling with the honest yeomanry of the soil and engaged in arduous and sweaty toil merely from an innate love of labor.

"In truth Calvin's dad sent him to school at an early age and as soon as he could migrate he had departed for Boston, where he clung tenaciously to the coat tails of the Brahman's and toiled only in the political vineyard of Murray Crane, capitalistic agent and Republican machine boss. Truth to tell, Calvin shrank from real work as badly as he did from spending his own money. And, if after years of political maneuvering under the kindly sunshade of his political bosses, he had gone out in the fields and undertaken to pitch hay for a half hour, they would have had to carry him out on a stretcher, and not even liquid lightning in the shape of Vermont apple jack could have renewed the vital spark.

His Vocal Anemia.

"Calvin has always been afflicted with vocal anemia. For this two causes may, of course, exist: (1) A constriction of ideas; (2) an unwillingness to take responsibility of a bold, frank statement. In either case the conclusion is not complimentary.

"But, the advertising agency was busy. They proceeded to capitalize Calvin's silence, which was the same as bragging about a vacuum. However, they had not produced a new idea, for long ago Shakspeare said:

"'O my Antonio! I do know of those Who only are reputed wise for saying nothing.'

"Nevertheless, the advertising agency by a sort of alchemy of presentation transmuted this silence into indubitable evidence of great wisdom. A part of the public finally came to believe his thoughts so ponderous as to be beyond human speech, too weighty for the comprehension of our finite minds.

The Economy Buncombe.

"Other illustrations I might produce. What has been said is merely an introduction of the economy buncombe now being fed to the American public.

"It began with almost pathetic stories of how Calvin himself had worn cowhide boots produced by some ancient Vermont cobbler who, like the Egyptian Sphinx, still remained as a monument of the dead past surveying the living present. It was said that his cowhide boots could be bought for 25 per cent of the market price of the shoes worn by ordinary humans and that they had the virtue of being indestructible, and that because of his natural love of economy and also of cowhide boots, Calvin had condemned his sons to go about accoutered in these everlasting boots.

"But, all this was intended as a mere curtain raiser, a prelude to the play. And so, we have arrived at the time when the country is being told in every issue of the papers of the wonderful strides we are making toward economy in government. Figures, part of them false and part of them true, are printed from day to day and Coolidge is being given credit for having made vast savings of the public funds. The true part of the propaganda is that there have been certain reductions in the public expenses. But, it is also true that these reductions are not attributable to Mr. Coolidge or to his Cabinet.

Decline in Expenses Natural.

"The cold fact is that after Coolidge had worked out his program of alleged economy and presented it to Congress for appropriations, Congress cut the appropriations far below the recommendations of the President.

False Economy.

"There has been an economy, however, and a very false one. It is an economy that is withholding the march of progress in our country, an economy that saves pennies and wastes dollars.

"We endeavored to secure an adequate appropriation for the improvement of the great Mississippi and Missouri rivers and the other waters of the United States, so that they could be employed in commerce and save our people hundreds of millions of dollars in freight charges.

"We were practically assured a few months ago that the administration would back a policy for the issuance of bonds sufficient to complete these great public works within five years' time. That policy was negatived by the administration. All of its influence is being used against the employment of this money which is, properly speaking, not an expenditure but an investment.

"Regardless of its mistakes, misadventures and misfortunes, the Democratic party is today what it has been for 50 years, the sole champion of the constitutional liberties and rights of the people—the sole defender of the masses against the unjust exaction of the rich and powerful who have always been found in the Republican organization, a willing servant and a pliant tool."

BRITISH PREMIER SUGGESTS POLICY OF STATE SUBSIDY

Asks That Commons Consider Bounties on Production or Payments to Hard-Pressed Industries.

LABOR'S MOTION OF CENSURE BEATEN

MacDonald Had Proposed Adverse Vote Because of Failure of Government to Solve Unemployment.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 30.—A motion of censure moved by Ramsey MacDonald, the Labor leader, against the Government for failure to solve the unemployment problem was voted down in the House of Commons tonight, 373 to 143.

The motion declared that the Government "after a lengthy period of industrial depression and confronted by an alarming growth in the number of unemployed, has failed to take measures to deal with a situation of unprecedented gravity."

The debate had a strong flavor of political controversy, the Government speakers having the retort that the late Labor government had equally failed to solve the problems. The debate further demonstrated that the Government had no heroic measures to propose.

Baldwin's Reply.

Premier Baldwin in a long speech argued that except in the coal, iron and steel, ship building and engineering industries unemployment was not much greater than a year ago when Labor was in office. Moreover, it should be remembered that the population had increased and emigration had been greatly restricted, while the difficulties were aggravated by the growing foreign tariffs against British trade.

On this point, however, the Prime Minister made the incidental remark that he doubted whether it would benefit their trade if the United States adopted free trade.

The Premier emphasized that the British foreign policy was unswervingly devoted to fostering peace in Europe, and he hoped the efforts to obtain an agreement between France, Germany, Belgium and Great Britain would go far to make foreign credits flourish.

The Government had a big electricity scheme in contemplation, but the Premier could say nothing about it until the committee had presented its report.

Suggests Subsidies.

Baldwin then came to his chief point, when he said the Government had been considering, and asked the House to consider the possibility of subsidies to industries which seemed to be beaten down into a position of helplessness.

He suggested bounties on production, or subsidies on specific contracts and orders mainly for export, or subsidies in specially distressed districts in aid of local rates and railway freight. He admitted the difficulties were great, but thought them not insurmountable.

Asked whether this applied to coal, he replied that he did not propose to touch the coal situation pending a settlement of the present dispute in that industry.

Another point dealt with by the Prime Minister was the film industry, proving that the recent agitation against American film preponderance had influenced the Government. He declared that the time had arrived to inquire into the possibility of providing that a majority of the moving picture films exhibited in Great Britain should be of British make.

He made no specific proposal on the subject, but only suggested an examination of the question, having regard for the enormous power of the film for propaganda purposes and the danger to which the country and the empire subjected themselves if they allowed this method of propaganda to remain entirely in the hands of foreign countries.

PUBLICITY OF INCOME RETURNS UPHELD

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Broad powers are conferred upon the United States Board of Tax Appeals in a decision by Justice Hoehling of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, in an income tax controversy, which is probably as important as the case recently decided by the United States Supreme Court involving the right of a newspaper to publish income tax returns.

While the income tax laws permit the publication only of the amount paid as income tax, Justice Hoehling's decision goes much farther and permits the actual returns to be produced before the board in a tax appeal case upon the demand of a person or firm appealing from a ruling by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

All documents produced before the board are public property and when produced there is nothing to prevent anyone from seeing them.

The case was that of the Oesterlein Machine Co. of Cincinnati, which obtained from the Board of Tax Appeals a subpena requiring Commissioner Blair to produce the returns made by a dozen firms engaged in the same business as the Oesterlein concern in order that the board could see by what method the Commissioner arrived at the invested capital of these other concerns and how he arrived at the figures representing what they should pay as excess profits taxes.

Mr. Blair at first refused to obey the subpena. The Oesterlein concern then filed suit and named both Blair and the Board of Tax Appeals as defendants. Commissioner Blair noted an appeal from the court's order.

Preaches on Eighty-sixth Birthday.

BUSINESS AFFECTED BY WEATHER CHANGES

May Freezes Retarded Trade, Then Rains of Hot Spell Aided Crops.

Considerable irregularity in recent business activities was largely due to sharp and drastic changes in the weather, according to the report on business conditions in the Eighth Federal Reserve District, issued today by the Federal Reserve Bank.

Crops were damaged and retail trade in seasonal merchandise was retarded by freezes late in May. The excessive heat which followed was accompanied by rainfall which materially aided crops that had been suffering from lack of moisture.

Winter wheat prospects fell sharply in May in all states of the district except Tennessee. Missouri and Illinois suffered heaviest losses. Missouri's prospects fell 13 per cent in that month. "Harvesting is in progress," the report states, "and early returns show light grain, due to premature ripening and lack of moisture during the growing period."

Freight Traffic Larger.

The outlook for corn crops was described as materially brightened by the June rains. "Early frosts, dry weather, blight and other detrimental factors," the report continued, "served to lower prospects for fruits and vegetables, and generally throughout the district conditions are below the ten-year average for this season." Apples, grapes, peaches and cherries were named among fruits damaged. Cotton was the only crop except corn which did not suffer in the period reported on.

Freight traffic for the year up to May 23 was larger than in the same period last year, as shown in an increase of nearly 1,000,000 in the number of cars loaded in the district. The value of building permits issued in May in the five largest cities of the district fell below the record total of April, but was 16.5 per cent larger than in May, 1924.

Increase in Living Costs.

Of living costs, the report states: "A survey of the cost of living in the United States by the National Industrial Conference Board indicates that a net increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent occurred in the total cost of living between April 15 and May 15, 1925. There was a decrease noted in the average price of fuel; average food and clothing prices advanced somewhat and the average prices of shelter, light and sundries did not change in this period. Between July, 1920, when the peak of the rise in the cost of living since 1914 was reached, and May, 1923, the cost of living decreased 19.2 per cent. The increase in the cost of living since 1914 was 65.3 per cent. The purchasing value of the dollar, based on the cost of living in May, 1925, was 60.5 cents, as contrasted with one dollar in July, 1914."

WASHINGTON, June 30.—Former army and navy officers will be given preference in the selection of district administrators under the general plans for reorganization of Federal prohibition forces, Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, announced today.

By the appointment of former service officers, particularly those who have been graduated from West Point and Annapolis, Andrews believes he can take prohibition enforcement out of politics and have men of executive ability who will apply the same code of "loyalty, honor and duty to their civilian occupation as they have shown in the military establishment."

From Active and Retired List.

Three classes of former officers are eligible to appointment, Andrews said. The first class is composed of those who have been retired and receive less than $2500 annual retirement pay. This class is comparatively large, Andrews explained, because the reduction of army personnel caused the separation of many officers who had less than 10 years' active service. The second class, a smaller group, is composed of disabled officers. They are eligible to appointment regardless of the amount of disability and retirement pay received. The third group from which the assistant director hopes to recruit administrators is composed of officers now in the service who would resign their military commissions to accept appointment in the prohibition unit. Active officers will not be used in the enforcement work, except in the coast guard.

This policy indicates that State prohibition directors, such as L. F. DeHart, director for Missouri, will not be promoted to district administratorships.

Preference to Service Men.

Andrews explained that where two men with equal qualifications were candidates for an administratorship, one a former officer, the other a civilian, he would appoint the former service man. He declared that the traditions of service which had been inculcated in the former service man made him the "safer" of the two.

At present the reorganization is in a nebulous state, as only the general strategy has been worked out on paper. Many problems yet remain to be solved, such as co-ordination of legal work now handled by the prohibition unit and the Department of Justice, the co-operation between the Federal and state units and the liaison to be established between prohibition district counsel and the District Attorneys.

Politics Discounted.

Personnel appointments will not be made until Andrews has conferred with David H. Blair, Commissioner of Internal Revenue; Roy A. Haynes, Prohibition Commissioner; E. C. Yellowley, Chief of Federal Prohibition Agents, and James J. Britt, prohibition counsel.

Under the reorganization plan the district administrators will have entire charge of selection of personnel within their own jurisdictions, although the legal appointments will be made by Assistant Secretary Andrews.

"Politics will play no part in the selection of district administrators, and is expected to play no part in the selection of subordinate officials," the General declared. "I have already received some recommendations from Senators, but they have been recommendations only. No one has sought to tie my hands.

"Some persons have urged the appointment of subordinate officials, but I have told these people to wait until the district administrators had been selected and then put their cases before these officials," he continued. "We will make these men responsible, so we intend to give them authority."

To Weed Out Inefficient.

Andrews said he had no idea when announcement of district administrators would be made. He said his first task was to weed out the inefficient state directors and other officials to see how many new persons would be needed. The future position of the old officials has not been decided, he explained.

"We want men who have no political obligations," he said. "This has been one of the troubles of the past. There are some state directors who have no such obligations, although many secured their positions through 'influence.'

"Some may say that these men know their states, but is not necessary that the district administrator or the other major officials have a personal knowledge of local conditions. In fact, I think the law will be administered more efficiently if they haven't this knowledge."

Andrews disclosed today that a notable unit from Washington, under the direction of E. C. Yellowley, will supplement the work in the districts. The 18 divisions now under Yellowley will be consolidated into one general group which will have charge of international smuggling cases, interdistrict cases and cases within a district where special co-operation is desired with the state enforcement officers.

DISPUTE OVER TOSCANINI'S CANCELLED CONCERT SETTLED

Mayor of Zurich Apologizes for Seizure of Instruments at Border and They Are Released.

GENEVA, June 30.—Possible international complications which threatened when Toscanini's world-famous Milan Scala Orchestra walked out on a concert engagement in Zurich and departed for Italy, only to have a priceless Stradivarius and other instruments of a hundred musicians seized at the frontier, were cleared yesterday by the official apology of the Mayor of Zurich and the release of the instruments.

The dispute was caused by Toscanini charging Impresario Stamm with holding back approximately $50,000. The musicians walked out, disappointing a record audience and departed for Milan, but a Lausanne promoter obtained seizure of their instruments pending indemnity for losses in a series of nine concerts.

Stamm was arrested on a fraud charge and the officials and the newspapers apologized to Toscanini.

CHICAGO CITY ENGINEERS QUIT IN PROTEST AGAINST LOW PAY

575 Men Start Three-Day "Suspension of Work" After Pleas for Increase Fail.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Five hundred and seventy-five technical men of the engineering service of the city of Chicago failed to report for work today, leaving the engineering rooms from cellar to garret without technical staffs.

They were out on a three days' "suspension of work" as a protest against salaries.

Joining in support of their pleas for increased salaries were City Engineer John Ericson, Robert Knight, Deputy Building Commissioner, and department heads of the technical bureaus. The engineers asserted they were not on strike, but merely had suspended work for three days. The suspension will delay the school-building program about one day, and it is expected the Council Finance Committee will take some action.

PULPIT IN NEW YORK OFFERED TO DR. SLATEN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Rev. Dr. A. Wakefield Slaten, who was ousted from the William Jewell Baptist College at Liberty, Mo., in 1923, has been selected by the congregation of the West Side Unitarian Church to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Charles Francis Potter.

Dr. Slaten, who now is a professor at the Unitarian School of Ministry at Berkeley, Cal., was Unanimously elected by the congregation last night. The church, known for its liberalism, has not yet received his answer to the invitation.

Dr. Slaten was ousted from the Baptist College shortly after the publication of his book, "What Jesus Taught," in which he characterized the Biblican tale of creation as "a Hebrew folk tale."

BANK IN PIKE COUNTY CLOSED

Last Statement Showed It Had Deposits of $35,308.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 30.—The Farmers' Bank of Annada, Pike County, was closed today by order of the board of directors and turned over to the State Finance Department. A telegram from State Bank Examiner B. H. Swan, who took charge, to the State Finance Commissioner, French, did not explain the cause of closing. The Annada Bank is the twenty-seventh State bank to close its doors since the first of January.

The last statement of condition of the bank showed capital stock of $20,000, surplus $2500, deposits $35,308, loans $32,549, bills payable $8000; total resources, $65,808.44.

$55,000 PLEDGED BY DEMOCRATS TO REFINANCE PARTY

SENATOR REED ONE OF THE SPEAKERS

He Declares That Funeral Held for Him Here Three Years Ago Was Unnecessary.

The Democratic State "peace conference" disbanded yesterday, with party leaders confident that it had accomplished its two-fold purpose of uniting divergent elements of the party and raising funds with which to pay outstanding debts and carry on organization for the 1926 campaign.

A total of $55,000 was pledged by the 16 congressional districts throughout the State, of which St. Louis will contribute $15,000. Pledges have been numerous in past years, but Joshua W. Barbee, chairman of the State Committee, expressed confidence that the money actually would be raised. The debts of the party at this time, Barbee said, approximate $20,000.

The meeting revolved about the person of Senator Reed, the storm center of 1922. He made what he said was intended to be a harmony speech, but he did not neglect the opportunity to drop in a reference or two to the fact that he had survived politically despite rifts in his own party.

Congressman Oldfield's Plea.

Congressman W. A. Oldfield of Arkansas, chairman of the National Congressional Committee, pleaded for a return to fundamental principles and sought to draw the approval of all those present by making favorable references to Senator Reed as the "ablest man in the Senate." William Gibbs McAdoo as the "greatest Secretary of the Treasury of our time" and Gov. Al Smith of New York as "the greatest Governor in the Union."

Isaac H. Lionberger, attorney, delivered perhaps the most vigorous speech of the program. He said the Democratic party went to the country on the basis of a request to be permitted to legislate and make trouble for business, whereas the Republicans promised to legislate and make money for business.

He said the Republican position was not sound in that if curtailed production and maintained high prices through tariffs that are exorbitant. The proper manner of attaining sound prosperity would be to remove the tariff restrictions, he said, and permit foreign goods to enter this country on the best footing possible. This, he said, would produce humming factories and lower living costs and still not decrease present-day incomes.

"Klan and League Dead Issues."

The Ku Klux Klan and the League of Nations are dead issues, he said, and should not be revived. He declared they should be forgotten and principles alone considered.

Dr. A. W. Nelson Speaks.

Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, defeated Democratic candidate for Governor at the last election, also appealed for a return to the principles of Jefferson and said that Republicans were successful because some Democrats were "gullible enough to be deceived by false issues."

Mrs. Katherine Halterman, secretary of the committee, outlined the plan for thoroughly organizing the State in preparation for the next campaign. She said it was proposed to organize each of the 11,000 school districts in the State. She declared that a party organization, not a personal one, was the thing to be desired.

Mrs. Emily Newell Blair of Joplin, National Committeewoman, and W. T. Kemper, Kansas City, National Committeeman, also spoke briefly.

About 200 persons attended the gathering from all sections of the State.

Trolley Vs. Bus.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

IT should be of interest to St. Louisans, who are interested in the city's transportation problems to read an article by the head of the London Electric Tramways, in which he makes the reluctant admission that the London motorbuses carried last year 1,132,000,000 passengers, which he further admits is more than 100,000,000 more than were carried by the electric surface railways of that city.

The gigantic propaganda of electric railway interests, begun in 1913 and continued through today, misrepresenting the motorbus and minimizing its position as a factor in mass transportation, seems certainly doomed to collapse.

This propaganda has been the root of all transportation difficulties St. Louis has had to contend with. The principles of the central group followed religiously by the local electric trolley system, or "company members," crushed out needed expansion and development in St. Louis and pushed this city out of its position as the fourth city of U. S. in population. Its "member companies" in East St. Louis seek the control of all trans-river transportation over all Mississippi bridges that have "passenger decks," and today dominate this traffic on the Eads, McKinley and on the Municipal Bridge, through control of the bus line operating on the latter. They further plan to place the railroad deck of the Eads Bridge in the hands of the East St. Louis interests to be used by their trolleys, and for this reason they are supporting a movement to have the city turn over the rail deck of the Municipal Bridge to the Terminal Railroad Association, so that the latter will have trans-river trackage when it will have given over its own rail deck on the Eads to the East St. Louis "company member."

If anyone contends that this city can develop adequately, solve its transportation problems, its street safety plans, its traffic congestion elimination, put its Free Bridge to full utilization, if the maneuvers and intrigues that cloud the situation continue, St. Louisans would certainly be interested in knowing how it can be done. "Triple A" and Others.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

MR. "TRIPLE A MEMBER" wrote: "Anyone who cannot afford to pay $10 a year for the privilege of playing on a beautiful course had better confine his playing to taking walks, and there will be no charge for this in any direction."

Food is high, rents are high; unless good clothes are bought they go to pieces quickly.

I remember when prices at theaters and movies were much cheaper.

When people take advantage of what is free they find themselves surrounded by alluring pay-as-you-enter entertainments—as at certain summer gardens—and golf, tennis and refreshments in Forest Park. Let us hope there will not be pay-as-you-enter gates to our parks, or "Go round, this place is private."

Mr. "Triple A Member" takes it for granted it is right that our public parks—which are for every citizen to enjoy—should be monopolized by a pay-as-you-enter golf course.

"Fore! Get off the course, you common citizen," is next in line.

Money, or influence, brought the Triple A golf course into existence, and money, or influence, will eventually crowd the poor out. Alas, the poor! The rich get richer, and the poor get poorer. Down with the poor man—what right has he to be happy? AMI WRIGHT.

THE SANTA BARBARA DISASTER.

Fortunately, the severe earthquake shocks which caused great destruction in the business center of Santa Barbara, Cal., resulted in few fatalities, far fewer than was to be expected from the first accounts of the disaster. So far as is known, the list of dead does not exceed a dozen.

The destruction of property, however, was very great. The quake struck the business center of the beautiful seaside resort, destroying or seriously damaging some of the most costly buildings in the city. No accurate estimate can be made of the total damage, but the lowest is $3,000,000 and the highest $15,000,000. The lowest estimate is big enough to show the extent of the disaster. The small number of fatalities and injuries is undoubtedly due to the experience of the people there in other earthquake tremors, the first shock giving warning, with a 15-minute interval before the destructive shocks.

Nothing could be more reassuring and gratifying than the reports of the conduct of the people of Santa Barbara under the strain of destruction and terror. Apparently there was no panic, no disorder of the kind that usually follows catastrophes. The people of the city were calm, order was maintained and immediately effective means were taken to meet emergencies. Immediate relief is assured by the order of President Coolidge for the co-operation of Federal forces, and undoubtedly the State of California and the people of Santa Barbara themselves will meet relief demands. Before the full extent of the damage was known plans were started for the rebuilding of the city.

In addition to the sympathy aroused all over the country by the loss of life and the damage to business property, there is profound regret over the partial destruction of the Santa Barbara Mission, one of the best examples of the early mission buildings in California. The towers were thrown down and the front seriously damaged. The mission building had been reconstructed after the destructive earthquake of the last century. The saving of a part of the building and the recent work of reconstruction will open the way for another reconstruction, so that this fine type of Spanish mission architecture will probably be preserved.

The Santa Barbara earthquake is one of a series which extended from Montana down the western slope and has been felt in many places throughout out mountain states of the West. The cause has affected the entire northern Pacific on both sides of the ocean. Japan has suffered great earthquake disasters. The end cannot be foretold.

This disaster, however, is another warning to the people who live in earthquake zones. Shocks cannot be avoided, but their destructiveness can be limited by adopting types of buildings which will withstand shocks with the least damage and danger to life. Experiments along this line in San Francisco have been useful. The rebuilding of Santa Barbara should add to the good results of experience and study that have hitherto been given to the subject.

MR. RUBEY'S CYNICISM.

It is with a cynical eye that ex-Senator Web Rubey looks forward to the next Fourth of July celebration. Whatever happens, at least he will have no part in observing a holiday whose original meaning he believes to have been lost. Mr. Rubey says we have departed so far from the principles of the Declaration of Independence, whose signing the day commemorates, that we can no longer conscientiously and without mockery engage in the Fourth of July ritual.

There is force in Mr. Rubey's cynicism, but he makes it plain that he is hopelessly old-fashioned. In some parts of the country he would be flogged or jailed for daring to recall such incendiary documents as the Declaration of Independence. Upton Sinclair was arrested in California when he attempted to read the Declaration from Liberty Hill, while in New Jersey Roger Baldwin was hauled to the calaboose as the same fiery Declaration was being intoned against the wishes of the local gendarmerie. Mr. Rubey, it is plain, is courting trouble. To many of his countrymen the Declaration of Independence is about as popular as the Communist manifesto.

CALLES IS NO DEMAGOGUE.

Men who will seek and hold office in order to serve their country, and not themselves, are what Mexico needs, declares the editor of the Independent, in discussing the Kellogg-Calles embroglio. No doubt. And men who will seek and hold office in order to serve their country, and not themselves, are what every other country on earth, including the United States, needs. Surely the editor does not mean to suggest that self-interest among office seekers is peculiar to Mexico, for to do so probably would draw the observation that the editor was talking through his hat.

So far as we can ascertain, self-interest has been singularly absent from the official conduct of President Calles. His trouble with Secretary of State Kellogg—because there is no evidence that he has any quarrel with the American people generally—seems to arise almost solely from his desire to abolish feudalism, peonage and absentee landlordism from his country, and to put the land into the possession of the people who till it. If it is charged that he attempts in this way to make himself politically popular, then it strikes us that it is an excellent way to seek political popularity.

BURBANK AND THE SHAMROCK.

This man Luther Burbank, who has spent most of his life corrupting the morals of the plant world, is up to new mischief. He was asked by the President of the Celtic Fellowship recently if the small blossom of the shamrock could be developed into a larger flower. Burbank replied through his secretary. It was a wise precaution, though he might more judiciously have adopted White House tactics, and given his answer in the name of "one of Mr. Burbank's high official spokesmen." Even then, no good Irishman could doubt that a man who would willingly allow a virtuous crabapple to be thrown into the scarlet arms of a strawberry would also be equal to the vilification of the Irish national emblem.

In effect, Mr. Burbank said that the shamrock is hopelessly mid-Victorian (pardon us, mid-Parnellian). It has consistently resisted his diabolic efforts to transform it into a modern flapper-flower. Mr. Burbank confesses his utter failure "to improve the appearance of it," and suggests that the shamrock be discarded as the flower of Erin and be replaced by a new flower such as the Shasta daisy or Iceland poppy. Shasta daisy or Iceland poppy indeed!

The only effect of all this is to give the shamrock a higher place in the Irishman's heart. It has protected its integrity. It has defied Burbank's black magic. Compare it with the wishy-washy cantaloupe, which so easily succumbed to the Burbankian arts to found a hybrid family. Or with the supposedly tough and callous cactus, so long considered the iron man of the desert until Burbank came along.

What the shamrock may lack in physical charm it makes up in character and personal pride.

AN INTERESTED PARTY SPEAKS.

The American Chamber of Commerce which holds forth at Hankow, China, enters the field of international diplomacy by censuring Senator Borah for his recent statement on Chinese affairs. It finds Senator Borah's remarks untimely and calculated to embolden the disruptive elements "at a time when the Third Internationale is admittedly concentrating in the East with a view to creating chaos." Particularly odious to the Chamber of Commerce is Senator Borah's belief that extra-territorial rights should be abolished. It points out that Senator Borah is evidently unaware of "the historic disinclination of Chinese officials to deal protection to American interests in a spirit of fair play and justice."

In replying to this rebuke, Senator Borah first takes notice of its source. Obviously, the Chamber of Commerce is devoted to the business and financial interests of its American members, and is thoroughly indifferent to the larger aspects of Chinese affairs. The Chamber, says Senator Borah, "is a part of the imperialistic combine which would oppress and exploit the Chinese people and charge the result of their offenses to someone else." Foreign interests, including the American Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Borah continues, are the real cause of trouble in China.

If there has been a historic disinclination of Chinese officials to deal fairly with foreigners, there is also a historic disinclination of foreigners to permit the Chinese to exercise any rights over them. When the Chinese, with their usual meekness and humility, submit to foreign overlordship, such institutions as the American Chamber of Commerce are sure that China is getting along famously. But let the Chinese show a germ of rebellion against the system by which their resources are exploited and their national growth stunted, and the cry of intervention is heard.

There may be some impracticality about Senator Borah's program, but at least it does not proceed from greed and selfishness.

After a test between Explorer MacMillan and Secretary Wilbur it is the latter who rules the radio waves.

LET'S GET IT STRAIGHT.

Mr. Coolidge is against a cut in the tariff to aid Europe. He is against a cut in the tariff to aid the American consumer, the American worker or the American farmer. He is against a cut in the tariff to aid anything in particular. Whomsoever he wishes to aid or not to aid, he is against a cut in the tariff.

A Brooklyn jury found it hard to believe that a five-foot man could steal a kiss from a six-foot girl. Now it's up to the six-foot girl to spank the five-foot man.

HOSPITAL ZONES OF QUIET.

A friend of a patient who has spent several nights at the Jewish Hospital calls attention to the astonishing fact that there are no "Hospital Zone of Quiet" signs on that part of Delmar boulevard between Union and Clara avenues, although there are three hospitals within the three blocks. To quote the letter making this complaint: "All night long automobiles use screeching sirens and keep it up for several blocks—mufflers open and incessant tooting of horns, waking and startling the patients. Other cities do not allow this. Why should we?"

It is true the three hospitals have lawns that separate them from the street. But the sick people, many of them fighting for life, in these buildings, are sensitive to every sound. To them the screeching sirens, sudden blasts of horns, shrill whistles, explosions of motor cycles and backfires and other noises may cause excruciating nervous excitement that may greatly retard their recovery or hasten their end.

And in a few days we shall have the usual noisy Fourth of July celebration, with mouth horns, cowbells dragging behind automobiles, firecrackers and all the other outbursts.

Under the city ordinance (sections 1196—1198) all territory within a distance of 250 feet of any hospital is a zone of quiet. It is the duty of the Street Commissioner to erect signs notifying the public of such zones at all hospitals in the city. Making unnecessary noises in such zones is punishable by fine of from $5 to $50.

The signs should be erected at once, wherever they have not been put up. And the police should enforce the ordinance, for the comfort and improvement in health of the sick.

Thanks to these Coolidge times Mr. Dawes has a perfect silence in which to howl. That's co-operation.

YO HO! FOR THE BOUNDING MAIN.

I long to be out where the trade winds blow,
Wrapped in the stinging spray,
Watching the rollers break on the bow
And the sea gulls at their play.

I'm aching for sunsets of seas aflame
And the calm, cool peace of the night—
Somehow the stars don't seem the same
When the sea is out of sight.

But as soon as I leave the solid ground,
I take to my berth below
And my tummy hurts and my head goes round—
I really don't think I'll go.

Sir: That was a glowing tribute to "Prince" and, through him, to all dogs. It almost persuaded me that there really is something noble in the celebrated dog-man relation. Not quite, however. I still have a lingering suspicion that its largest ingredient is a consuming need of fostering our sense of superiority through the servility of others. Coarse spirits insist on such a relation to other humans; "finer" spirits take it out on dogs. To be sure, the female of our own species is an invaluable aid to our superiority complex, but she is not quite as blind as the dog. Indeed, she is disconcertingly wide-awake at times. In this latter aspect she resembles the cat instead of the dog. The cat is the only untamed independent spirit in the whole circle of man's intimates.

Sir: Let me add another note to the paeans of praise you have been bestowing on the Upper Mississippi. It is no exaggeration to compare it to the lordly Hudson itself, and as one reared on the banks of the latter I doubtless had the usual prejudices to overcome. I recognize the same sense of surprise in your accounts that struck me on my first (but not last) journey. It is astounding that the beauties of this serene stream should not be better known. If they had the recognition so richly deserved, there should be no difficulty in carrying out your suggestion of a strictly passenger boat line on the order of the Hudson River Day Line. W. R. J.

The Government dry forces are to be considerably lessened, instituting a disalarmament movement, so to speak.

My dear Mr. Tightwad: After reading your plan of saving (and incidentally helping the poor bankers in their hour of need), I really am conscience-stricken. To think that you and I are, in a measure, responsible for the poor business the banks are doing, with only an increase of $2,800,000 reported for the clearings of June 22, 1925, over those of June 22, 1924. And is it not deplorable that their stock sells at such low prices and their dividends are so small? Something must be done and done quickly. Perhaps it might help if we could celebrate Independence day in a truly American spirit by relieving the poor bankers of our burdensome accounts and transferring the paltry deposits to the richer bankers who might be able to carry us along. I am going to hunt for some who do not belong to the St. Louis Clearing House Association and perhaps I may find one who is willing to help us out for a while. For it is an impossition on the poor bankers, who are losing money, to ask them to handle our filthy lucre. You should agree that you are redblooded and join in the hunt for rich bankers, too. We might be in the big league some day. TIGHTER WAD.

THE STATE OF KANAWHA.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

THE Legislature of West Virginia is considering a bill to change the name of the State to Kanawha, after its largest river. * * * The State was a product of the Civil War, when its loyal citizens refused to follow Virginia into the Confederacy. They were proud of being Virginians, those "F. F. V.s" who belonged to the slave-holding aristocracy. Accordingly the new State with the old name was carved out for them. If the West Virginians now prefer to be known as Kanawhans, probably no one else will object, despite the fact that the name, of Indian origin and of historic associations, does not fall trippingly from the tongue. Perhaps if the State of Kanawha comes into existence, we shall see movements in the Dakotas and the Carolinas to give up the North or the South designations for something individual and distinctive. However, in these cases there is no question of implied inferiority, as there is with West Virginia. Dakota is a good Indian name, and mellifluous South Carolina, of course, harks back to Charles II of England and Carolus, the Latin equivalent of his name.

WONDERFUL RADIO.

From the Boston Herald.

THE British Broadcasting Co. is planning to bring to the extended ears of the city dweller "the hum of the bee, the chirr of the cricket, the crow of the rooster and similar sounds suggestive of the great out-doors and the farmyard." Also, "the sounds of London's streets, and the jostling of people in its subways are to be picked up and carried into the rural districts." That is the beginning. We shall be able to sit in our homes and absorb the delicious murmur of the scythe and the language of the hired man. We can compare, side by side, the buzzes of town and country mosquitoes. We are taught that all things work to a good end. It is so in this case. The city man will be hereafter more content to stay where he is. The agriculturist will discover that city noises are not music. This is the beginning because all things grow, including radio.

THE GRANTING OF PEERAGES.

From the Bangor Commercial.

THERE is to be a lessening of the granting of peerages and titles in England, if the British Government has its way. It is to introduce a bill in Parliament to end the wholesale granting of titles hereafter and to put an end to a situation which has become more or less of a public scandal. Lloyd George was the chief offender, it appears. While he was Prime Minister there were created 91 new peerages and many other advances in rank, which was a little too strong for conservative England. The freedom in creating new titles is said to have been very distasteful to the King, but there was the excuse of the war and services rendered. There is a suspicion that generous contributions to the Liberal campaign chest may have been a cogent factor behind the recommendation of Lloyd George, but in any event it is proposed that in the future peerages shall be more difficult to obtain.

BY RICHARD L. STOKES.

ONE of the essentials of musical comedy, it appears, is a plentiful lack of sense. This requirement is met to perfection in "Dolly Varden," by Julian Edwards and Stanislaus Stange, which the Municipal Theater Association has exhumed for the sixth production of its current season.

One of the prevalent symptoms of unreason is the injection of episodes having nothing to do with the action. For instance, there is the unexplained entrance and departure of a female group dressed in front as nuns and behind as some sort of hoydenish monsters, with false faces. Then it occurs to the heroine, disguised as a rolypoly sailor, to warble a ditty about a cannibal maid. Conjured up from the tropics, thousands of miles away, there instantly appears on the greensward of a London estate a crew of swarthy anthropophagi. The effect is as inorganic as if nature had clapped a tapir's proboscis upon the muzzle of a hyena.

Entertainment Value Slight.

Despite one's best endeavors to the contrary, it proved impossible to find anything of moment, or even of entertainment, in this series of prosaic tunes, set to lyrics such as "Oh, for the love that loves to love!" Perhaps Lulu Glaser and Francis Wilson were able to accomplish something in the way of funmaking in years gone by; but, as presented last night, any comedy that once enlivened the piece had evaporated completely.

Dolly Varden is an heiress, who cannot marry, without forfeiting her fortune, save by the consent of her guardian, Jack Fairfax, who has resolved to wed her himself. He hides her from possible suitors, and she takes her exercise in a sedan chair with a hole knocked in the bottom, so that she trots along with only her legs and ankles visible. A sight of these members is enough to kindle matrimonial intentions in Capt. Richard Belleville of the English army. Letitia, sister of Fairfax, is engaged to Lord Gayspark, described as a London exquisite. After numerous entanglements, more or less intelligible, the final curtain brings conclusions foregone from the start.

Indifferent Acting and Singing.

Some of the roles were poorly sung, some were poorly acted, and some were both. A conclusion which has been impressing itself since the opening of the season is that the only vocal organ worthy of the name in the 1925 cast is the possession of Miss D'Arle, and that this summer's chorus is the feeblest singing body the association has ever assembled.

The principal merit of the production is pictorial. Settings and costumes combine to form a most agreeable spectacle. Save for the towers in the background, which might well have been omitted, the single stage set employed is a pattern of outdoor scenography, with its three levels, its balconies surmounted by clusters of lights, its swings and beds of flowers.

GEORGE F. KELLER FUNERAL SERVICES TOMORROW

President of A. R. Fleming Co. to Be Interred in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Funeral services for George F. Keller, president of the A. R. Fleming Printing Co., Second and Olive streets, who died Sunday at his home, 5832 Clemens avenue, of heart disease, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from an undertaker's chapel at 6175 Delmar boulevard. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Keller, who was 62 years old, started in the printing business here 40 years ago with the Levison & Blythe Printing and Stationery Co. Later he became associated with the Continental Printing Co., and in 1896 was elected treasurer of the A. R. Fleming Co. For the last nine years he served as president of the concern.

Keller is survived by his widow, Mrs. Libbie Keller, two sisters and three brothers, all of St. Louis.

Mrs. Tyrrell Williams of 443 Westgate avenue, will spend the summer in the East. She will visit Mrs. Harrison Williams of St. Louis at her cottage in Ogunquit, Me., and later will join her son, Meade Williams, and return home with him by way of Montreal. Mr. Williams will be in Carmel, Cal., for July and August.

Miss Virginia de Anguera, descendant on her father's side of an old family in Barcelona, Spain, will be married at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Church of the Unity to Richard Reiner, son of H. C. Reiner of Kingsbury boulevard. The bride, who is strikingly Spanish as to features, will wear the typical headdress of a lovely Spanish veil draped over a high comb and caught with a few gardenias. Her gown is to be beaded georgette and there will be two beaded satin trains, the one shorter and wider than the other, depending from the shoulders.

She will carry an armful of stately calla lilies. Her sister, Miss Helen de Anguera, as maid of honor, will be gowned in embroidered batiste over pink net, with net pleatings at either side, and the bridesmaids, Misses Lucretia Reiner, Rosamond Stowe of Cleveland and Julia Klipstein, will wear georgette over pink, Miss Reiner in blue, Miss Stowe green and Miss Klipstein maize. They will wear large white horsehair braid hats bound with velvet and trimmed with flowers to match their gowns, and will carry spring flowers. Matthew Bender III of Albany, N. Y., will be best man, and John C. Morley of Cleveland, Alvin H. Herold of Dallas and E. Woodson Huiskamp of Cambridge, Mass., groomsmen. An informal reception will be held in the church, following the ceremony, and a small one for the families will follow at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand de Anguera, 520 Adelaide avenue, University City.

After a wedding trip, Mr. Reiner will take his bride to Rochester, N. Y., to reside.

The following St. Louis girls will depart Wednesday for Pinewood Camp, Brutus, Mich.: Misses Marian Foley, Winifred Duncan, Marjorie Capen, Geraldine Allen, Helene Eakin, Jane Niggeman, Lois Parker, Marjorie Henger, Mary Louise Newman and Mary Colt Day. The group will be chaperoned by Miss Dorothy Peters, while Miss Dorothea Burbach and Miss Elizabeth Foley will go by way of Chicago and make the trip from there.

William H. Watson of Chicago has announced the marriage of his daughter, Miss Mathilde, and F. Ray Leimkuehler, Monday, June 29. The couple will sail July 4 and will be at home at 2718 North Euclid avenue, Dec. 1.

MANY SUBSCRIPTIONS TO LEGION'S FUND RECEIVED

Chairman Kiel of St. Louis Committee Says Campaign for $125,000 Will Continue.

The campaign to raise the St. Louis quota of $125,000 for the American Legion national endowment fund will continue until the sum has been subscribed, former Mayor Kiel, chairman of the Campaign Committee, announced yesterday.

Kiel said that he was encouraged by the number of donations sent through the mail to campaign headquarters, 1118 Locust street, despite the fact that a large number of St. Louisans are out of the city.

"The cause is such a worthy one that I am confident our full quota will be raised," Kiel said.

Other speakers at a meeting yesterday at American Annex were Senator George H. Williams, John B. Edwards and Robert Burkham. Senator Williams praised the work of Miss Emma Puschner, national field secretary of the children's welfare division of the legion. Miss Puschner formerly was executive officer of the Board of Children's Guardians here.

Half of the income from the endowment fund will be used in carrying on war orphan relief work, and the other half for the legion's rehabilitation program.

School Journal Editor Weds.

Albert S. Leahr, 50 years old, of Jefferson City, editor of the Missouri School Journal, and Mrs. Lalla F. Anderson, 39, a former teacher in the Missouri School of Blind, 3815 Magnolia avenue, were married yesterday afternoon at Centenary Methodist Church by the Rev. C. W. Tadlock. They left immediately after the ceremony for Colorado and will return the latter part of July to Jefferson City, where they will reside. Leahr, a former reporter on the old St. Louis Republic, served two terms in the Missouri Legislature. He has been active in Democratic politics in Missouri.

Granting to St. Louis Concern of Permit to Operate to Lindenwood Opposed.

A hearing held before the Board of Public Service today, on the application of the St. Louis Bus Co., operated by the Reorganization Committee of the United Railways, for a permit to operate a motorbus line from Kingshighway to Lindenwood, was continued, after hearing arguments, until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

Continuance of the hearing was agreed on, after strenuous opposition of the People's Motorbus Co., which now operates busses over the route, developed at the hearing. Robert Burkham, attorney for the People's company, was chief spokesman for the opponents to the issuance of the permit, and in his presentation, related some of the details of bus competition in St. Louis, which led to an offer, as has been told, by the People's Motorbus Co., to sell to the United Railways for $2,800,000.

Sale Offer Is Cited.

John Hertz of Chicago, taxicab magnate, made the offer, Burkham narrated, based on these considerations: That the contemplated policy of the People's Motorbus Co. should be carried out, its operating head be retained and the sale be approved by the Mayor, city officials and the public, as reflected in the newspapers. Negotiations failed, he continued, despite certain bond-owning interests of the United Railways, when other owners insisted the rival bus line could be put out of business, by establishing feeder busses to the street car line.

The proposed route would be from Arco avenue over Kingshighway to Southwest avenue, Southwest to January avenue, January to Arsenal street, Arsenal to Watson road, Watson to Fyler avenue, Fyler to McCausland avenue and McCausland to Tholozan street. This duplicates several miles of the People's route from Lindenwood to the downtown district, operated under a permit granted last fall.

"The line proposed by the St. Louis Bus Co. is designed to compete with present operation instead of to render public service, as we are attempting to do," said President Richard W. Meade of the People's company before the hearing.

"Under ordinance No. 30,914 the holder of a bus permit must be given the first opportunity to increase service on a bus route before a competing line is allowed to operate on the same route. Our company is willing to increase service on the Lindenwood route, if an increase is considered necessary."

Stanley Clark, counsel for the Reorganization Committee of the United Railways, said the permit was required to bring about a coordinated motorbus and street car service to the Lindenwood district, which is not served by street cars. Passengers on the proposed bus line could be transferred to and from street car lines.

JEFFERSON BARRACKS BAND TO PLAY AT BENEFIT GAME

Jefferson Barracks will be practically transplanted to Sportsman's Park on the day of the ball game, July 15, the proceeds of which will go toward the fight against tuberculosis. A half holiday will be granted, and tickets are being sold today to the 1000 soldiers who are stationed there. The officers have already bought boxes, and, accompanied by their wives, they will attend in full dress uniform. Army trucks will be provided for the transportation of all those who attend. Almost an entire section of the grandstand has been reserved for the military men.

The Jefferson Barracks band of 50 pieces will play at intervals throughout the program. Many of the daughters of the officers will also participate in promoting the success of the day by selling the souvenir program score cards. Mrs. R. G. Cousley, wife of Capt. Cousley, will act as chaperon for the girls. Col. D. L. Stone, commandant, has been active in promoting co-operation between Jefferson Barracks and Tuberculosis Day that has existed for the last four years.

The Merchants Exchange has granted permission for the sale of ball game tickets on its floor from 10 o'clock until closing time tomorrow. Mrs. Crawford Duncan, acting chairman of the sale, will be assisted by Mrs. William Grayson, Mrs. William Ludwig, Mrs. Edward E. Haverstick, Mrs. Louis Mathews, Miss Caroline Mathews and Miss Mathilda Moulton.

It's easy to get children to clean up —with Lifebuoy

YOUNGSTERS troup in at meal-time! Grimy hands, smudgy faces—splinters, scratches and bruises! Danger-dirt rubbed into pores and broken skin. A very real menace to health.

Soap-shy children just naturally take to Lifebuoy's big billowy, creamy lather—invigorating, tingling, pore-cleansing. Let each child have his very own cake of Lifebuoy and see the new interest he'll take in keeping clean.

And you know that little hands are then safe to touch food.

What cleanness! What spic-and-spanness! Smooth, velvety skin—firm flesh glowing with health! Bewitching curls, glistening, manly cow-licks—captivating smiles flashing the spontaneous joy of childhood health!

Health, like beauty, depends so much on the degree of cleanness. Hands purified many times a day with Lifebuoy do not menace health. Lifebuoy-cleansed hands are safe hands.

The Health Doctor

You can quickly recognize Lifebuoy by its orange-red color of pure palm fruit oil—and by its clean, fresh, antiseptic smell. But chiefly, you feel its invigorating cleanness

THE MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

THE STATE OF KANAWHA.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

THE Legislature of West Virginia is considering a bill to change the name of the State to Kanawha, after its largest river. . . . The State was a product of the Civil War, when its loyal citizens refused to follow Virginia into the Confederacy. They were proud of being Virginians as those "F. F. V.'s" who belonged to the slave-holding aristocracy. Accordingly a new State with the old name was carved out for them. If the West Virginians now prefer to be known as Kanawhans, probably no one else will object, despite the fact that the name, of Indian origin and of historic associations, does not fall trippingly from the tongue. Perhaps if the State of Kanawha comes into existence, we shall see movements in the Dakotas and the Carolinas to give up the North or the South designations for something individual and distinctive. However, in these cases there is no question of implied inferiority, as there is with West Virginia. Dakota is a good Indian name, and mellifluous besides. Carolina, of course, harks back to Charles of England and Carolus, the Latin equivalent of his name.

WONDERFUL RADIO.

From the Boston Herald.

THE British Broadcasting Co. is arranging to bring to the extended ears of the city dweller "the hum of the bee, the chirp of the cricket, the crow of the rooster and similar sounds suggestive of the great outdoors and the farmyard." Also, "the sounds of London, the streets, and the jabber of people in its subways are to be picked up and carried into the rural districts." This is the beginning. We shall be able to sit in our homes and absorb the delicate murder of the scythe and the language of the red man. We can compare, side by side, the buzzes of town and country mosquitoes. We are taught that all things work to a good end. It is so in this case. The city man will be hereafter more content to stay where he is. The agriculturist will discover that city noises are not music. This is the beginning because all things grow, including radio.

THE GRANTING OF PEERAGES.

From the Bangor Commercial.

HERE is to be a lessening of the granting of peerages and titles in England if the British Government has its way. It is to introduce a bill in Parliament to make a wholesale granting of titles impossible and to put an end to a situation which has become more or less of a public scandal. Lloyd George was the chief offender. It is years. While he was Prime Minister there were created 91 new peerages and 25 brevet advances in rank, which was a little too strong for conservative England. This freedom in creating new titles is said to have been very distasteful to the King but there was the excuse of the war and services rendered. There is a suspicion that generous contributions to the Liberal campaign fund may have been a cogent factor behind the recommendation of Lloyd George but in any event it is proposed that in the future peerages shall be more difficult to obtain.

WOMAN TEACHER FREE IN WHIPPING CASE

Miss Phylis Perkins, Formerly Head of School in County, Exonerated on Appeal

Miss Phylis Perkins, formerly principal of the Fairview School, West Walnut Manor, St. Louis County, and now a teacher in St. Francis County, Mo., was exonerated yesterday of charges of assault and battery against Virgil Walls, 12 years old, 5561 Helen avenue, West Walnut Manor, a former pupil, by Circuit Judge Wurdeman. Judge Wurdeman reversed the verdict of a jury in Justice of the Peace Stecker's court, which previously had found her guilty of the charge and fined her $1 and costs.

At the time of the alleged assault, which is said to have taken place on Jan. 29, 1924, Miss Perkins resigned at the request of the West Walnut Manor School Board. Miss Perkins yesterday admitted she had whipped the boy, but denied she had caused him physical injury. She declared the whipping was necessary to maintain discipline.

"I told him he had broken the school's rules and would have to lie down on a chair and be spanked," she said. "But he wouldn't do it. So I strapped him while he stood up, even though it wasn't quite the way we usually did. I stopped and asked him if he would lie down on the chair. He still refused, so I strapped him again. Then he consented to lie down on the chair and I strapped him again for a minute. I am sure I didn't hurt him."

Virgil said he received this whipping because he whispered. His teachers said he received it because he was loud and boisterous. Judge Wurdeman said he believed the teachers and did not believe the boy was hurt much anyway. Consequently the prior verdict was reversed.

FIVE CHILDREN AMONG EIGHT HURT BY AUTOS

INJURED.

John Phillipo, 2, of 1442 North Eleventh street; internal injuries and lacerations of head and leg.

Lawrence Berg Jr., 3, of 3939 Westminster place; lacerations of head and body.

Fred Borchard, 40, of 2850 South Jefferson avenue, fracture of right kneecap.

Five children were among eight persons injured by automobiles yesterday afternoon and evening, and three of them were severely hurt.

Josephine Mirmonti, 5 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mirmonti of 5135 Shaw avenue, was struck by an automobile in Shaw avenue, near Hereford street, as she was crossing, and suffered a fractured skull. The car was driven by Tony Merlo of 5311 Shaw avenue.

John Loncario, 13, of 5840 Salome avenue, was playing in Kingshighway Northwest at Sherry avenue, when a southbound machine driven by Alois Rykaczewski of 5949 Lalite avenue hit him. His injuries were a fractured skull, lacerated scalp and right thigh and internal injuries.

Running across O'Fallon street, near his home, ahead of his mother, Dominick Tocco, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Santo Tocco, of 1831 O'Fallon street, was struck by an automobile being driven east by Clarence Garrison of 5421 Helen avenue, and suffered fractures of the skull and right leg and internal injuries.

Hit Crossing Street.

John Phillipo, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Phillipo of 1442 North Eleventh street, skipped across the street in front of his home and was hit by a car driven by Clyde D. Shipley of 4241 Penrose street, and was internally injured and lacerated on the head and legs.

Another child, about to cross Vandeventer at Olive street with his mother, jerked his hand away from hers and ran ahead, and, consequently, was struck by the southbound car of Clarence Nicholas of 1615A Hodiamont avenue. He was Lawrence Berg Jr., 3, of 3939 Westminster place. His head and body were lacerated.

Hurt at Scene of Collision.

Mrs. Ida Dialer, 52, a widow, of 4979 Natural Bridge avenue, crossing Delmar boulevard at Taylor avenue, was struck by a car driven by Raymond McCoy of 5309 Easton avenue and suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Curiosity of Ely Foreman, 63, of 3034 Thomas street, which led him close to the scene of a collision of two trucks at Garrison avenue and Thomas street, caused his injury when one of the trucks was backed away from the spot by its driver, David Schwartzberg of 3169 Sheridan avenue. Foreman's skull and left arm were fractured.

Standing at Gravois and California avenue with a package of medicine he had just bought at a drug store, Fred Borchard, 40, of 2850 South Jefferson avenue, was surprised by two youths in a Ford car, who drove close to the curb, one of them snatching the package from Borchard's arm. Borchard pursued, leaping on the running board of the Ford, but he was shoved off and fell, fracturing his right kneecap.

Maid Gone, Jewelry Missing.

The disappearance of a maid from the home of Mrs. Frances Baker, at 4912 McPherson avenue, was reported to the police yesterday, when it was discovered that jewelry valued at $1515, was missing from its accustomed place in a dresser drawer. Mrs. Baker said the maid, whom she employed May 15, left on short notice.

SMART PLAY GOES WRONG AND BROWNS TRIM COLLINS' WHITE SOX

Falk Thinks Too Fast for His Teammates; Mogridge Pitches Brilliant Game

Left-Fielder Makes Unexpected Throw, Which if Handled in Time, Would Have Checked Rally That Gave Browns Winning Runs—Collins Hits Home Run.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Eddie Collins, the great second baseman, is given much credit for changing the White Sox from a second division club into a pennant contender. The Chicago team, under Collins' leadership, has been playing smart baseball, and winning. It had won seven straight games prior to coming to St. Louis to help the Browns open a long stand at home. And then, because one member of the team thought so quickly that he was ahead of his mates, the Browns stopped that winning streak.

But even though that play failed, even though it went wrong and gave the Browns two of the three runs that constituted their winning margin, it stood out as a smart play, and it illustrated the tactics that have enabled the White Sox to battle their way into third place.

George Mogridge, the veteran southpaw, had held the Sox to two hits for seven innings. He had pitched with such excellent control and had been supported so brilliantly that the men of Collins had been held scoreless and the two runs that the Browns had counted off Mike Cvengros loomed large on the scoreboard.

Homer Ties the Score.

But to start the eighth inning Davis punched a single to left. Eddie Collins, one of the most dangerous batters in the game, dug his spikes into the batter's box and put all he had into his swings. He lined a foul down the first-base line and then Mogridge made his one mistake of the game. He gave Collins a ball inside. And Collins put it outside—the park. Two runs and a tied score, after that fine seven-inning performance of Mogridge.

After one was out in the Browns' half of the eighth, Bob Lamotte walked. Sisler cut a vicious foul down the right-field line and then crossed the opposition by pasting one down the left-field line. It was good for two bases and Lamotte reached third.

It Was a Good Play.

Harry Rice sent a line drive to left and then it was that Bib Falk, the Chicago left-fielder, thought too quickly for his teammates. Falk was not playing deep for Rice, and when he caught the ball it appeared that Lamotte had little chance to score. Lamotte, of course, broke for home, but the retrospective view of his dash, among the players, was that he was merely drawing a throw. He did not draw a throw, however. Falk summed up the situation in in the twinkling of an eye. He saw that Sisler was far from second base, almost half way to third and Falk pegged for second base, to double George off the bag.

It was a smart play. If second had been covered properly and the throw had been good, Sisler probably would have been doubled and the out would have been made before Lamotte could have scored. It was a shorter throw to second than to home and at second it was not necessary to tag the runner.

Altogether, Falk mapped out the situation and picked the right play very cleverly. But Collins and Davis were slow in covering second. Falk had no good target for his throw and he was a bit wild. The throw was high. Collins leaped to the side for it as he raced over to cover the bag, but he missed the ball and it rolled to the right field pavilion and Sisler was able to follow Lamotte across the plate.

Off to a Good Start.

Robbie Clicks One.

McManus then doubled, Jacobson was passed intentionally and Robertson's single scored McManus with the third run of the inning.

The game was won, as Mogridge retired the Sox in the ninth without a run.

A team always looks good in victory and behind good pitching. Mogridge looked the master out there and the Browns' performance was impressive. The team does not belong in the second division. If Mogridge continues as he has started, and two or three other members of the pitching staff develop winning ways the Browns will begin to climb. They are in fifth place today, five games behind a .500 per centage.

Rice and Evans in Field.

Sisler used Rice, Jacobson and Evans in the outfield against the White Sox. Williams was suspended indefinitely for an argument with Umpire Hildebrand Saturday.

Bob Lamotte, who has been playing short since Gerber was injured, contributed a double and single to the cause and made a spectacular catch in the ninth inning to help Mogridge check a belated rally.

Mogridge and Hargrave, obtained in the Severeid trade, are trying to prove that Sisler made a wise swap. Hargrave hit a double, home run and single to win Sunday's game and Mogridge's pitching was the outstanding feature yesterday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—The American League has sifted from the June crop of college graduates more than a score of college baseball stars, about equally divided between infielders and pitchers. Chicago, managed by one of the outstanding college diamond stars of the major leagues, Eddie Collins, has signed the larger number of college graduates, but the other clubs are following Collins' lead.

The sandlots and the minors appear neglected by the American League magnates, who are combing the college diamonds.

Carroll Looks Best.

The Holy Cross twirler, Owen Carroll, obtained by the Detroit Tigers, has so far created the most valuable impression of the 1925 collegiate output.

Among the college stars signed this spring by American League clubs are:

Butler College—Haldane Griggs, outfielder, recommended by Pat Page. Farmed out to Shreveport by the Chicago White Sox.

De La Salle Academy, Chicago—John Lenihan, traveling with the White Sox, not signed. Probably will go to Holy Cross for further development.

Holy Cross — Owen Carroll, pitcher, for the Tigers.

St. Marys (Kansas) College — Louis McEvey, right-hand pitcher, signed by the Boston Red Sox.

St. Louis University — Tom Stanton, pitcher, signed by the Boston Red Sox.

Southern Methodist University—Gene Bedford, three-letter man, infielder, with the Indians.

SARAZEN SHOWS GREAT SPEED IN TRYOUT FOR THE CARTER HANDICAP

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30. — Sarazen, rated the best horse in the country by the official handicapper, had his final work for the Carter Handicap Thursday, just after the first race over the Aqueduct track yesterday.

It was sensational. The track was dead and fully a second slow, judging from the times in the various races yesterday. Yet Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's favorite worked as if the track were lightning fast, as follows: 22 1-5, :47, :59 2-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:24 3-5.

This means in all probability that Sarazen will be favorite for the old time fixture of the Queen's County Jockey Club, even though Wise Counsellor, winner of the first international special last fall, goes to the post.

Kramer to Box Farr.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 30.—The Taylor Bowl, new fight arena at Newburgh Heights, a suburb, with a seating capacity of 17,000, was scheduled to open tonight with an all-star boxing show of four 10-round bouts, featuring Danny Kramer, Philadelphia, and Johnny Farr, Cleveland, lightweights.

Others on the card are Bobby Garcia, Chicago, and Phil McGraw, Detroit; Benny Bass, Philadelphia, and Steve Smith, Detroit, and Bushey Graham, Utica, and Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Hellup!

WAYNE BIG MUNN and his manager, Gabe Kaufman, have, in the past, afforded the world some amazement or amusement, according to the viewpoint. But their latest is indeed a terrible trial for persons with sore lips.

Wayne is going after Jack Dempsey's title! As a side line, he will regain the world's wrestling crown; but his main P. T. Barnum today is the world's boxing championship objective.

His manager says so, which proves it.

No Ulterior Motive—What?

CYNICAL-MINDED carpers may suggest that Gabe is merely beating the tom-tom in the interest of a newly organized boxing club, which he manages in Kansas City, Kan.

Other doubting Thomases may suggest that the only thing Munn could be sure of beating is a defenseless parlor rug.

Still other unfriendly advantage-taking critics will recall the history of Munn's previous efforts in the ring world, when two tenth-rate mitt wielders located the Munn button for a couple of good-nights.

But for ourselves, we repose the same deathless confidence in Mr. Kaufman's judgment that we accorded him when he insisted that Munn was a wrestler.

We admit that we believe it quite as probable that Munn will become a fight champion as that he will regain the mat title.

True to Form.

AS expected, Joe Stecher declined the $60,000 overtures for a world's title contest with Ed Lewis. Human nature was opposed to the match. Recollection of humiliating treatment cannot be wiped out by mere money offers.

Treating Sandow Rough.

IF we might venture a prediction as to Stecher's future for the next few months, it would be that Stecher will wrestle only members of the Jack Curley stable, or those believed to be free from entangling alliances with the Billy Sandow Circus.

There is probably one exception that Stecher would make if the money were interesting. Joe would take on Big Munn between courses of his dinner or any other time, provided the match were not held in the demesne of Sandow and Kaufman, and provided also that no Sandow referee were employed.

Stecher likes the easy money.

The Kind Mr. Zibby.

OLD MAN ZBYSZKO seems to have developed into a sort of championship convenience. When Ed Lewis had the title he wore several canvases threadbare with Zibby's shoulders. When Big Munn became champion Zibby kindly permitted Munn to wipe up the Convention Hall floor with his back.

Now that Joe Stecher has the title, in the surrender of which Zibby again looked at the sun from a reclining posture, the "old man" is getting ready for another canvas-polishing stunt. He meets Stecher at Wichita soon, and, of course, will be pinned again. The Old Man is carrying on too late in life to beat a man like Stecher.

It's a somewhat inglorious finish for a wrestler who was once truly great and who once enjoyed the high regard of the wrestling world.

St. Louis Tennis Stars to Oppose Kansas City Team

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—The teams which will meet in intercity tennis matches on the Rockhill courts, Saturday and Sunday have been chosen. One will represent St. Louis and the other Rockhill. Foremost in the list of St. Louisans is Brian I. C. Norton, who won the Wimbledon tourney in 1921.

Other prominent stars will be Wray Brown, Missouri Valley champion, and twenty-second in the national ranking; Fred Josties, former Missouri Valley doubles champion, Charles Barnes and Karl Kammann, with Joseph Werner, captain of the team. In the doubles Norton and Brown will pair; Werner will team with Kammann and Barnes with Josties.

Rockhill will line up as follows: Carl Meyer, city champion, No. 1; Phil Bagby, former valley and city champion, No. 2; Johnny Hubbell, No. 3; Gerald Smith, former Kansas University star, No. 4; Muir Rogers, also of Kansas University, No. 5.

In the doubles Smith and Bagby will team as No. 1 with Meyer and Hubbell as No. 2. The third team will be selected later.

These matches will be played Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Monday the Missouri State tourney starts.

CARDINALS TO PLAY BURLINGTON CLUB IN EXHIBITION TODAY

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BURLINGTON, Ia., June 30.—The St. Louis Cardinals arrived here today for an exhibition game with the local team.

Yesterday the National Leaguers gained a 15 to 7 victory over the Quincy (Three-I) club, scoring 11 runs in the ninth inning. Quincy errors figured prominently in the Cardinals' big rally in the ninth.

Morgan, a collegian, pitched for the Cardinals and held the Quincy team to five safeties.

Hornsby's error started the Three-I Leaguers on their way to five markers in the fifth.

Kilbane Opens Camp.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 30.—Johnny Kilbane, former world's featherweight champion, has opened a recreation and health camp for boys at Vermilion, 40 miles west of here. The camp, 25 acres, is located on the shores of Lake Erie.

Kearns Barred From Seconding Mickey Walker

New York Commission Also Denies Him Right to Enter Polo Grounds.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey and Mickep Walker, today was denied permission by the State Athletic Commission to second Walker in his fight with Harry Greb, world middleweight champion, at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

The commission further refused Kearns permission to enter the Polo Grounds for the Walker-Greb fight, although Kearns said he would attend in the capacity of a newspaper man, having contracted to report the bouts for a local newspaper.

How Kearns "Got in Bad."

Kearns' difficulty with the commission started when he ignored challenges directed at Dempsey by Harry Wills and Tommy Gibbons. The commission gave Kearns sufficient time to answer and when he failed to do so, he was placed on the commission's "unfavorable" list together with Dempsey.

When Kearns assumed the management of Walker he applied for a license, but this was denied until he had cleaned up the Dempsey matter. This morning the commission received a letter from Kearns in which he said he regretted his hasty action in ignoring the challenges and would make amends if the commission would grant him a second's license to enter the ring with Walker against Greb Thursday night.

$1000 STAKE FEATURES GRAND CIRCUIT RACES

CLEVELAND, O., June 30.—The Cleveland Topics, with $1000 added, for 2 to 5 year old pacers, featured today's Grand Circuit racing program at North Randall. So large was the entry list in the 2:16 pace and 2:20 trot they were split into three divisions each, two of which will be raced today and the others tomorrow.

Thirty-four were named in the 2:20 trot and 31 in the 2:16 pace. This breaks all records, according to Secretary W. N. Kinnan of the Grand Circuit. Thirteen were carded to start in the Topics, 10 in each division of the 2:16 pace and 12 in the first division of the 2:20 trot and 11 in the second.

Still, if the gate goes between $400,000 and $500,000 as the promoters hope it will, then there will be good money for the hospitals as well as the fighters and the Polo Grounds company.

It looks as though the crowd might run even beyond expectations, since Harry Greb and Mickey Walker are good drawing cards, Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo even a better one, and Harry Wills not at all bad, as an attraction.

The dopesters have been speculating a lot about the outcome of the various bouts, and now the writer is going to have his say figuring the dope, not upon what promoters or managers would like to have said, but on the basis of facts as they appear. First, then, Wills and Weinert.

Both Have Been Kayoed.

Both of these men have been guilty of some bad fights and both have been knocked out. Weinert has heard the birds chirping no fewer than five times. Wills bowed to Sam Langford more than once. Sam, in those days, was still a grand fighter, and it took him 19 rounds to turn the trick, once and 14 on another occasion.

Fans are apt to build up the coming bout on the strength of the showing of two men against Firpo. Wills, for some unexplained reason, had the Wild Bull on Queer street in the second round with a blow to the jaw. When Firpo rose the big black started in to pummel his body instead of trying for a knockout. Wills mauled and tugged Firpo all over the ring, did just what he pleased with the big Argentine, and those who knew his real ability have never been able to account for his indifference about winning by a knockout.

Firpo Not in Condition.

Now as to the Weinert-Firpo fight, which the Adonis won on points. Firpo was far from the shape he was in when he met Wills. Remembering his quick kayo of Charley in Philly, he expected to have an easy time.

But when he faced the Jersey man he found him trained to the minute, well prepared to leg it all over the ring and stab Luis' head off with lightning jabs. Firpo blundered along trying to put over one farewell sock, but Charley was ever on the alert and sprinted or ducked out of every dangerous situation.

But the effect of the hot pace told on Weinert in the closing rounds and had it not been for a shortening of one of the rounds, Weinert might have missed this lucrative fight with Wills.

SALT LAKE CITY WILL REVIVE RACING JULY 1

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 30.—Horse racing will be revived in Utah next Thursday when the Utah Racing Association opens a 30-day meet at the State Fairgrounds track here. Horse racing with the pari-mutuel system of betting was legalized by the Redd racing bill, passed last year.

The track and the recently constructed stables and grandstands are in perfect condition and Manager William P. Kyne expects between 400 and 500 horses ready to run.

Indications are that the meet will draw many racing enthusiasts from the Western States. The Utah Racing Association in addition to the forthcoming meet in July will hold another meet during September and October.

After that there will be a 30-day meet at the Lagoon track, located midway between Salt Lake and Ogden.

But when he faced the Jersey man he found him trained to the minute, well prepared to leg it all over the ring and stab Luis' head off with lightning jabs. Firpo blundered along trying to put over one farewell sock, but Charley was ever on the alert and sprinted or ducked out of every dangerous situation.

But the effect of the hot pace told on Weinert in the closing rounds and had it not been for a shortening of one of the rounds, Weinert might have missed this lucrative fight with Wills.

Platt Adams, the former Olympic athlete, timed the rounds for his own satisfaction and he called the attention of the time keeper to the fact that his watch was fast. So that is that.

As to Weinert's present condition, he looks good; but it must be considered he is a rebuilt athlete, who has tasted the sweets of easy living. One may look fit and perfect from the outside, but there is no denying that internally a former high liver might not look fit.

Wills in Great Shape.

Wills, on the other hand, is a marvel of physical perfection, and has been noted for his strict adherence to the rules of clean living. Every year Harry takes a two weeks' period and abstains from food of all kinds. His only sustenance during the 14 days is plenty of cool, clear water. He says this is the most effective way of ridding the body of waste, gasses and surplus fat. In this way every year he takes on a new lease on life.

Judging the bout on merit alone—the writer, of course, cannot figure on other things that might enter—Wills should win by a knockout in four rounds or forever renounce his right to fight for the world's heavyweight title.

There is a chance that Harry may be bothered by the referee, because of his supposed method of fighting with one hand holding his man and drawing him in while he hits with the other. But even so, the writer expects to see him catch the fleeter Weinert and bring him to the canvas before the fifth round. If he does not, then he can kiss goodbye to any chance he may now possess of meeting Jack Dempsey.

(Tomorrow Fair Play will analyze the Greb-Walker bout.)

Wills 1-to-4 Shot to Defeat Weinert; Greb 3 to 5 Over Walker

NEW YORK, June 30.

"WHITEY" BECK, one of the best judges of "prices" in the world, has figured out just what the odds ought to be in the different bouts at the Polo Grounds on Thursday evening, when Wills and Weinert, Walker and Greb, Slattery and Shade and Joe Lynch and Jack Sharkey clash for the benefit of the Italian hospital fund.

He makes Harry Wills a top-heavy favorite. It is well to remember that those who consistently back the short enders since the passage of the Walker law have cleaned up.

Wills 1 to 4 to beat Weinert.

Greb 3 to 5 to beat Walker.

Slattery 2 to 5 to beat Shade.

New York Commission Also Denies Him Right to Enter Polo Grounds.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey and Mickey Walker, today was denied permission by the State Athletic Commission to second Walker in his fight with Harry Greb, world middleweight champion, at the Polo Grounds Thursday night.

The commission further refused Kearns permission to enter the Polo Grounds for the Walker-Greb fight, although Kearns said he would attend in the capacity of a newspaper man, having contracted to report the bouts for a local newspaper.

How Kearns "Got in Bad."

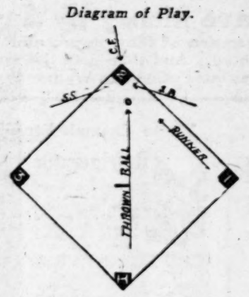
Kearns' difficulty with the commission started when he ignored challenges directed at Dempsey by Harry Wills and Tommy Gibbons. The commission gave Kearns sufficient time to answer and when he failed to do so, he was placed on the commission's "unfavorable" list together with Dempsey.

When Kearns assumed the management of Walker he applied for a license, but this was denied until he had cleaned up the Dempsey matter. This morning the commission received a letter from Kearns in which he said he regretted his hasty action in ignoring the challenges and would make amends if the commission would grant him a second's license to enter the ring with Walker against Greb Thursday night.

Eddie Collins TIPS ON INSIDE BASE-BALL

WHEN a base runner tries to steal second base, what part is it possible for the center fielder to play, in case the ball is thrown to that base, and who should cover?

Diagram of Play.



Backing up is a most important factor in baseball. It is possible for the center fielder to play an important part in such a play.

The center fielder should observe the actions of the base runner. He should be in a position to back up any throw made to second base.

Of course, he cannot move in on the play until the ball has passed the batter and there is no longer a chance for him to connect with it.

At such a time, the center fielder should run from the spot where he was playing the batsman to a position where he will be able to retrieve the ball should a bad throw evade the player making the play at second.

Then, should the runner try to take an extra base on the bad throw, the center fielder would be in a position to make a play at third base.

Midland Valley Champion Beaten

There will be a new golf champion at the Midland Valley Country Club this year. Lynn Saunders, defending champion, was carrying too much weight in the form of handicap in his second round match and was defeated by H. H. Webb, 4 up and 3.

Championship Class 3.

H. J. McNichols defeated H. L. Cox, 2 up; A. Watts defeated C. R. Manasse, 6 and 5; C. F. Jennings defeated G. M. Wagner, 2 and 6; J. D. Nolan defeated W. R. Mantell, 4 and 2; M. B. Dwyer defeated J. B. Hurd, 4 and 2; W. E. Candy defeated C. C. Robertson, 2 up; H. H. Webb defeated L. D. Saunders, 4 and 3.

Class A.

Class B

W. H. Brown defeated J. J. Nangle, 8 and 7; W. N. Kletzker defeated A. F. Welle, 3 and 2; N. R. Waters defeated J. E. Schwarz, 5 and 4; F. M. Ganter defeated C. O. Robinson, 3 and 2; W. R. Davidson defeated L. E. Dunn, 2 up; R. G. Alexander defeated W. F. Fahey, by default.

R. E. Goyer defeated F. B. Rothchild, 5 and 4.

F. W. Shaughnessy defeated J. L. Miller, 1 up.

Hennessey Loses To Henri Cochet At Wimbledon

Last American in Tennis Tourney Wins First Two Sets, Then Drops Three.

By the Associated Press.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 30.—America's last hope in the singles of the all-England tennis championships was eliminated today, when John Hennessey of Indianapolis was defeated by Henri Cochet, third ranking player of France, 7—9, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3, 6—0.

After sterling play during the first two periods, Hennessey went to pieces completely and lost three sets running. He finished weak, while his French opponent was in top form.

Hennessey won the first set after overcoming Cochet's lead of 5—2. Hennessey's drives were weak at the start of the match, but he strengthened and won the set by superior placement.

Twice in the second set Hennessey was within a stroke of winning at 6—3, but Cochet each time pulled out of difficulty and finally took the game. Hennessey took the next to win 6—4.

Hennessey Tires.

Hennessey's collapse was totally unexpected, for he seemed to have fathomed Cochet's style and to be able to return most of the Frenchman's shots from any part of the court.

It was obvious that Hennessey was tired when the third set began, during which he took only one game. He tied the fourth at 3—3, after Cochet had been in the lead since the beginning of the period, but he could not get going again and the Frenchman walked away with the remaining three games of the set.

Cochet took the fourth set by carrying his attack to the net. He had won the third by playing a careful baseline game.

Jean Borotra, the Wimbledon champion, defeated J. L. Barclay, 6—3, 5—7, 6—3, 6—3.

Borotra's comparatively easy victory over the Tasmanian, Barclay, in the second of the four big single matches of the day pits him against his compatriot, Cochet, in the semifinals.

The titleholder played in top form and even in the second set, which he lost, 5—7, he seemed to be letting up to rest rather than because of the strength of the Islander's attack.

The third Frenchman of the day to enter the semifinals was La Coste. In eliminating Jacob, the Indian star, he had a more difficult problem than Borotra had with Barclay, but he was never in danger.

Anderson in Semifinals.

J. O. Anderson, the Australian, became the fourth semifinalist by defeating C. Fisher, 6—1, 6—1, 6—4. Anderson and the three Frenchmen, Borotra, Lacoste and Cochet, will battle to determine who will be in the final contest of the singles event.

Charles S. Garland of Pittsburg and Lawrence B. Rice of Boston were eliminated from the doubles play by Baron de Murpurgo and Kehrling, 6—8, 6—4, 7—5, 6—2.

Cubs Buy Outfielder.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Purchase of Arthur John, outfielder of the Flint (Mich.) club of the Michigan-Ontario League, has been announced by President Veeck of the Chicago Cubs. John's hitting for the season has averaged .385.

Munn to Try to Win Boxing and Wrestling Titles

Manager Says Former Champion Will Go After Crowns of Stecher and Dempsey.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—Wayne Munn, whom accident elevated to the wrestling throne last January, but who was flopped with ridiculous ease by Stanislaus Zbyszko some weeks later at Philadelphia, is out to attempt what no athlete in history has tried.

He will attempt to win the world's championship in both heavyweight boxing and wrestling. To accomplish this, Munn will have to dethrone the present incumbents, Joe Stecher and Jack Dempsey. To achieve his end he will have to pull a double comeback, for he has proved unequal to meeting the leaders in the mat world and to holding his own with even the dubs of the boxing world.

The Manager Speaks.

Authority for the statement that Munn will "come back" is Gabriel Kaufman, manager of Convention Hall, matchmaker for an American Legion post boxing club in Kansas City, Kan., and incidentally the real or ostensible manager of Munn. He has hitherto handled the public part of Munn's adventure into the wrestling world. Munn's first fight attempts were under different auspices.

"Munn is going to start after both titles," Kaufmann told a Post-Dispatch representative in Kansas City yesterday. "As a wrestler he proved his real merit in his second match with Lewis, when, although beaten, he made a wonderful showing and gained the first fall.

"He never had a real try at boxing. With his tremendous size, power and terrific punch, I believe none could stand before him if he were properly coached in boxing. They merely tied a pair of gloves on him and sent him after the dough, when he first attempted to fight. After he has been built up, he will be a different fighter."

Kaufman thinks Munn's physical proportions and power will enable him to overshadow even Jack Dempsey and thus lead him to a double crown, which would make him the only man in history to achieve such distinction.

Munn is scheduled to start his wrestling comeback first. July 8 he will appear for the first time in St. Louis, when he will oppose Mike Romano, one of Strangler Lewis' playmates.

TUNNEY SIGNS FOR BATTLE ON JULY 17

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, was signed yesterday to engage in a 10-round contest at East Chicago July 17 but his opponent has not been selected. After taking a light workout here yesterday, Tunney departed for Kansas City, where he will meet Italian Jack Hermann Friday night.

CIRCUIT COURT JUDGES IN GOLF TOURNEY TODAY

Circuit Court Judges will hold their annual golf tournament at the Glen Echo Country Club this afternoon. Judge Landwehr now holds the championship trophy. Judge Mix has a leg on the three-time cup, but will not compete in the tourney this year. Two other trophies will be awarded, one in a blind bogey competition and another for the winner of a putting contest.

SALT LAKE CITY WILL REVIVE RACING JULY 1

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 30.—Horse racing will be revived in Utah next Thursday when the Utah Racing Association opens a 30-day meet at the State Fairgrounds track here. Horse racing with the pari-mutuel system of betting was legalized by the Redd racing bill, passed last year.

The track and the recently constructed stables and grandstands are in perfect condition and Manager William P. Kyne expects between 400 and 500 horses ready to run.

Indications are that the meet will draw many racing enthusiasts from the Western States. The Utah Racing Association in addition to the forthcoming meet in July will hold another meet during September and October.

After that there will be a 30-day meet at the Lagoon track, located midway between Salt Lake and Ogden.

THOMPSON IS MEDALIST IN CANADIAN AMATEUR

By the Associated Press.

OTTAWA, June 30. — Stanley Thompson of the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto, with a score of 146 for the 36 holes yesterday, led the field of 95 players in the qualifying round of the Canadian amateur golf championship.

The struggle for the qualifying medal was a duel between Thompson and Lauren Upson, the California collegian, who was runner-up with 148. Thompson had 72 for the morning round, while Upson led with 71. In the afternoon Thompson went around in 74, while Upson got away badly and took 77.

Max R. Marston of Philadelphia, 1923 amateur champion of the United States, was third with 149.

The 32 leaders today will begin match play for the championship.

FRANCO-SOVIET EXPERTS STUDYING RUSSIAN DEBT

No Interest Has Been Paid on Pre-War Bonds, Sold in France, Since Revolution.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 30.—Russian bonds widely held in France constitute an "interallied debt" problem for France that is in many ways as serious as the money owed to the United States.

A joint Franco-Soviet commission of experts has been sitting for weeks trying to find some compromise between the French, who wish to be paid, and the Russians, who would prefer not to pay their predecessors' obligations.

These pre-war Russian bonds sold in France amount to about 16 billion gold francs, on which Russia paid no interest after the revolution. The French Government, however, paid the coupons in Russia's stead during the last year of the war.

The French experts' proposal, one of the plans to be submitted to a commission that will try to negotiate a settlement, is that the 16 billions be scaled down to 10 billions and that there be a 10-year moratorium on payments, although the interest shall accumulate during that time. The interest from 1918 to 1926, when the moratorium would begin, would be paid in French paper francs instead of in gold.

This is not acceptable to the Russians. They propose that the back interest be cut from four billion to two billion francs, because during that interest period, France and her allies were trying to destroy the soviet government.

In any case, they say, commercial credits of a like amount must be given by French banks when any payments are made by the soviet.

The seriousness of the problem lies in the fact that there are several million small bondholders in France, many of whom look at their unpaid coupons and blame the French Government for not collecting for them.

MAN ARRESTED ON ARSON CHARGE AFTER 11 YEARS

Former Milwaukee Resident Held in California After He Had Been Reported Dead.

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., June 30.—David J. Borun, formerly of this city, arrested in Long Beach, Cal., Monday, according to information received by the State Fire Marshal's office on a charge of arson, will be returned here for trial. The warrant on which Borun was arrested is 11 years old, and was filed away as worthless, when word was received here that Borun had fallen, or jumped overboard from the steamer Indiana, Nov. 28, 1917.

Conrad Asmuth, deputy State Fire Marshal, was responsible for the arrest of Borun, whom everyone, including members of his family, believed dead until less than a year ago.

According to Asmuth, Borun had a friend place a dummy in the stateroom assigned to him for a trip on the Indiana, and on the night of Nov. 28, 1907, the dummy was flung overboard. From the clothing and papers found in the stateroom there was evidence that Borun had been lost overboard, but one life insurance company refused to pay the claim of Mrs. Borun, and Asmuth remained on the trail until he obtained evidence, shortly after Mrs. Borun and her two daughters moved to Long Beach, Cal., that Borun was alive and making his home with his family.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

G. G.—Ink eradicators can be purchased at any drug store. If you follow directions on the bottles you will have no trouble in removing the ink spots.

JOHN D.—A reprieve for Gerald Chapman from June 25 to Dec. 3, 1925, was issued June 4 by Gov. John H. Trumbull of Connecticut, on the application of State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn. Chapman was sentenced by Judge Jennings to be hanged at the State Prison on June 25 being convicted of the murder of Policeman Skelly in New Britain, Conn.

E. A. G.—The students of the U. S. Naval Academy are styled midshipmen. Three midshipmen are allowed for each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress, one for the Resident Commissioner from Porto Rico, two for the District of Columbia, and 15 appointed each year from the United States at large. In addition, one Filipino is allowed for each class. The appointment from the District of Columbia and 15 each year at large are made by the President. It is the custom of Presidents to give the appointments of midshipmen at large to the sons of officers of the army, navy and marine corps, for the reason that officers, owing to the nature of their duties are usually not in a position to establish permanent residences. The selection of candidates, by competitive examination or otherwise, for nomination for vacancies in the quota of Senators, Representatives and Delegates in Congress is entirely in the hands of each Senator, Representatives and Delegate in Congress having a vacancy; and all applications for appointment or inquiries relative to competitive examinations should be addressed accordingly. Two examinations for admission are held each year, the first on the third Wednesday in February, the second on the third Wednesday in April. The law authorizes the appointment of 100 enlisted men each year; to be selected as a result of a competitive examination of enlisted men of the Regular Navy and Marine Corps, and members of the Naval Reserve Force on active duty, who must not be more than 20 years of age on April 1 of the year they enter, and who will have been in service at least one year by Aug. 15 of that year. The mental and physical requirements as well as the amount of money to be deposited upon admission, are the same for these candidates as for other candidates for midshipmen. The competitive examination of these enlisted men is held on the third Wednesday in April of each year. Candidates may also be accepted on certificate. For details write Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, D. C. All candidates, except four Filipinos, are required to be citizens of the United States and must not be less than 16 or more than 20 years of age on April 1 of the calendar year in which they enter the Naval Academy. The course for midshipmen is four years. During the summer, midshipmen of the first, second and third classes go to sea for about three months. Midshipmen after graduation are commissioned as Ensigns in the navy, and ocasionally to fill vacancies in the Marine Corps and in certain of the staff corps of the navy. The act of June 29, 1906, prescribes that the Secretary of the Navy shall notify in writing each Senator, Representative and Delegate in Congress of the vacancy that will exist at the Naval Academy and which he shall be entitled to fill by nomination of a candidate and one or more alternates therefor. The nomination of a candidate and alternate or alternates to fill said vacancy shall be made upon the recommendation of the Senator, Representative or Delegate, if said recommendation is made by the fourth day of March of the year following that in which said notice in writing is given, but if it is not made by that time the Secretary of the Navy shall fill the vacancy by appointment of an actual resident of the State, Congressional District or territory, as the case may be, in which the vacancy will exist, who shall have been at least two years immediately preceding the date of his appointment an actual and bona-fide resident of the State, Congressional District or territory. Each candidate before admission will be required to sign articles by which he binds himself to serve in the United States Navy during the pleasure of the President of the United States (including his time of probation at the Naval Academy) unless sooner discharged. The pay of a midshipman is $780 a year.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

TRAVEL AND RESORTS — TRAVEL AND RESORTS

in ALGONQUIN PARK
Wild Life at close range and Fishing without parallel

ON the very ridge of Ontario's "Highlands," Algonquin Park is in many sections 2,000 feet above sea-level—that means health-giving, bracing air. Although but a night's train journey from Toronto, this vast network of lovely lakes and fir-clad islands is still an unspoiled wilderness. Here roam the deer and bear, to be "shot" only with the camera—the crack of the rifle is unknown in this vast forest and game preserve of 2,721 sq. miles.

A Canadian National train will take you right to Highland Inn—a modern resort accommodating 150 guests. Nearby are delightful log-built cottage camps for those who like a combination of outdoor life and indoor comfort.

Ask for tourist fares, resort rates and booklets.

RADIO ISSUES STRONG ON THE CURB MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Initial trading in Niser Corporation "B" stock, 300,000 shares no-par value, which were admitted to the market today, was the chief feature of the day's operations on the Curb Exchange. Trading started with a sale of 30,000 in one block share at 43½, and within a short time a rain of more than a point was made, business continued heavy. Dealings in other radio-making stocks were fairly active. Niser's new stock was a new high record. Kelvinator, which made a new high yesterday was in supply and yielded to a level four points below its high record price. Serv-El also sold off from yesterday's high record.

Radio issues were among the strongest features of the day. Homeline gained three points to 19¾, and Dubilier moved up two points to 45. Goodrich Tire was directly influenced by the advances in rubber and fairly good gains were made by Firestone, up two points to 313, to new high ground for the year. Miller Rubber was strong at the start, when it advanced three points to 107, but lost most of this gain. Lehigh Valley Coal was another strong feature, moving to about two points above the 417 high, but closing unchanged at 415. Tuck Tread, Baking "B" was heavily bought and made a further gain of two points to 37. Ginger Ale was fairly well held after Monday's reaction and made a fractional recovery.

There was a fair volume of business in many of the public utilities. Power Corporation of New York "A" also advanced a point, but reacted from its high level. Electric Bond and Share "B" was heavily bought by dealers. Natl. Power after advancing six points to 328, reacted after advancing six points to 328, reacted. There was also a fair business in Power stocks. Most of the oil stocks showed a firmer tone and made fractional advances. Prairie Oil was in strong and yielded about a point.

Bond Market Review

NEW YORK, June 30.—Firm money rates continued to exert a restrictive influence on today's bond trading although some of the railroad and oil issues recovered from yesterday's sharp declines, and fairly strong support was evident, however, to offerings of bonds in substantial volume during irregularity pointed to lower quotations. Among the weak spots were Dominion Iron and Steel 5s, Rogers Brown Iron 6s, Chicago & Alton 3½s, which declined 1 to 2 points. Foreign obligations fluctuated irregularly with Japanese issues showing a narrower tendency. French bonds displaying a steadier tone. Public utilities have been completed for the week by the sale of $13,000,000 City of Berlin 25-year 6½ per cent loan at a price to yield 7¼ per cent.

WHEAT PRICES ADVANCE IN TRADING AT CHICAGO

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Some confidence returned to the wheat market today so that there was sufficient buying to cause an advance in prices. Changed sentiment was not unanimous, however, with selling still in a volume to make it difficult to hold the full gain.

Wheat had a rally on late trading in buying prompted by black rust reports from Saskatchewan and because of strength in Winnipeg. Late prices were near the best of the day and showed gains of 1½c to 2¼c. Corn rallied with wheat and closed 1¼c to 2¾c higher. Oats were ¾c to 1c higher. Lard closed 22½c to 25c higher. Ribs 7½c to 12½c lower, and bellies unchanged to 2½c lower.

Trading was heavy, with over 1,000,000 bushels wheat, 1,250,000 bushels corn, 1,300,000 bushels oats, 5,000 bushels barley and 500,000 bushels rye. Clearances reported 250,000 bushel oats and a cargo of rye taken for export.

At the opening the market was almost wholly bullish. There was nothing in the news to account for the changed attitude but the market prevailed that the bears had had enough of a break to satisfy even the most victorious bears. Commission house buying was in evidence and locals showed enough courage to accumulate long wheat. But when buying stopped prices sagged, and the market was unsteady.

The market still feels much undiscounted in wheat and this will make it a difficult market to sell for days. Another factor that is counting the fact that the carry over in wheat is almost certainly to exceed 75,000,000 bushels. The visible supply at the end of the season of 200,000,000 bushels is also a factor to be considered that at least this much is still on the farms with some people of the opinion that as much as 300,000,000 bushels are in country mills and elevators. Last year's carry over was 104,000,000 bushels.

Weather is less favorable to the growing crop. Cloudy conditions prevail over the belt today with temperatures quite a little warm. However the rust crisis is not expected before July 15 and the crop still has a little better flour days for July delivery. Receipts of new wheat at Kansas City were 180 cars compared with 28 cars a year ago. Wheat was sold for export.

Corn was higher early and then reacted. The situation is much the same as in wheat. There has been heavy liquidation and the short interest is expanded the final price reaction is to be expected. However, buyers still run at the sight of any considerable setback in prices.

Oats were higher at the opening and then lost most of their gain. The explanation is the same as in wheat and corn. Shipping demand was improved. Higher hog prices and the advance in wheat sent provisions higher.

New York Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The raw market was steadier early today, but no sales were reported and prices were unchanged at 4.57c for centrifugal test.

The steadier feeling in the raw sugar market had its effect on the refined market, but there was little offered. The increased movement of the refined sugar in the past few days, however, and trade buying in new sugar terms. Middle prices were unchanged at 5.75c for granulated. A leading refiner announced the withdrawal of its quotations for shipments in 2.00c and beyond, against earlier terms of 2.04c.

No developments occurred in refined sugar market, prices being nominal at 5.50c to 5.60c for fine granulated.

Sugar futures closed steady, approximately 1 to 2 points net lower. July 2.90; Sept. 2.72; Dec. 2.83; Jan. 2.80.

ONLY REGULAR QUARTERLY DIVIDEND ON AMERICAN CAN

NEW YORK, June 30.—Directors of the American Can Co. today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on the stock, thereby disposing of reports that the shares would be put on a $5 annual rate. The rumor, which caused several points net gain in the stock, was started by the organization of a "pool" to boost the common stock up as a result of the recent split-up, but in anticipation of only the regular dividend. The stock closed at 193 at the close of yesterday's market.

HOG RECEIPTS LIGHT AND PRICES HIGHER

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill., June 30.—Receipts today estimated: Cattle … calves, 6600; hogs, 11,000; sheep, … horses and mules, 20.

HOGS.—Receipts of hogs continued … today, the trade estimating the arrival of 11,000 head which 500 through hogs reduced to 10,500 on sale. Quality graded medium to good. Trading opened fairly active to butchers and order buyers at prices generally 10c to 15c higher than the Monday session. Hogs sold in a very narrow spread all weights from 160 lbs up, when of good quality selling from $13.90 to $14, a generous quota of sales at the latter mentioned figure. Packers were inclined to be bearish and refused to enter the opening market holding off for lower prices. Pigs were active and generally strong to 25c higher than yesterday. The better weight kinds from 90 to 150 lbs, quotable in a spread of $13.50 to $13.75 mostly, some sales of choice kinds higher. Medium weight kinds averaging from 110 to 130 lbs, sold from $12.50 to $13.50, with light pigs and … were ranging downward according to weight and quality. Packer sows were very slow with sales around steady early buyers of this class. A limited demand took the early bulk at $12 … showed no material change at $10.50 to $11.25 largely.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, June 30.—The advance in prices for domestic wools influenced the quotations for foreign wools today with Australian 64-70s selling at $1.20 clean in bond with dealers in some instances willing to raise offers to $1.25. Montevideo 6s changed hands at 46c in the grease. Fine domestic wools are in better demand than the medium and low grade clips. Delaines are selling at 56c with the market established at 56-58c. Some dealers explain the offerings at 56c are extremely limited.

STRENGTH IS DISPLAYED BY RUBBERS

Changes in General Stock Market Relatively Small at Close—Exchange Market Irregular.

Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Trading was quiet on the stock market. There was continued monetary stringency. Changes at the close were relatively small. The bond market was again stagnant, although demand for Government obligations showed no slackening and prices in this group held firm. Speculative operations were small, however, and changes were irregular. Some of the better grade industrial stocks were strong, Woolworth being one of the favorites which spruted to a new high for the year. U. S. Rubber also reached a new peak in response to a further advance in tire prices and other rubber stocks were strong.

Money Rates Again Firm.

"Another rise in call money rates put a damper on speculative operations. Loans renewed at 5 per cent, the highest rate for renewals since the first business day of the year, and later an advance carried the rate up to 5½ per cent against 6 per cent at yesterday's close. Banks again called loans, but it was believed the demand had been filled for the most part and bankers looked for a gradual easing with the return to this city of funds for loan by interior banks. It was felt that unless unforeseen conditions develop a rate of 4 or possibly 3½ per cent might be expected next week. Money was scarce in London, too, and it was reported that some American funds were put out on loan in London at 10 per cent for the day while London placed money here at 6 per cent for overnight. This curious situation, which is not expected to continue, permitted good profits on forward exchange operations.

American Can Features.

"American Can again attracted most attention, with wide fluctuations. After a strong opening, the stock fell back sharply under yesterday's closing figures, when the announcement came that directors had declared only the regular quarterly disbursement of $1.25 a share. In some quarters it had been hoped probably not expected—that an extra of some kind or a split up of the stock would be ordered. Attention had been called to the improbability of any favorable action at this time, however, because of the company's busy season and the need for all cash resources. Buying was strong on the recession and the stock quickly snapped back to above 195 and continued to move forward in the afternoon to within striking distance of its record top of 200 established Saturday. Other industrials held generally firm in quiet trading, support being in evidence virtually throughout the list in response to suggestions that more active trading at higher prices might be expected next week with an ease in money rates.

Commodities Irregular.

"Prices fluctuated irregularly in commodity markets, but the volume of business was comparatively small and changes were confined within narrow limits. Grain moved to higher levels, advances in wheat ranging from a fraction of a cent for July contracts to about 3 cents for later deliveries. Corn got back about the $1 level with a brisk rally. Cotton prices sagged, but buying on recessions checked the decline and changes were small at the end of the day.

Exchanges Again Irregular.

"Exchange rates showed no change in trend today, French and Italian remittances again being rather freely offered at concessions and Scandinavians being in demand. Rates on Paris well to 4½ cents, while the lira dropped to 3½ cents. Support was feeble. Sterling ruled firm, while Danish and Norwegian crowns spurted vigorously to new high levels for the year in brisk trading. Swedish crowns were quoted at par. Business was in good sized volume.

GOV. SMITH ASSAILS ECONOMY CLAIMS

Says President Is Using False Propaganda—Like "Claiming Credit for Weather."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POLAND SPRING, Me., June 30.—Gov. Smith of New York, addressing the annual conference of State executives, attacked the Federal administration's claims to reduction of expenditure by economy.

"By false and deceiving propaganda, he declared, the President and other Republican officials are in effect claiming credit for the fact that the war is over. That, he said, is like assuming credit for good weather.

In his plain talk, Gov. Smith yesterday took up the period from 1914 to 1924. He cited President Coolidge's statement a week ago that the history of public affairs would hardly show a parallel to the $2,481,000,000 reduction in Federal expenditures, exclusive of the moneys applied to the reduction of the public debt and the operations of the postal service.

The implication, of course, is, he said, that by the practice of rigid economy, Federal expenditures have been reduced by this amount, when the fact is the expenditures have been reduced because the war is over and it is no longer necessary to maintain the Government on a war basis.

"In the main the Federal administration is entitled to credit, if that be deserved, for not maintaining a war organization in peace time, nothing more," he said.

Tax Increase, 398 Per Cent.

He pointed out that the Federal Government collected taxes and customs in 1914 aggregating $672,000,000 and in 1924, $3,339,000,000, an increase of 398 per cent. In round figures the collection in 1924 was $2,252,000,000 less than in 1920, the high peak of Federal taxes, but in the latter direct war costs were being paid from revenue receipts.

The State of New York had an increase from $43,700,000 in 1914 to $127,100,000 in 1924, or 190 per cent, the Governor said. Excluding amounts given to school districts and to towns for highways, New York's taxes increased only 140 per cent. Those for local Governments in the State increased 110 per cent.

"For each dollar the Federal Government collected in 1914 it exacts $4.98 in 1924, while the State of New York collected $2.30," he shot home.

Increases of congressional appropriations from $1,098,000,000 in 1924 to $2,748,000,000 for the 1924, a total of 241 per cent, be compared with New York State appropriations of $57,900,000 in 1914 and $158,100,000, an increase of 174 per cent.

Increase of Expenditures.

Eliminating Federal appropriations for debt service, Treasury refunds, the alien property custodian, Shipping Board, Veterans' Bureau and railroad control, those for other items grew from $1,015,000,000 in 1914 to $2,908,000,000 this year, or an increase of 88 per cent, he had figured.

"Comparing Federal appropriations for the fiscal year 1921, the year President Wilson retired, with appropriations this year, the fourth year of the Republican administration, we find that they were reduced from $6,748,000,000 to $4,750,000,000," the Governor emphasized. "and eliminating those items purely incidental to the war we find appropriations for ordinary Government expenses were reduced from $2,252,000,000 in 1921 to $1,908,000,000, a decrease of $344,000,000.

"If there were not mingled in every branch of the Federal service increased expenses due to the war, this figure would indicate and measure the economy of the present Federal administration. As it is, it merely establishes a maximum figure from which should be deducted, if they could be identified, the war expenses hidden away in the expenses of the old and established department of the Federal Government."

Gov. Smith then mentioned that $210,000 was appropriated in 1914 for the executive department of the Government (the President and Vice President); that in the last year of the Wilson administration it was only $222,000, but that this year it was $426,000, an increase of $204,000 for a Republican President.

"In this connection," he said, "it is interesting to observe that intentionally or otherwise the Treasury report for 1924, page 285, erroneously places the President's and Vice President's salaries in another department, rather than in the executive, as had been the custom.

"The Interior Department," he said, "shows an increase of $52,000,000 over 1914 and a decrease from 1921 of $46,600,000, due to the fact that war veterans died and their pensions no longer had to be paid. They call that 'economy.'"

Finally he called attention to the fact that army and navy expenditures, while they showed reduced appropriations over 1921, were at least 75 per cent higher than in 1914.

Budget Director's Speech.

Just prior to Gov. Smith's talk, H. M. Lord, director of the budget, had told the assembly that business principles were reducing the cost of government in a campaign of retrenchment, with a $3,000,000,000 mark as the limit and that President Coolidge had indicated expenditures next year, including debt reduction and excluding postal expenditures, should not exceed $3,375,000,000.

The need of a nonpolitical campaign of retrenchment in state, county and municipal expenditures similar to the program now being carried out by the Federal Government, was stressed by Lord.

"In 1921, the last pre-budget year, Federal expenditures were 60 per cent of the cost of Government, while the lesser divisions of Government were responsible for the remaining 40 per cent," he said. "Today we have practically reversed these positions, and the Federal Government, by getting down to actual business by cutting out expenditures, by the introduction of more efficient methods, and by the cultivation of the spirit of economy makes an assessment of only 32 per cent on the public purse, while the other governing agencies—states and cities—take the remaining 67 per cent. * * *

"The amount of reduction in Federal expenditures directly due to the executive pressure exerted through the bureau of the budget will always be a moot question and an idle one. The director of the bureau of the budget has never made extravagant claims of extraordinary savings effected under budget control. * * * In the field of estimates, however, he can point to definite achievements that admit of no challenge.

"In the four budget years there has been pruned from executive estimates by the bureau of the budget, acting for the President, a total of $1,203,771,929, an amount nearly equal to the national debt when we went into the World War."

Divorces Granted at Belleville.

WHISKY ROBBERS ARRESTED

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., June 30.—Seven of eight men who overpowered guards at the Government warehouse of the Transatlantic Trading Corporation were captured by the police today while a $100,000 whisky robbery was in progress.

Receiving an alarm from an unknown source reserves arrived when the men had loaded 35 barrels of whisky, valued at $70,000, into their truck. Armed with revolvers, they had overpowered three warehouse guards and locked them in a back room.

Address for Community Chest.

Edwin G. Eklund, director of the Springfield (Ill.) Council of Social Agencies, spoke before a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs in Alton yesterday. He explained the community chest idea, saying the community chest served two functions: first, to make the welfare work of the community better, and secondly, to increase the efficiency of collecting funds from private sources necessary for the support of these organizations.

CORNELL SENIOR POLISHES SILVER IN WALDORF-ASTORIA

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 30.—With the hope of bringing to reality his own version of "From Bus Boy to Hotel Manager," John L. Shea, Cornell University senior, spends eight hours a day polishing silver in the housekeeper's department of the Waldorf-Astoria.

Shea, son of a hotel proprietor, is a student in the Cornell course of hotel management. As part of his studies, he works each summer in various hotels, having already been room clerk in two resort places in the Adirondacks.

"I do not expect to be a full-fledged hotel manager when I graduate," Shea said yesterday. "It may be years before I am qualified. However, by working below stairs I am learning. I think within two weeks I shall understand silver polishing rather thoroughly."

Beautiful Simplicity

The Improved Packard Eight Marks a New Achievement in Fine Car Design

The beautiful simplicity of the new Packard Eight instantly appeals to your appreciation of fine design and fine workmanship.

It represents the crowning achievement of twenty-five years of experience in the building of a long line of distinguished cars.

The new Packard Eight also possesses improvements found together on no other car, American or foreign.

The new motor oil rectifier assures the Packard Eight owner that he need change oil but a few times a year.

The new chassis pressure lubricator can be operated in a second of time while the car is in motion. It instantly lubricates the 45 points on the Packard Eight chassis which require regular attention.

A VERY HIGH PRICE TO PAY FOR PLEASURE

When Unprincipled Men Go Looking for Prey, with Free Auto Rides as Bait, Then Girls Should Beware.

BY WINIFRED BLACK.

WINIFRED BLACK

THEY are arresting them—in Chicago—the men who ask strange girls to go driving and the girls who accept the invitation.

That's good news, or ought to be, for all sensible girls all over the country.

The boulevard sheiks are making a record from one end of the country to the other and not at all a nice record at that.

Two girls were thrown out of an automobile in San Francisco 10 days ago. One of them will never speak rationally again and the other is in a hospital now, fighting for her life.

Rather an expensive price to pay for half an hour's ride in the moonlight.

Nice girls they were, too. Not flappers or vamps at all.

Not particularly clever, of course, and not particularly careful of themselves or of their reputations—but they didn't mean any harm. They were girls who worked for a living in an office down town and they were tired and bored and they wanted to do something different. So they went out toward the park for a walk, and as they walked they said to each other, "what fun it would be to step into a big car and go for a spin with two good-looking men."

No, they didn't care much what the men were, or who they were—as long as they were good-looking and had a good car. What's the use of always being so careful and so fussy about "prunes and prisms"? This is a new world today with new sorts of people in it and the girl who is contented to sit back in a corner and wait for her good times—can just keep on waiting, that's all.

The Boulevard Sheiks.

And only think of the perfectly nice girls who have met millionaires at summer resorts and in restaurants, yes, even in walking along the street. Why you read about them every day in the novels and you see them every night in the moving pictures.

Little Nelly, the tenement house darling—and the great, big, splendid man who picked up a letter for her in the subway, and they went for a walk, and by and by they were married, and after the wedding the great big splendid man took the beautiful Nelly to a magnificent palace on Central Park west and turned out to be a millionaire, and Nelly educated all her brothers and sisters and bought a home on Long Island for her mother, and oh, it was wonderful! Now, just think if Nelly had given her millionaire a haughty stare and let that be the end of it when he picked up the letter for her in the subway.

That's the way the two girls out West were talking together when the big car drove up to the curb and one of the men in it smiled and said, "Swell evening, isn't it?"

And yet, they were just two ruffians from the slums. Out looking for prey—and they found it—and those two girls have given up everything in life to pay for just a few minutes wild folly.

There was the girl in Chicago, a week or so ago, found on the lake shore, dazed and bewildered. She was out looking for "romance," too, and she found it, poor girl, in its usual form.

It's getting to be a regular thing, the boulevard sheiks and their victims. But when are the girls going to learn that strangers are strangers, no matter how they look? When will they learn that any girl who goes out for a drive with a stranger has about one chance in a hundred of getting back home safe.

I'm glad the police are making these little affairs their business before the real harm begins— out there in Chicago. Seems to me the rest of the country had better follow the example.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home."

By WANDA BARTON

How to Have a Lavender Room.

INTERIOR decorations are shy of the lavender note in coloring because it fades readily, and it often is not becoming to people.

But the lavender room seen recently is quite another thing. The floor and woodwork of the room are done a glossy black. The walls, covered with Chinese gold paper, have a cut-out gold lattice border, through which sprays of wistaria run and droop down on the wall in a very natural way. The gold covers the ceiling, but grows paler toward the center, where an iridescent ceiling dome light is placed. The light passing through seems like a dainty rainbow in coloring.

The glass curtains at the windows are of the gold gauze, and over them the long curtains are of black silk, painted with wistaria blossoms wreathed in a border in all their lilac loveliness. The rugs are of Chinese goat hair, embroidered in medallions of color in wools. The rugs are very novel and new, and they are not only lovely in appearance, but wash as well as the woven rugs and wear wonderfully. On the black floor they are especially effective.

The furniture of natural bamboo is painted with broad black stripes on which medallions in lilac and gold have been painted. The cover used on the table is a suede skin dyed lilac and painted in gold cobwebs. There are two wicker floor lamps, painted to match the furniture, and the straw shades are lilac lined. There is an elaborate carved chest in the room, with ornate brass hinges, handles and locks, and a set of book shelves to match, with brass corner pieces that are very unusual. And though they are really fastened to the wall, they appear to be hung by heavy lilac cords and tassels. A Chinese mirror, in the gold outlined squares and frame, is hung above a wicker console table that holds a single tall lilac vase.

STREET FROCKS FORSAKE TRIMMINGS

By Margery Wells.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 29.

WALK along the blocks on upper Fifth avenue and see the extreme simplicity of the dresses that smart women are wearing. Really, the lack of trimming is noticeable. This one demonstration may be called, indeed, the salient feature of the mode of summer 1925, for not a woman, old or young, rich or poor, has neglected to recognize the ruling. If you do happen to see a girl with an over supply of trimming on her costume you are at once impelled to laugh about it and yet, not so many summers ago, you were wearing the same things yourself and thought them lovely.

The style in this respect has changed most vitally and those young girls who think out the best features of the fashion and apply them to themselves and their own needs have pared down the street dress until it is a thing entirely of lines, and very few of those, as it happens.

Both of the gowns shown in the picture that go along with this article are illustrative of the simple street frock idea. They are so constructed that they have every appearance of formality, one for the morning and one for the afternoon. They are made, after all, of the thinnest, summeriest of stuffs, so that they shall have no extra weight. They have foundations constructed of light-proof but still thin materials, and altogether they are the acme of unadorned beauty in the way of clothes.

Shows Itself When Wearer Moves

Now the clever feature of these two dresses, as of all of the newer frocks in this simple class, is that they are trickily built. And in the last analysis it is this intricacy in the way the thing is cut and the lines arranged as to makeup that give the dress its style.

See the dress of tan crepe for instance. This has a skirt made up of a succession of straight pieces that are lapped one over the other to form what, at first sight, appears to be a straight skirt. The narrow, straight pieces turn out to be an overskirt and one which covers only the forward portion of the skirt and it is in the way that these inoffensive and inconspicuous little pieces behave that the style of the dress is expressed.

For the rest the dress is quite guileless. There are fitted bands of the self material used for neck band and cuffs. The sleeves are plain enough to be almost childlike, and there is nothing more.

However, the accouterments for a frock of this extremely plain appearance must be altogether in keeping with the standard set. If the hat is wrong, if the shoes hit the wrong key, if even, the jewelry is out of harmony, then the effect of the costume is gone. And this is more pointedly true this season than it ever has been before because of the plain surfaces which allow every accompanying detail to stand out in such bold relief.

Things That Complete the Effect

The girl in the picture who is wearing the black chiffon dress has chosen a pair of black satin pumps to wear with the costume. Now slippers of this character are extremely fashionable and the reason is plain. They are entirely in keeping with the design and character as established by the dress itself, and so they help that dress to more perfectly get over its idea. Even the jewelry which this girl has chosen to wear is quite in accord with the simplicity of her frock. She has a small string of pearls about her throat, another, longer string wound round one wrist and on the other arm a bracelet of white carved jade. Her stockings are white and so, with a perfectly dead black dress of chiffon, than which there is nothing blacker, she has managed to achieve a light and cool effect just by the addition of touches of white in the spots where it tells most against the darker tone. You will see, too, that, in this simple afternoon street frock there has been enough of the girl's skin left showing to add that further touch of white as a part of the pattern of the whole costume.

By these examples it will be seen that it is not so much the dress as the things that go with it which count in the present expression of a simple style. Every really well-dressed woman has thought out her costume just as carefully, and if you will examine her getup you will see how often she had done the trick with all artistry.

The cutting of the hair, or the way it is fixed if it is long, is another matter which has so much to do with the ultimate success of the modern gown. The hair, in its arrangement, must be quite as simple and unfussed as the dress is. That is the reason we are seeing with more and more frequency so much hair that is either cut straight and very short or that is brushed plainly back from the forehead with a knot at the nape of the neck. It is this sort of a coiffure which carries out the character of the modern simple dress with the greatest degree of perfection. Of course, not all girls are ready or willing at the present time to adopt this style of headdress, but those who do try it and see how really well their dresses look with this accompaniment are so thrilled with the result that they keep right on with the idea.

There is nothing more disconcerting to a purist in style than to see a girl in strictly modern clothes with her hair fixed in masses of curls—a manner of several years ago. She is ruining her own game from an artistic standpoint, but she will probably come around to an acceptance of the headdress as her eyes become accustomed to the new simplicity which is almost severity after all.

LOVE

CHAPTER EIGHT.

SHE walked out of the flat thoughtfully. Perhaps she had better begin nipping his effusiveness in the bud a little harder, whenever it cropped up. She had nipped, but evidently not hard enough. Perhaps the simplest way—and indeed, all his buds would be then nipped for ever at once—would be to tell him at dinner about Virginia. If seeing her as he had now done in full daylight hadn't removed his misconceptions, being told about Virginia certainly would. Only — she hadn't wanted to yet; she had wanted for this one evening to enjoy the queer, sweet, forgotten feeling of being young again, of being supposed to be young, which really, if one felt as young as she quite often very nearly did, amounted to the same thing.

"You're not angry with me?" he said, catching her up, having been delayed on the stairs by Mrs. Mitcham who had pursued him with his forgotten coat.

She smiled. "No, of course not," she said, and for a moment she forgot his misconceptions and patted his arm reassuringly because he looked so anxious. "You're giving me a lovely treat. We're going to enjoy our evening thoroughly," she said.

"And what are you giving me?" he said—how adorable of her to pat him; and yet, and yet—if she had been shy she wouldn't have. "Aren't you giving me the happiest evening of my whole life?"

"Oh," she said, shaking her head, "we mustn't talk on different levels. When I say something ordinary you mustn't answer"—she laughed—"with a shout. If you do, the conversation will be trying."

"But how can I help what you call shouting when I'm with you at last, after having starved, starved ——"

"Oh," she interrupted quickly, putting her hands up to her ears, "you wouldn't like it, would you, if I went deaf?"

He must go slower. He knew he must. But how go slower? He must hold on to himself tightly. But how? How? And in another minute they would be shut up close and alone in one of those infernal taxis. * * * Perhaps they had better go by tube; yet that seemed a poor way of taking a woman out to dinner. No, he couldn't possibly do that. Better risk the taxi and practice self-control.

"You know," she said when they were in it—fortunately it was a very fast one and would soon get there—"only a few days ago you used to sit at 'The Immortal Hour' all quiet and good, and never say anything except intelligent things about Celts. Now you don't mention Celts and don't seem a bit really intelligent. What has happened to you?"

"You have," he said.

"That can't be true," she reasoned, "for I haven't seen you for nearly a week."

"That's why," he said. "But look here, I don't want to say things that'll make you stop your ears up again, and I certainly shall if we don't talk about something quite—neutral."

"Well, let's. What is neutral enough?" she smiled.

"I don't believe there's anything," he said, thinking a moment. "There's nothing that wouldn't lead me back instantly to you. There's nothing in the whole world that doesn't make me think of you. Why, just the paving stones—you walked on them. Just the shop windows—Catherine has looked into these. Just the streets—she has passed this way. Now don't, don't stop up your ears, please don't. Do listen. You see, you fill the world—Oh, don't put your fingers in your ears."

"I wasn't going to," she said. "I was only just thinking that I believe I'm going to have a headache."

"A headache?"

"One of my headaches."

"Oh, no—not really?"

He was aghast.

"You'll be all right [illegible] had some food," he said. [illegible] bad? Do you get bad [illegible] asked Christopher, himself one large laugh of joy.

"I was wondering what Stephen—your friend Stephen—would say if he saw us now."

She leaned forward. "What?" she asked, her face rippling with a mixture of laughter and dismay. "What was it you called him?"

"I said poor old Jack-in-the-Box. So he is. I saw him in his box on Sunday at St. Paul's. I went, of course. I'd go anywhere for the chance of seeing you. And there he was, poor old back number, gassing away about love. What on earth he thinks he knows about it"——

"Perhaps"—— She hesitated. "Perhaps he knows a great deal. He has not"—she hesitated again—"he has got a quite young wife."

"Has he? Then he ought to be ashamed of himself—old bone."

She stared at him. "Old what?" she asked.

"Bone," said Christopher. "You can't get love out of a bone."

"But—but he loves her very much," she said.

"Then he's a rocky old reprobate."

"Oh, Christopher!" she said helplessly.

It was the first time she had called him that, and it came out now as a cry, half of rebuke, half of horrified amusement; but in whatever form it came out the great thing to his enchanted ears was that it had got out, for from that to Christ would be an easy step.

"Well, so he is. He shouldn't at that age. He should pray."

"Oh, Christopher!" cried Catherine again. "But she loves him, too!"

"Then she's a nasty girl," said Christopher stoutly; and after staring at him a moment she went off into a fit of laughter, and laughed in the heavenly way he had already seen her laugh once before—yes, that was over Stephen, too—so it was; Stephen seemed a sure draw—with complete abandonment, till she had to pull out her handkerchief to wipe her eyes.

"I don't mind your crying that sort of tears," said Christopher benignly, "but I won't have any others."

"Oh," said Catherine, trying to recover, diligently wiping her eyes, "oh, you're so funny—you've no idea how funny"——

"I can be funnier than that," said Christopher proudly, delighted that he could make her laugh.

"Oh, don't be—don't be—I couldn't bear it. I haven't laughed like this since—I can't remember when. Not for years, anyhow."

"Was George at all like his furniture?"

"His furniture?"

"Well, you're not going to persuade me that that isn't George's, all that solemn stuff in your drawing room. Was he like that; I mean, because if he was, naturally you didn't laugh much."

"Oh—poor darling," said Catherine quickly, leaving off laughing.

He had been tactless. He had [illegible] brutal. He wanted to throw

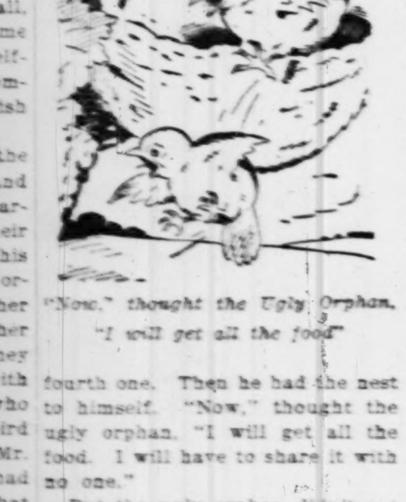
Children's Bedtime Story

By Thornton W. Burgess

The Ugly Orphan



"Now," thought the Ugly Orphan, "I will get all the food"

YOU know that really is so. Ugliness has nothing to do with looks, unless looks show the spirit within. One may be ever so homely and not be ugly at all, and one may really be handsome in looks and actually be ugly. Selfishness is one of the most common forms of ugliness. Selfish people have ugly dispositions.

This is the way it was with the orphan Cowbird that Chippy and Mrs. Chippy the Chipping Sparrows were bringing up with their own children. In one way this young Cowbird wasn't a true orphan, for his father and mother were both alive, but in another way he was an orphan, for they had nothing whatever to do with him, and he didn't even know who they were. Sally Sly the Cowbird had left an egg in the nest of Mr. and Mrs. Chippy and then had gone off to have a good time. That egg had hatched and from it had come this ugly orphan, for he was ugly. He was so greedy that he would not have allowed the other babies in the nest to have a single worm if he could have helped it. As it was, he didn't let them have nearly enough. He was naturally very much larger than any of the others, and his selfish greediness made him grow very much faster than the others, so that it wasn't long before he was nearly twice as big as any of his foster brothers and sisters.

Things were bad enough as they were, but the ugly orphan wasn't satisfied. He wanted to get rid of the Sparrow babies. The first chance he got he pushed one of them out of the nest. It wasn't big enough to fly and it fell in the grass below. Then he pushed another out, and it too fell in the grass. Chippy, coming back with a worm, found the two babies down in the grass. They were unhurt, but of course they were quite helpless down there. He promptly fed them. This left two baby sparrows and the ugly orphan in the nest for Mrs. Chippy to feed. But the ugly orphan wasn't satisfied. While no one was looking he kicked another little Chippy out, and finally the fourth one. Then he had the nest to himself. "Now," thought the ugly orphan, "I will get all the food. I will have to share it with no one."

But the ugly orphan didn't get all the food. In fact, he didn't get as much as he did before, which I think you will agree served him right. You see, now Chippy and Mrs. Chippy could feed their babies without having the food snatched away, and though Mrs. Chippy, out of the goodness of her heart, brought the ugly orphan his share, he now had no chance to snatch that which was meant for others. The only thing he could do was to make a dreadful fuss and continually cry for food. In this way he did get a little more than his rightful share, but not nearly as much as he wanted.

It was just good fortune that had kept the four babies from being hurt when they were thrown out of their nest. The grass had protected them. And it was just good fortune that Black Pussy the Cat didn't come along that way, but that instead Farmer Brown's Boy himself happened along. He saw Mrs. Chippy fly down into the grass with a worm, and he heard the hungry cries of the babies when they saw the worm, so he went to see what it meant. Of course he found the four babies unable to fly.

"They must have fallen out of the nest," said Farmer Brown's Boy, looking up. "It is such a little nest that they must have been too crowded in it. It would be of no use to put them back there, for they would only fall out again."

So Farmer Brown's Boy went up to the house and got a berry basket. In it he made a nest of soft hay. Then he went back to the Old Orchard and put the four baby sparrows in the nest he had made. After that he fastened it up in a tree, where Chippy and Mrs. Chippy at once began to feed the babies.

He was aghast.

"You'll be all right when you had some food," he said. "Are bad? Do you get bad ones?"

"Perhaps if we don't talk little while"—— she murmured, shutting her eyes.

He went as dumb as a fish. evening * * * it would be awful if it were spoiled, if she to go home. * * *

He sat stiff in his, as if least movement might shake taxi and make her worse, anxious looks at her from time to time.

She didn't speak again, nor he.

In this way they reached taurant, and as he helped his alarmed eyes on her face smiled faintly at him and said thought it was going to be all And to herself she said, "Ah ner I'll tell him about Virginia."

But she was weak; it was fun; she couldn't spoil it; not this one evening.

There were the roses, sitting the roses in her room, making table a thing apart and care among the flock of tables rated cynically with a sad or wrinkled tulip stuck in of box and fir; and there the coming head waiter, himself ering over the proper serving dishes which all seemed to be chanced to like best, and sat Christopher opposite flushed with happiness, and viously adoring that the diners noticed it and sent discreet glances of benevolent sympathetic interest across to corner, and nobody seemed think his attitude was anything natural, for she couldn't help ing that the glances, after dwelt benevolently on him, dwelt equal benevolence on her. It too funny. It wouldn't have human not to like it; and what misconception it was based on, however certainly it was h end, while it lasted it was amusing.

On the wall to her left ong strip of looking glass, and caught sight of herself in it. she didn't seem old—not unsuitable, even for Christopher; in not old at all. It was really surprising. When did one True, the rose-colored lights very kindly in this restaurant, besides, she was amused, enjoying herself, and ment and enjoyment do the time hide a lot of things one's face, she reflected. would Stephen say if he saw at this moment?

She looked up quickly as Christopher, the thought laughing her eyes; but meeting his on her face in adoration, thought changed to: What Stephen say if he saw Christopher—and the laughter became a uneasy. Well, she couldn't about that tonight; she would the good the gods were pro There was always tomorrow, tomorrow, and tomorrow to dusty and dim in. For the two hours she was Cinderella the ball; and afterwards, there would be the rags, all rags of all the years, still, would have been at the ball.

"Oh—poor darling," said Catherine quickly, leaving off laughing. He had been tactless. He had been brutal. He wanted to throw himself at her feet. It was the champagne, of course; for in reality he had the highest opinion of George, who not only was so admirably dead but also had evidently taken great care of Catherine while he wasn't.

"I say, I'm most awfully sorry," he murmured, deeply contrite—whatever had possessed him to drag George into their little feast? "And I like George most awfully. I'm sure he was a thoroughly decent chap. And he can't help it if he's got a bit crystallized—in his furniture, I mean—and still hangs round"——

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

EMOTIONAL ESCAPE VALVES.

VERILY, verily, in every woman's life there be three men; nay, four, which are needful to her happiness.

For an husband is only an husband,
And a lawyer is a necessity.
And a pastor is a luxury!

Then, I charge thee, when thou feelest inspired to confess thy sorrows and impelled to "EMOTE," afflict not thine husband with thy woes and thy complexes.

For tears shall but dampen his ardour; and hysteria inspireth him only to the fetching of the ammonia and the smelling salts. He hath NO dramatic instinct!

Go to. A doctor is filled with sympathy; and while a woman poureth forth her "sufferings" and describeth her "symptoms," he will harken with patience and gentleness and "Dear-me's!"

Behold, a lawyer is full of understanding. When a woman weepeth and reciteth her "wrongs," and revealeth how she hath been "persecuted" and "abused," he listeneth with gravity.

But an husband greeteth her words with yawnings and "Oh-forget-its" and Izzat sos!"

Lo, a pastor comforteth the heart, and giveth ear while a woman discusseth her soul and descanteth upon her spiritual yearnings.

But, an husband saith, "Umm!" and harkeneth with one brain-cell, while he figureth his income-tax with the other.

Wherefore, then, are the multitudes astonished, when a woman falleth down and worshipeth her pastor, or vampeth her doctor, or elopeth with her lawyer?

Verily, verily, an husband may satisfy the heart; but the spirit and the vanity cannot feed upon a pat on the cheek and a charge account.

Then, blessed be the doctor and the lawyer and the pastor, without whom a woman's emotions would explode as new wine in old ginger ale bottles!

SELAH!

OUR NEED.

GRACIOUS gifts life brings to us, heedless what we plead, kindly songs she sings to us, knowing well our need. We are children wandering in an unknown land, on its puzzles pondering, fain to understand. Often we may ask of life boons we never gain, often many a task of life brings us care and pain. Childlike, we would take the ways fairest to our sight; always we forsake the ways touched by sorrow's blight. Childlike, we would plead for joy, asking sun and song that can quench this need for joy, ever keen and strong. But life's boons are many-hued as the opal's fires; there are gifts for any mood, matching all desires. Some are gifts of shining hours, some are dark indeed, so life fills these days of ours, knowing well our need.

Codfish Pancakes.

With Fried Potatoes.

USE one and one-half cupfuls of shredded salt codfish, or finely shredded salt codfish by the pound. Simmer 30 minutes and drain as dry as possible, pressing out the water; add to three cupfuls of mashed potato, stir in two tablespoonfuls of butter, an egg well beaten, a few drops of onion juice and pepper to season. If not quite soft, add a little hot milk. Shape into large thin cakes the size of an after-dinner coffee saucer, dip in fine dry bread crumbs and brown quickly in vegetable fat.

In the meantime cut firm tomatoes in half-inch slices, dust with salt, a little sugar, dip in bread crumbs and brown on each side. Serve a slice of tomato on each codfish pancake, with a garnish of parsley on top. If desired, cream sauce may be poured around the pancakes.

Small, but Important.

When buying a shopping bag or pocketbook, see that it has a small pocket or compartment to hold change, coins and tokens. It certainly saves time and irritation to be able to locate these small articles quickly.

Fried Fish.

The only possible way to fry fish crisp and brown without first dipping it in egg and crumbs is to dry it thoroughly, dredge both sides with flour and drop into boiling deep fat. In this way the fish will crisp all over at once and cannot help but be satisfactory.

Framing Windows and Arches With Wall Paper Border

A CHANGE has come over the ways of wall paper. The consideration of the lines of a room, the effect of space making and outlining of arches and open spaces has become an important point in papering. The one-time ceiling border has come down to do the work of outlining and the idea is very effective when properly used. In rooms papered with paper of neutral coloring, and having broken wall spaces, distance and definite lines are created by using a six or eight-inch bright chintz border. The border is run at the top of the surbase, around the arch following the line closely, and it gives the same effect that a carved arch would give, the dark line on each side of the border bringing up the colorful center.

Striped papers give height to rooms with low ceilings. Neutral grounds of dove gray or soft tan have silver stripes, or gold ones, according to choice. The border used here in outline effect is apt to be gold or silver acorn pattern with a line of black, or the neutral color, at the edges. Sometimes a narrow plain gold line a half inch wide is used as a finish just at the ceiling line. This treatment makes a very effective wall decoration that looks well with almost any style of furnishing.

There is a new paper with a creamy ground color that has jasmine vines and blossoms forming the stripes. The vine leaves make the stripes soft and effective in appearance and the creamy blossoms stand out from the background just enough to give a soft distance effect. In a room with green hangings and decorations this paper is very attractive, cool and dainty looking. A very narrow but pretty green leaf border is all the finish this paper needs. The many chintzes and other materials for the draperies can be bought in patterns that blend perfectly with the colors in the paper.

Wall papers of Chinese design are excellent to use in rooms where the impression of distance is desired. They are so-called scenic papers and the cool neutral background with the strong but simple tree design, in some instances, give the coveted space effect. Garden scenes with trees, pagodas, flowers, hills and intimate gardens of the old-fashioned type are space making effective papers that should be chosen where Colonial furniture is to be used in the room.

Scenic tapestry papers, while not absolutely new, are shown today with many small panel effects that are designed to use above mantels, doors or archways where the space allows and shows them off attractively. Where this style paper is used, pictures are not required on the walls and are seldom hung.

Shadow papers are rather new, but must be used with great care. They are at their best in sun parlors, bright breakfast rooms and other rooms where there is plenty of sunlight. If used in small or sunless rooms, they give the bad effect of being out of focus, for they need light and distance to bring out their beauty.

THERE is nothing like BLACK FLAG. It kills flies, mosquitoes and roaches. It kills all other bugs in the home. Nothing else is so quick! So deadly! For BLACK FLAG contains a secret, vegetable ingredient which is the surest death to insects ever discovered. Bugs breathe it and die. And they all die. Not one escapes.

The menacing 4 in 10 — DON'T LET THEM ESCAPE

Ordinary insecticides kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 bugs. The four which get away breed hundreds which return — four flies or mosquitoes can breed millions. Don't let them escape. BLACK FLAG kills every one — 10 out of every 10 pests. It will rid a house of insects when all else fails.

BLACK FLAG is absolutely harmless to humans and animals. But either of its forms — liquid or powder — is deadly to all insect pests. Use the one you like best. Liquid or powder. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores.

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Davis

OLD GLORY.

I SEE the patriotic souls,
In sidewalks have been drilling holes,
In which will be inserted poles
From which will fly Old Glory.
If, in our hands, our hats we hold,
Whenever we, a flag behold,
It seems we'll all be catching cold
But that's another story.

Breathes there a guy so ossified,
Who, never to himself hath cried,
"Old Glory is my joy and pride,
And I'll desert it never."
Who, never that impulse obeyed,
To cheer the flag when on parade
While 49 musicians played
"The Stars and Stripes Forever?"

If such there be go mark him well,
For him no minstrel raptures swell—
A bird who never felt the spell
Of patriotic fervor.
For, anyone who'd double-cross,
The handiwork of Betsy Ross,
Is nothing but a total loss
To any close observer.

QUITE SO.

Jim Barnes is now the British open champion, vice Walter Hagen resigned. The British championship seems to be an American institution.

The man on the sandbox says it seems peculiar that the Esquimos, living right in the neighborhood, don't seem to be a bit interested in the North Pole.

Just like people who have lived in St. Louis all their lives without ever having visited Shaw's Garden.

The man on the sandbox says speaking about slogans how about more and better benches for our public parks?

"Permanent Wave Wins Union Claiming Stakes."
